attentional continuity or social deixis and take on genre specific pragmatic effects. The authors of the present collection investigate such effects and analyse competing forms in context e.g. she/her in subject position as well as their pragmatic functions in an extensive range of genres such as advertising, TV series, charity appeals, mother child interaction or computer mediated communication. Moreover one section is devoted to the pragmatics of antecedentless pronouns and so called impersonal personal forms. The volume will be of interest to both scholars and students interested in the pragmatics of functional words.

Style and Intersubjectivity in Youth Interaction Dwi Noverini Djener, Michael Ewing, Howard

Manns, 2018-02-19 This book examines how style and intersubjective meanings emerge through language use. It is innovative in theoretical scope and empirical focus. It brings together insights from discourse functional linguistics, stylistics and conversation analysis to understand how language resources are used to enact stances in intersubjective space. While there are numerous studies devoted to youth language, the focus has been mainly on face to face interaction. Other types of youth interaction particularly in mediated forms have received little attention. This book draws on data from four different text types: conversation, e-forums, comics and teen fiction to highlight the multidirectional nature of style construction. Indonesia provides a rich context for the study of style and intersubjectivity among youth. In constructing style, Indonesian urban youth have been moving away from conventions which emphasized hierarchy and uniformity toward new ways of connecting in intersubjective space. This book analyzes how these new ways are realized in different text types. This book makes a valuable addition to sociolinguistic literature on youth and language and an essential reading for those interested in Austronesian sociolinguistics.

Contact Talk Zane Goebel, Deborah Cole, Howard Manns, 2019-11-13 Written by a wide range of highly regarded scholars and exciting junior ones, this book critiques and operationalizes contemporary thinking in the rapidly expanding field of linguistic anthropology. It does so using case studies of actual everyday language practices from an extremely understudied yet incredibly important area of the Global South: Indonesia. In doing so it provides a rich set of studies that model and explain complex linguistic anthropological analysis in engaging and easily understood ways. As a book that is both accessible for undergraduate students and enlightening for graduate students through to senior professors, this book problematizes a wide range of assumptions. The diversity of settings and methodologies used in this book surpass many recent collections that attempt to address issues surrounding contemporary processes of diversification given rapid ongoing social change. In focusing on the trees so to speak, the collection as a whole also enables readers to see the forest. This approach provides a rare insight into relationships between everyday language practices, social change and the ever-present and ongoing processes of nation building.
