Dialogic Education And Technology Expanding The Space Of Learning Computer Supported Collaborative Learning Series By Wegerif Rupert 2007 11 07 Hardcover:

Dialogic: Education for the Internet Age Rupert Wegerif, 2013-01-04 Dialogic Education for the Internet Age argues that despite rapid advances in communications technology most teaching still relies on traditional approaches to education built upon the logic of print and dependent on the notion that there is a single true representation of reality In practice the use of the Internet disrupts this traditional logic of education by offering an experience of knowledge as participatory and multiple This new logic of education is dialogic and characterises education as learning to learn think and thrive in the context of working with multiple perspectives and ultimate uncertainty The book builds upon the simple contrast between observing dialogue from an outside point of view and participating in a dialogue from the inside before pinpointing an essential feature of dialogic the gap or difference between voices in dialogue which is understood as an irreducible source of meaning Each chapter of the book applies this dialogic thinking to a specific challenge facing education re thinking the challenge and revealing a new theory of education Areas covered in the book include dialogical learning and cognition dialogical learning and emotional intelligence educational technology dialogic spaces and consciousness global dialogue and global citizenship dialogic theories of science and maths education The challenge identified in Wegerif's text is the growing need to develop a new understanding of education that holds the potential to transform educational policy and pedagogy in order to meet the realities of the digital age Dialogic Education for the Internet Age draws upon the latest research in dialogic theory creativity and technology and is essential reading for advanced students and researchers in educational psychology technology and policy

Dialogic Education and Technology Rupert Wegerif, 2007-11-07 Discusses about using technology to draw people into the kind of dialogues which take them beyond themselves into learning thinking and creativity This book reveals key characteristics of learning dialogues and demonstrates ways in which computers and networks can deepen enrich and expand such dialogues

Dialogic Rupert Wegerif, 2013 In Dialogic Education for the Internet Age Rupert Wegerif argues that the traditional model of schooling is built on the logic of print and tends to assume that there is a single true representation of reality which schools exist to transmit to new generations

Computer Supported Collaborative Learning Claire O'Malley, 2012-12-06 Although research in collaborative learning has a fairly long history dating back at least to the early work of Piaget and Vygotsky it is only recently that workers have begun to apply some of its findings to the design of computer based learning systems The early generation of the le systems focused on their potential for supporting individual learning learning could be self paced teaching could be adapted to individual learners needs This was certainly the promise of the later generation of intelligent tutoring systems However this promise has yet to be realised Not only are there still some very difficult research problems to solve in providing adaptive learning systems but there are also some very real practical constraints on the widespread take up of individualised computer based instruction

Researchers soon began to realise that the organisational cultural and social contexts of the classroom have to be taken into account in designing systems to promote effective learning. Much of the work that goes on in classrooms is collaborative whether by design or not. Teachers also need to be able to adapt the technology to their varying needs. Developments in technology such as networking have also contributed to changes in the way in which computers may be envisaged to support learning. In September 1989 a group of researchers met in Maratea Italy for a NATO sponsored workshop on Computer supported collaborative learning. A total of 20 researchers from Europe Belgium

Computer-Supported Collaborative Learning at the Workplace Sean P. Goggins, Isa Jahnke, Volker Wulf, 2013-05-13 This book is an edited volume of case studies exploring the uptake and use of computer supported collaborative learning in work settings. This book fills a significant gap in the literature. A number of existing works provide empirical research on collaborative work practices: Lave Davenport 2005 the sharing of information at work; Brown Duguid 2000 and the development of communities of practice in workplace settings; Wenger 1998. Others examine the munificent variation of information and communication technology use in the work place including studies of informal social networks, formal information distribution and other socio technical combinations found in work settings: Gibson Cohen 2003. Another significant thread of prior work is focused on computer supported collaborative learning, much of it investigating the application of computer support for learning in the context of traditional educational institutions like public schools, private schools, colleges and tutoring organizations. Exciting new theories of how knowledge is constructed by groups: Stahl 2006 how teachers contribute to collaborative learning; reference to another book in the series and the application of socio technical scripts for learning is explicated in book length works on CSCL. Book length empirical work on CSCW is widespread and CSCL book length works are beginning to emerge with greater frequency. We distinguish CSCL at Work from prior books written under the aegis of training and development or human resources more broadly. The book aims to fill a void between existing works in CSCW and CSCL and will open with a chapter characterizing the emerging application of collaborative learning theories and practices to workplace learning. CSCL and CSCW research each make distinct and important contributions to the construction of collaborative workplace learning.

Computer Supported Collaborative Learning Claire O'Malley, 1994-12-21 This volume in the NATO Special Programme on Advanced Educational Technology focuses on four main areas: theoretical and empirical work on peer interaction and learning; cognitive models of collaborative interaction; computer networks and computer mediated communication and design issues in supporting collaborative learning. There are three main themes. One is that research on collaborative learning should focus on the processes involved in successful peer interaction. Another is the importance of organizational aspects of setting up and maintaining collaborative use of computers for learning. The third is that different design issues are implied by synchronous or real time as opposed to asynchronous use of distributed computing. This volume in the NATO Special Programme on Advanced Educational Technology focuses on four main areas: peer interaction and learning; cognitive models of collaborative interaction computer networks and communication and design issues International Handbook of Computer-Supported Collaborative Learning Ulrike Cress, Carolyn Rosé, Alyssa Friend Wise, Jun Oshima, 2021-10-08

CSCL has in the past 15 years and often in conjunction with Springer grown into a thriving and active community Yet lacking is a comprehensive CSCL handbook that displays the range of research being done in this area This handbook will provide an overview of the diverse aspects of the field allowing newcomers to develop a sense of the entirety of CSCL research and for existing community members to become more deeply aware of work outside their direct area The handbook will also serve as a ready reference for foundational concepts methods and approaches in the field The chapters are written in such a way that each of them can be used in a stand alone fashion while also serving as introductory readings in relevant study courses or in teacher education While some CSCL relevant topics are addressed in the International Handbook of the Learning Sciences and the International Handbook of Collaborative Learning these books do not aim to present an integrated and comprehensive view of CSCL The International Handbook of Computer Supported Collaborative Learning covers all relevant topics in CSCL particularly recent developments in the field such as the rise of computational approaches and learning analytics Computer Supported Collaborative Learning 2005 Timothy Koschmann, 2017-10-03 The Computer Supported Collaborative Learning CSCL conference has become an internationally recognized forum for the exchange of research findings related to learning in the context of collaborative activity and the exploration of how such learning might be augmented through technology This text is the proceedings from CSCL 2005 held in Taipei Taiwan This conference marked the 10th anniversary of the first CSCL Conference held at Indiana University in 1995 Subsequent meetings have been held at the University of Toronto Stanford University University of Maastricht Netherlands University of Colorado at Boulder and the University of Bergen Norway Just as the first CSCL conference was instrumental in shaping the trajectory of the field in its first decade the conference in Taipei will play an important role in consolidating an increasingly international and interdisciplinary community and defining the direction of the field for the next 10 years This volume and the papers from which it is comprised will be an important resource for those active in this area of research and for others interested in fostering learning in settings of collaboration Computer-Supported Collaborative Learning at the Workplace Sean P. Collaborative Learning, Reasoning, and Technology Angela M. O'Donnell, Cindy E. Hmelo-Silver, Gijbert Erkens, 2005-09-07 This volume presents research findings on the use of technology to support learning and reasoning in collaborative contexts Featuring a variety of theoretical perspectives ranging from sociocultural to social psychological to information processing views Collaborative Learning Reasoning and Technology includes an international group of authors Computer Supported Collaborative Learning 2005 CSCL. 6, 2005, Taipei, 2005 Computer Supported Collaborative Learning 2005 National Central University. Research Center for Science and Technology of Learning, 2005* Learning In a Networked Society Yael Kali, Ayelet Baram-Tsabari, Amit M. Schejter, 2019-04-26 One of the most significant developments in contemporary education is the view that knowing and understanding are anchored in cultural practices within communities This shift coincides with technological advancements that have reoriented end user computer interaction from individual work to communication participation and collaboration However while daily interactions are increasingly engulfed in mobile and networked Information and Communication Technologies ICT in school learning interactions are in comparison technologically impoverished creating the phenomenon known as the school society digital disconnect This volume argues that the theoretical and practical tools of scientists in both the social and educational sciences must be brought together in order to examine what types of interaction knowledge construction social organization and power structures occur spontaneously in technology enhanced learning TEL communities or b can be created by design of TEL This volume seeks to equip scholars and researchers within the fields of education educational psychology science communication social welfare information sciences and instructional design as well as practitioners and policy makers with empirical and theoretical insights and evidence based support for decisions providing learners and citizens with 21st century skills and knowledge and supporting well being in today's information based networked society Techniques for Fostering Collaboration in Online Learning Communities: Theoretical and Practical Perspectives Pozzi, Francesca, Persico, Donatella, 2010-09-30 This book provides a focused assessment of the peculiarities of online collaborative learning processes by looking at the strategies methods and techniques used to support and enhance debate and exchange among peers Provided by publisher

Computer-Supported Collaborative Learning in Higher Education Roberts, Tim S.,2004-09-30 This book addresses computer supported collaborative learning also known as CSCL particularly within a tertiary education environment It includes articles on theory and practice in this area including topics such as how can groups with shared goals work collaboratively using the new technologies What problems can be expected and what are the benefits In what ways does online group work differ from face to face group work And what implications are there for both educators and students seeking to work in this area

Arguing to Learn Jerry Andriessen,Michael Baker,Dan D. Suthers,2013-04-17 Arguing to Learn Confronting Cognitions in Computer Supported Collaborative Learning Environments focuses on how new pedagogical scenarios task environments and communication tools within Computer Supported Collaborative Learning CSCL environments can favour collaborative and productive confrontations of ideas evidence arguments and explanations or arguing to learn This book is the first that has assembled the work of internationally renowned scholars on argumentation related CSCL research All chapters present in depth analyses of the processes by which the interactive confrontation of cognitions can lead to collaborative learning on the basis of a wide variety of theoretical models empirical data and Internet based tools

Computer-supported collaborative learning ,2003 Learning in Communities John M. Carroll,2009-02-24 Most learning takes place in communities People continually learn through their participation with others in everyday activities Such learning is important in contemporary society because formal education cannot prepare people for a world that changes rapidly and continually We need to live in learning communities This volume gathers together all of the scholarly materials directly emanating from a workshop held in August 2005 when a multidisciplinary group of scholars met at Penn State s College of Information Sciences and Technology to discuss learning in communities Initially a sectioned report on the workshop was published as a special section in the Journal of Community Informatics in 2006 Subsequently a special issue of 5 full papers was published in the Journal of Computer Supported Cooperative Work and a special section of 2 full papers was published in the International Journal of Computer Supported Collaborative Learning

Essays In Computer-Supported Collaborative Learning Gerry Stahl,2016-01-26 These essays are some of the most important papers co written with my colleagues that supplement the discussion of CSCL research in the published books These chapters take the discussion in specific directions They begin with my general reflections on the importance of CSCL as a research field situating my work on the VMT Project and my theory of group cognition within the field of CSCL They describe the VMT research project including its research approach technology pedagogy and analysis methods Mostly they discuss in some detail the findings that have emerged from the VMT Project about the nature of online interaction in that type of CSCL setting The volume concludes with reports of work in the project and future directions that were underway
