(14) Shannon was a shy, retiring, friendly, and charming young man. I suspected this in my heart of hearts, or rather when I was not under the hypnotic spell of his charming smile. I often wondered what he had to say behind that smile and how he would react to a more direct approach. I might have been able to find out if I had not been so much under the spell of his smile.

Investment in a private enterprise requires the entrepreneur to take some investment risk. This investment is not always made on a large scale and will not be taken because it is expected that a new enterprise will produce additional employment and social benefits. Thus, the entrepreneur will invest in the new venture for social reasons.
