Learning Zulu Mark Sanders, 2019-06-04 Why are you learning Zulu When Mark Sanders began studying the language he was often asked this question In Learning Zulu Sanders places his own endeavors within a wider context to uncover how in the past 150 years of South African history Zulu became a battleground for issues of property possession and deprivation Sanders combines elements of analysis and memoir to explore a complex cultural history Perceiving that colonial learners of Zulu saw themselves as repairing harm done to Africans by Europeans Sanders reveals deeper motives at work in the development of Zulu language learning from the emergence of the pidgin Fanagalo among missionaries and traders in the nineteenth century to widespread efforts in the twentieth and twenty first centuries to teach a correct form of Zulu Sanders looks at the white appropriation of Zulu language music and dance in South African culture and at the association of Zulu with a martial masculinity In exploring how Zulu has come to represent what is most properly and powerfully African Sanders examines differences in English and Zulu language press coverage of an important trial as well as the role of linguistic purism in xenophobic violence in South Africa Through one person's efforts to learn the Zulu language Learning Zulu explores how a language's history and politics influence all individuals in a multilingual society

The Land Is Sung Thomas M. Pooley, 2023-10-17 What does it mean to belong In The Land Is Sung musicologist Thomas M Pooley shows how performances of song dance and praise poetry connect Zulu communities to their ancestral homes and genealogies For those without land tenure in the province of KwaZulu Natal performances articulate a sense of place Migrants express their allegiances through performance and spiritual relationships to land are embodied in rituals that invoke ancestral connection while advancing well being through intergenerational communication Engaging with justice and environmental ethics education and indigenous knowledge systems musical and linguistic analysis and the ethics of recording practice Pooley's analysis draws on genres of music and dance recorded in the midlands and borderlands of South Africa and in Johannesburg

s inner city His detailed sound writing captures the visceral experiences of performances in everyday life The book is richly illustrated and there is a companion website featuring both video and audio examples Gender, Sport and Development in Africa Jimoh Shehu,2010-07-12 To many young people the term sport has an exhilarating ring to many older persons it signifies recreation and leisure From colonial times it has been viewed as a means of social control Increasingly it is being touted by governments and donor agencies as a self evident tool of Africas development How accurate are these individual romantic and moral notions of sport In this volume eleven African scholars offer insightful analyses of the complex ideological and structural dimensions of modern sport as a cultural institution Drawing on various theories and cross cultural data the contributors to this volume highlight the various ways in which sport norms policies practices and representations pervasively interface with gender and other socially constructed categories of difference They argue that sport is not only a site of competition and physical recreation but also a crossroad where features of modern society such as hegemony identities democracy technology development and master statuses intertwine and bifurcate As they point out in many ways sport production reproduction distribution and consumption are relational spatial and contextual and therefore do not pay off for men women and other social groups equally The authors draw attention to the structure and scope of efforts needed to transform the exclusionary and gendered nature of sport processes to make them adequate to the task of engendering Africas development Gender Sport and Development in Africa is an immensely important contribution to current debates on the broader impacts of sport on society It is an essential reading for students policy makers and others interested in perspectives that interrogate the grand narratives of sport as a neutral instrument of development in African countries
