Generations Les Washington, 2002 The arrival of those twenty Africans though they were not the first Africans in America represented the vanguard of an institution and an industry that would for 246 years survive in the unkempt median lying between the merging lanes of the sociopolitical practices of the past and the oncoming traffic of advancing sociopolitical concepts of the future Unlike the simple annotation in Rolfe's diary announcing the arrival of the 1619 Africans the concept of advanced sociopolitical thinking arrived on the scene with the proverbial bang Whereas Rolfe's announcement was a precursor to the institution of slavery the new concept of natural individual rights was a precursor of its demise Entering the sociopolitical spectrum from the lanes of evolving religious freedom the notion of the natural rights of the individual was ultimately destined to clash with slavery's abject denial of such rights The convergence of these two events as though engaged in a turf war over morality would years later crash into each other with the sound of cannon fire

Hard Interests, Soft Illusions Natasha Hamilton-Hart, 2012-02-17 In Hard Interests, Soft Illusions Natasha Hamilton Hart explores the belief held by foreign policy elites in much of Southeast Asia Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Thailand Singapore and Vietnam that the United States is a relatively benign power She argues that this belief is an important factor underpinning U S preeminence in the region because beliefs inform specific foreign policy decisions and form the basis for broad orientations of alignment opposition or nonalignment Such foundational beliefs however do not simply reflect objective facts and reasoning processes Hamilton Hart argues that they are driven by both interests in this case the political and economic interests of ruling groups in Southeast Asia and illusions Hamilton Hart shows how the information landscape and standards of professional expertise within the foreign policy communities of Southeast Asia shape beliefs about the United States These opinions frequently rest on deeply biased understandings of national history that dominate perceptions of the past and underlie strategic assessments of the present and future Members of the foreign policy community rarely engage in probabilistic reasoning or effortful knowledge testing strategies This does not mean she emphasizes that the beliefs are insincere or merely instrumental rationalizations Rather cognitive and affective biases in the ways humans access and use information mean that interests influence beliefs how they do so depends on available information the social organization and practices of a professional sphere and prevailing standards for generating knowledge
