Perez Gomez Architecture Crisis:

Architecture and the Crisis of Modern Science Alberto Pérez Gómez, 1983 Architectural Principles in the Age of Cybernetics Christopher Hight, 2007-12-12 A theoretical history of anthropomorphism and proportion in modern architecture this volume brings into focus the discourse around proportion with current problems of post humanism in architecture alongside the new possibilities made available through digital technologies The book examines how the body and its ordering has served as a central site of architectural discourse in recent decades especially in attempts to reformulate architecture's relationship to humanism modernism and technology Challenging some concepts and categories of architectural history and situates current debates within a broader cultural and technological context Hight makes complex ideas easily accessible Extensively illustrated and written without academic jargon for an informed but non specialized architectural audience this book elucidates the often obscure debates of avant garde architectural discourse and design while demonstrating how these debates have affected everyday places and concepts of architecture As a result it will appeal to professional architects academics and students combining as it does an insightful introduction to the fundamental issues of architectural history and theory over the past fifty years with entirely new formulations of what that history is and means The Architect's Brain Harry Francis Mallgrave, 2009-12-21 The Architect's Brain Neuroscience Creativity and Architecture is the first book to consider the relationship between the neurosciences and architecture offering a compelling and provocative study in the field of architectural theory Explores various moments of architectural thought over the last 500 years as a cognitive manifestation of philosophical psychological and physiological theory Looks at architectural thought through the lens of the remarkable insights of contemporary neuroscience particularly as they have advanced within the last decade Demonstrates the neurological justification for some very timeless architectural ideas from the multisensory nature of the architectural experience to the essential relationship of ambiguity and metaphor to creative thinking Space Syntax Laura Vaughan, John Peponis, Ruth Conroy Dalton, 2025-04-30 Professor Bill Hillier spent most of his career at The Bartlett University College London where he founded and developed with a team of colleagues an original research programme that set the study of architecture on a firm scientific basis His transformational way of thinking about buildings and cities influenced generations of scholars researchers and practitioners within the built environment disciplines and way beyond in fields ranging from archaeology and biology to physics and zoology Space Syntax Selected papers by Bill Hillier provides a canon of works that reflects the progression of Hillier's ideas from the early publications of the 1970s to his most recent work published before his death in 2019 This selection of influential works ranges from his papers on architecture as a professional and research discipline through to his later papers that present a theory of the spatial structure of the city and its social functions By bringing together writing from across his career span of half a century with specially commissioned introductions by a wide range of international experts in the field we are able to contextualise and show the range and evolution of Hillier's key ideas

Expanding Fields of Architectural Discourse and Practice Matthew Butcher, Megan

O'Shea, 2020-11-27 Expanding Fields of Architectural Discourse and Practice presents a selection of essays architectural experiments and works that explore the diversity within the fields of contemporary architectural practice and discourse Specific in this selection is the question of how and why architecture can and should manifest in a critical and reflective capacity as well as to examine how the discipline currently resonates with contemporary art practice It does so by reflecting on the first 10 years of the architectural journal P E A R 2009 to 2019 The volume argues that the initial aims of the journal to explore and celebrate the myriad forms through which architecture can exist are now more relevant than ever to contemporary architectural discourse and practice Included in the volume are architectural practitioners design researchers artists architectural theorists historians journalists curators and a paleobiologist all of whom contributed to the first seven issues of the journal Here they provide a unique presentation of architectural discourse and practice that seeks to test new ground while forming distinct relationships to recent and more longstanding historical legacies Praise for Expanding Fields of Architectural Discourse and Practice The story told by the authors of this work can thus be considered as the central tool of an architectural transgression Critique d art

Architecture in an Age of Uncertainty Benjamin Flowers, 2016-04-15

In the past two decades economic bubbles inflated and architectural spending around the globe reached fever pitch In both well established centers of capital accumulation and far flung locales audacious building projects sprang up while the skyscraper heretofore more commonly associated with American capitalism seemed as if it might pack up and relocate to Dubai and Shanghai Of course much has changed in the past couple of years In formerly free spending Dubai the tallest building in the world is now is named after the president of Abu Dhabi after he stepped in with last minute debt financing In cities across the United States housing prices have nose dived and cleared lots sit ready for commercial redevelopment that likely won't take place for another decade Similar stories are not hard to find in many other nations Architecture firms that swelled in flush days are jettisoning employees at a startling rate In the context of economic instability and its attendant social and political consequences this edited volume brings together scholars critics and architects to discuss the present state of uncertainty in the practice and discipline of architecture The chapters are organized into three main areas of inquiry economics practice and technology Within this larger framework authors explore issues of security ecological design disaster architecture the future of architectural practice and the ethical obligations of the social practice of design In doing so it argues that this period has actually afforded architecture a valuable moment of self reflection where alternative directions for both the theory and practice of architecture might be explored rather than continuing with an approach which was so nurtured by capitalist prosperity and affluence

Taking Shape: A New Contract Between Architecture and Nature

Susannah Hagan, 2007-08-22 Taking Shape explores the evolution of scientific and academic theories that have resulted in the concept of sustainability Susannah Hagan uses this as a basis to argue for developments in the future and argues that these theories are not just an intellectual and aesthetic regression as they are often perceived to be By focusing on the impact of the new theories of sustainable technology and new materials in architecture Hagan moves the discourse and practice of environmental sustainability within architecture towards a greater degree of awareness of both its cultural significance and cultural potential In short it demonstrates the capacity of sustainable architecture to embrace cultural and technical innovation

The Emerald City and Other Essays on the Architectural Imagination Daniel Willis, 1999 In The Emerald City Dan Willis takes us on a flight of imagination that paradoxically never strays far from the most tangible even intimate subjects His essays range from the Tower of Babel to the Wizard of Oz from Christo to Christmas trees from the lightness of being to the weight of architecture This ultimately optimistic book suggests that architecture is as vital as ever It is tempting to say that our present cultural situation has rendered architecture nearly impossible if not unnecessary But it is also possible to look to what our lives at the turn of the millennium typically lack fulfillment spirituality a sense of belonging weight and to conclude that the ground for architecture has never been more fertile The texts intelligent and readable draw equally from literary sources architectural practice philosophical analyses pop culture and everyday experiences Willis's perspective as a writer architect artist and teacher informs his work his texts are at once reflective and proactive as they challenge readers to rethink their participation in the built environment Accompanying the text are the author's original illustrations which link the forms and forces surrounding architecture at the end of the twentieth century in novel thought provoking ways

Architectural Humanities in Progress Bagoes Wiryomartono, 2022-02-02 This monograph brings three branches of philosophy together epistemology ethics and aesthetics It assesses the built environment as a case study from a phenomenological perspective Under the notion of phenomenology this study understands the built environment as the hermeneutical phenomenon of being in the life world that is experienced by people within the socio cultural and historical context of habitation Hermeneutically the built environment as a phenomenon is contextually interwoven with other phenomena within the socio cultural historical and environmental network Phenomenologically speaking the task of the study is to excavate listen to unfold divulge and reconstruct the socio culturally environmentally and historically constructed relationship between people and their built environment that build develop and elaborate the system of knowledge ethics and aesthetics By and large its nature and findings are theoretical and interdisciplinary so it will be of interest not only for philosophers but also to scholars studying urban development and anthropology

Precision in Architecture Mhairi McVicar, 2019-05-13 This book offers a detailed insight into the desire for and consequences of precise communications in the daily life of contemporary architectural practice through close readings of constructed architectural details by Sigurd Lewerentz Caruso St John Architects Mies van der Rohe and OMA In the professionalised context of the contemporary architectural profession precise communications drawings specifications letters faxes and emails are charged with the complex task of translating architectural intent into a neutral and quantifiable language which is expected to guarantee an exact match between the architects intentions and the constructed result Yet as any architectural practitioner will know it is doubtful whether the construction of any architectural project may ever exactly match all written and drawn predictions This book challenges claims to certainty which have been attributed to such communications from the mid nineteenth century onwards and critiques ongoing expectations of certainty in contemporary architectural production

The Vital Landscape William M. Taylor, 2017-11-22 The Vital Landscape explores the arrival of the biological sciences most notably the sciences of life entailed in studies of botany and zoology ecology and evolutionary science physiology and psychology in the nineteenth century and their impact on architecture and landscape architecture in Great Britain Specifically the book explores the idea of the contrived or artificial environment as an object of both scientific speculation and aesthetic reflection Unlike specialist histories of biological science or environmental thought this book is unique in locating one source for present day concerns for the environment and human well being in debates over proper housing and the growing popularity of domestic and public gardens in the nineteenth century The book skilfully interweaves architecture and garden history the history and philosophy of science plant and animal physiology and human psychology works of literature popular science and domestic economy in a story that opens new opportunities for the study of architecture and gardens

The Baroque in Architectural Culture, 1880-1980 Andrew Leach, John Macarthur, 2016-03-09 In his landmark volume Space Time and Architecture Sigfried Giedion paired images of two iconic spirals Tatlin's Monument to the Third International and Borromini's dome for Sant Ivo alla Sapienza The values shared between the baroque age and the modern were thus encapsulated on a single page spread As Giedion put it writing of Sant Ivo Borromini accomplished the movement of the whole pattern from the ground to the lantern without entirely ending even there And yet he merely groped towards that which could be completely effected in modern architecture achieving the transition between inner and outer space The intellectual debt of modern architecture to modernist historians who were ostensibly preoccupied with the art and architecture of earlier epochs is now widely acknowledged This volume extends this work by contributing to the dual projects of the intellectual history of modern architecture and the history of architectural historiography It considers the varied ways that historians of art and architecture have historicized modern architecture through its interaction with the baroque a term of contested historical and conceptual significance that has often seemed to shadow a greater contest over the historicity of modernism Presenting research by an international community of scholars this book explores through a series of cross sections the traffic of ideas between practice and history that has shaped modern architecture and the academic discipline of architectural history across the long twentieth century The editors use the historiography of the baroque as a lens through which to follow the path of modern ideas that draw authority from history In doing so the volume defines a role for the baroque in the history of architectural historiography and in the history of modern architectural culture

Narrating Architecture James Madge, Andrew Peckham, 2006-09-27 This anthology brings together the best and most interesting papers from the first ten years of The Journal of Architecture published together for the first time in a single volume Covering a wide range of topics of central importance to architecture today the papers also address the related topics to which architecture and architectural studies are inextricably linked The invited authors draw on sociology philosophy cultural studies and the sciences to round out the collection and highlight the breadth and vitality of modern architectural studies offering perspectives from different disciplines as well as different corners of the globe

The Ethical Architect Tom Spector, 2001-06 In this book Tom Spector addresses the dilemmas of architectural practice and offers a theoretical and practical basis for an examination and transformation of the quandaries the profession now faces The Ethical Architect is a work of theory but refers to real buildings and real world problems Its conclusions provide a road map for architects to address the more than 100 000 decisions that go into the design of an average sized building

Architecture Re-assembled Trevor Garnham, 2013-04-26 Beginning from the rise of modern history in the eighteenth century this book examines how changing ideas in the discipline of history itself has affected architecture from the beginning of modernity up to the present day It reflects upon history in order to encourage and assist the reader in finding well founded principles for architectural design This is not simply another history of architecture nor a history of histories Setting buildings in their contemporaneous ideas about history it spans from Fischer von Erlach to Venturi and Rossi and beyond to architects working in the fallout from both the Modern Movement Aalto Louis Kahn Aldo van Eyck and Post modernism such as Rafael Moneo and Peter Zumthor It shows how Soane Schinkel and Stirling amongst others made a meaningful use of history and contrasts this with how a misreading of Hegel has led to an abuse of history and an uncritical flight to the future This is not an armchair history but a lively discussion of our place between past and future that promotes thinking for making

Material Architecture John Fernandez, 2012-08-21 Composed of a series of essays this book deals with the broad issues affecting the nature of architectural materials and provides a focused review of the state of the art materials It also provides designers with the tools they need to evaluate and select from the thousands of different materials that are available to them The book is organized into three sections Time looks at how the materials used in architectural design have changed over the years showing how we have come to use the materials we do in contemporary design Materials covers all five material families metals polymers ceramics composites and natural materials giving in depth information on their properties behavior origins and uses in design It also introduces a review of the cutting edge research for each family Systems outlines the technical design orientated research that uncovers how new architectural assemblies can be designed and engineered All of this practical advice is given along with many real case examples illustrating how this knowledge and information has been and can be used in architectural design

Chora 1 Alberto Pérez Gómez, Stephen Parcell, 1994 Volume I in the new series Chora Intervals in the Philosophy of Architecture explores fundamental questions concerning the practice of architecture and examines the potential of architecture

The Protected Vista Tom Brigden, 2019-05-03 The Protected Vista draws a historical lineage from the eighteenth century picturesque to present day planning policy highlighting how the values embedded within familiar views have developed over time through appropriation by diverse groups for cultural and political purposes The book examines the intellectual construction of the protected vista questioning the values entrenched within the view by whom and how they are observed and disseminated to reveal how these views have been and continue to be part of a changing historical and political narrative With a deeper knowledge and understanding of the shifting values in urban views we will be better equipped to make decisions surrounding their protection in our urban centres The book identifies the origins of current view protection policy in the aesthetic convention of the picturesque drawing on a range of illustrated examples in the UK the US Australia Canada and South Africa to serve as a useful reference for students researchers and academics in architecture architectural conservation landscape and urban planning

Occupying Architecture Jonathan Hill, 2005-07-28 Occupying Architecture focuses on the importance of the user of architecture It emphasises the cross currents between design theory and use and the need for a wider cross cultural approach to architecture Beginning with the architect the book proceeds to explore models for architectural practice that actively engage the issue of use and concludes with examination of the user The authors draw on illustrations and examples from London Las Vegas Barcelona and Bruges to discuss how and why architecture ignores the user The apparant contradictions between the producer and the product of architecture are highlighted before the activities of the architect and the actions of the user are explored This book illustrates that architecture is not just a building it is the relation between an object and its occupant
