Houseboy Ferdinand Oyono:

Houseboy Ferdinand Oyono, 1990 Written in the form of a diary kept by the Cameroonian houseboy Toundi this book looks at Toundi's innocence and his awe of the white world of his masters An Introduction to the African Prose Narrative Lokangaka Losambe, 2004 This collection of essays introduces students of African literature to the heritage of the African prose narrative starting from its oral base and covering its linguistic and cultural diversity The book brings together essays on both the classics and the relatively new works in all subgenres of the African prose narrative including the traditional epic the novel the short story and the autobiography The chapters are arranged according to the respective thematic paradigms under which the discussed works fall African Novels in the Classroom Margaret Jean Hay, 2000 Many teachers of African studies have found novels to be effective assignments in courses In this guide teachers describe their favourite African novels drawn from all over the continent and share their experiences of using them in the classroom The Legacy and Limits of Vatican II in an Age of Crisis Massimo Faggioli, Edward P. Hahnenberg, Kristin M Colberg, Catherine Clifford, 2025-04-26 A renewed approach to the critical study of the event and documents of Vatican II necessary for responding to the challenges facing today's church Packed with new insights from some of today's most highly regarded voices on the Second Vatican Council The Legacy and Limits of Vatican II in an Age of Crisis enacts the living tradition of the church by proposing a richer history to be told sixty years from its celebration and a broader theology to inspire our work today Vatican II did not anticipate our contemporary challenges nor do its documents provide specific guidelines or step by step instructions for addressing them But that does not make the council irrelevant As a touchstone of the church's magisterial tradition the Second Vatican Council remains foundational for the life and mission of the Catholic Church today However like any monument of the tradition the council requires ongoing investigation critical analysis and constant reconsideration from a diversity of contemporary perspectives if it is going to contribute to the living tradition of the church Through historical and theological lenses the contributors aim to rediscover forgotten voices and overlooked moments of Vatican II that may have something even more important to say today Each chapter promises to surprise enlighten inspire and teach in fresh and unexpected ways The contributors offer readers striking insights on the council's teaching related to the sexual abuse crisis antiracism politics the Synod on Synodality and much more By reexamining the teaching of Vatican II from the perspective of our present ecclesial crisis readers will have a better understanding of how its legacy and limits affect the ongoing reform of the church in a much changed theological ecclesial and social landscape Contributors Matteo Caponi Catherine E Clifford Kristin M Colberg Agn's Desmazières Massimo Faggioli Theresa Gardner Edward P Hahnenberg Timothy Hanchin Tuan A Hoang Mary Kate Holman Jaisy A Joseph Florian Klug William Kuncken Josephine Laffin Martin Madar Evgeniia Muzychenko William I Orbih Bernard G Prusak Daniel A Rober Multiculturalism & Hybridity in African Literatures African Literature Association. Ross,2012-12-06 1 REFLECTIONS ON A THEME by ROBERT ROSS

This book the fourth in the series Comparative Studies in Overseas History and like its predecessors the product of a symposium held by the Leiden Centre for the History of European Expansion is organised around a single theme the relationship between the ideological structures of domination and oppression that have come to be called racism and the political and economic ones which grew out of Europe s conquering and ruling much of the rest of the world By racism we mean those systems of thought in which group characteristics of human beings of a non somatic nature are considered to be fixed by principles of descent and in which in general physical attributes other than those of sex are the main sign by which characteristics are attributed In addition almost by definition the systems of thought entailed in this require that there is a hierarchy of the various races and that those people in the lower ranks of that hierarchy are seriously disadvantaged at least if the proponents of racist thought are able to impose their will on the society in which they live The exclusion of the discrimination of women from the concept of racism should not be thought as entailing that racist and sexist ideas do not have much in common since both derive from essentially biological determinism and indeed 2 racist societies have historically almost invariably been strongly sexist

Along the Archival Grain Ann Laura Stoler,2010-01-25 Along the Archival Grain offers a unique methodological and analytic opening to the affective registers of imperial governance and the political content of archival forms In a series of nuanced mediations on the nature of colonial documents from the nineteenth century Netherlands Indies Ann Laura Stoler identifies the social epistemologies that guided perception and practice revealing the problematic racial ontologies of that confused epistemic space Navigating familiar and extraordinary paths through the lettered lives of those who ruled she seizes on moments when common sense failed and prevailing categories no longer seemed to work She asks not what colonial agents knew but what happened when what they thought they knew they found they did not Rejecting the notion that archival labor be approached as an extractive enterprise Stoler sets her sights on archival production as a consequential act of governance as a field of force with violent effect and not least as a vivid space to do ethnography

Transactional Culture in Colonial Dakar, 1902-44 Rachel M. Petrocelli, 2024 Examines Dakar's transformation from a small colonial capital to a dynamic city highlighting how its resourceful residents challenged French control by forging adaptive economic relationships During a transformative era in the first half of the twentieth century Dakar former capital of French West Africa and present day capital of Senegal evolved from a small colonial capital meant to serve the French administration to a dynamic city shaped not solely by colonial planners but also by its resourceful inhabitants In this important book historian Rachel Petrocelli introduces the concept of transactional culture a set of norms and practices forged by Dakar's residents to navigate life under colonial rule A central element of that culture was transience a defining feature permeating various facets of life in Dakar from commerce and employment to housing and interactions with the state The book uncovers a central dynamic economic relationships in Dakar were continually molded by the ebb and flow of diverse individuals each pursuing their own objectives despite the relentless efforts of the French state to exert control Both Europeans and Africans embraced adaptability in Dakar over fixed residence while immigrant communities implanted themselves and became integral to the city's transactional culture In this examination based on court records and other sources Petrocelli shows that as the French colonial state sought to shape and control Dakar it enacted policies to intentionally limit city dwellers resources Strategies like pawning possessions and taking out credit creatively devising housing and mobilizing identities and affiliations emerged as a result integrating Dakarois of every background These practices persisted long after French rule ended underscoring the enduring impact of Dakar's colonial history
