

Strategy 1: The Number Line

After students have studied pages 1 and 2, ask students to work in pairs to create a number line graphing the given division problems. Once students have an understanding of how to label points, assign students to determine and graph the following division problems on the number line.

The same problem was presented a third time with the use of a number line below the number line for students to complete. Use of repetition is also a good strategy to ensure that students are confident in the strategy.

Page 2AProblem 1: Number Line Graphing Division Problems

Each student has a number line graph on page 1. Students will represent each problem on their own number line. Before asking to find number line answers, demonstrate how to label the number line with the division problem. Then ask students to label their number lines with the division problem. Ask them to find the quotient and label the number line with the quotient. Ask them to find the quotient and label the number line with the quotient.

1. The quotient for each problem is shown on page 2A. Complete the table.
