Urban Waterfront Redevelopment Stephen J. Craig-Smith, Michael Fagence, 1995-09-26 As we reach the end of the 20th century the world's cities are experiencing progressive tensions in urban use and structure Despite piecemeal redevelopment

many major cities are struggling to maintain functional efficiency while sustaining acceptable levels of quality of life A notable opportunity for successful redevelopment has emerged in rehabilitation of urban waterfront areas and the present volume examines recreation and tourism as a catalyst for such waterfront redevelopment Reviewing the experiences of cities in the United States Japan the United Kingdom the Caribbean and Australia the volume points the way toward a set of principles and guidelines for the achievement of functional aesthetic and recreational harmony in urban environments

Transforming Urban Waterfronts Gene Desfor,Jennefer Laidley,Quentin Stevens,Dirk Schubert,2010-10-04 In port cities around the world waterfront development projects have been hailed both as spaces of promise and as crucial territorial wedges in twenty first century competitive growth strategies Frequently these mega projects have been intended to transform derelict docklands into communities of hope with sustainable urban economies economies intended to both compete in and support globally networked hierarchies of cities This collection engages with major theoretical debates and empirical findings on the ways waterfronts transform and have been transformed in port cities in North and South America Europe the Caribbean It is organized around the themes of fixities built environments institutional and regulatory structures and cultural practices and flows information labor capital energy and knowledge which are key categories for understanding processes of change By focusing on these fixities and flows the contributors to this volume develop new insights for understanding both historical and current cases of change on urban waterfronts those special areas of cities where land and water meet As such it will be a valuable resource for teaching faculty students and any audience interested in a broad scope of issues within the field of urban studies

The Fluid City Paradigm Maurizio Carta,Daniele Ronsivalle,2016-03-22 This book presents a new paradigm of knowledge and action with respect to urban waterfronts and the fluid city paradigm explaining its methodological framework and describing an integrated and creative planning approach in which waterfront regeneration is pursued as a key urban renewal strategy It focuses especially on the WATERFRONT project Water And Territorial policiEs for integRation oF multisectoRial develOpmeNT which was funded jointly by Italy and Malta with the goal of developing common guidelines strategies and operational tools for the planning of coastal areas based on cross border exchange of experiences In the described approach the waterfront is recognized as having a broad identity acknowledging the complexity of the relationship between seaport and town and taking into account the physical and environmental components of human settlement infrastructure and productive and recreational activities It highlights details of the process of renewal in the port city of Trapani with discussion of the implemented actions plans and programs The book also examines the practices adopted to transform city port relationships across Europe in pursuit of innovative and sustainable development

Planning Complex Waterfront Interfaces Maurizio Carta,Paolo La Greca,Daniele Ronsivalle,Barbara Lino,2025-05-03 This book presents a comprehensive examination of the complex interactions between port systems and urban environments with a particular focus on international methodologies and site specific case studies from the waterfronts of Palermo and

Catania and the West Sicily Sea Authority It addresses the multifaceted challenges and opportunities inherent in waterfront regeneration emphasizing the critical importance of developing new urban interfaces that seamlessly connect ports to their surrounding cities These interfaces serve not only as physical transitions but also as vital cultural and economic linkages that foster community engagement and enhance the liveability of urban spaces The work offers a series of detailed analyses that highlight the necessity of integrating heritage protection within contemporary urban planning frameworks By exploring historical developments and current initiatives it provides valuable insights applicable to diverse global contexts making it relevant for policymakers urban planners and scholars dedicated to understanding the future of port cities Through rigorous exploration of strategic planning and stakeholder engagement this book highlights pathways toward innovative solutions that respect historical contexts while advancing sustainable urban futures By prioritizing the creation of effective urban interfaces it contributes to the broader discourse on port city relationships worldwide underscoring their significance in shaping resilient and vibrant urban environments

Waterfront Regeneration Harry Smith, Maria Soledad Garcia Ferrari, 2012-03-12 Waterfront regeneration and development represents a unique opportunity to spatially and visually alter cities worldwide However its multi faceted nature entails city building with all its complexity including the full range of organizations involved and how they interact This book examines how more inclusive stakeholder involvement has been attempted in the nine cities that took part in the European Union funded Waterfront Communities Project It focuses on analyzing the experience of creating new public realms through city building activities These public realms include negotiation arenas in which different discourses meet and are created including those of planners urban designers and architects politicians developers landowners and community groups as well as physical environments where the new city districts public life can take place drawing lessons for waterfront regeneration worldwide The book opens with an introduction to waterfront regeneration and then provides a framework for analyzing and comparing waterfront redevelopments which is followed by individual case study chapters highlighting specific topics and issues including land ownership and control decision making in planning processes the role of planners in public space planning visions for waterfront living citizen participation design based waterfront developments a social approach to urban waterfront regeneration and successful place making Significant findings include the difficulty of integrating long term sustainability into plans and the realization that climate change adaptation needs to be explicitly integrated into regeneration planning The transferable insights and ideas in this book are ideal for practising and student urban planners and designers working on developing plans for long term sustainable waterfront regeneration anywhere in the world

Waterfront urban space Dimitra Babalis, 2017-06-19 This book explores potentialities and emerging issues to strategies and waterside planning and design developing research results and detailed cases of interest in response to city change to promote sustainable development in a variety of ways It seeks to include some key waterfront matters in linking new spatial patterns to social dynamics and climate change for future practice The book is structuring into two parts The first one Advancing Riverfront Transformation examines proposals on urban waterfronts and relations between urban spaces and social dynamics to revitalise and re appropriate urban environment with sustainable design solutions The second one Outlining Blue Green Opportunities develops proposals on waterfront urban spaces and places with promotion of sociability and enjoyment integrating cultural and economic values health and wellbeing Waterfronts Revisited Heleni Porfyriou, Marichela Sepe, 2016-08-05 Waterfronts Revisited addresses the historical evolution of the relationship between port and city and re examines waterfront development by looking at the urban territory and historical city in their complexity and entirety By identifying guiding values urban patterns and typologies and local needs and experiences cities can break the isolation of the harbor by reconnecting it to the urban structure its functions spaces and forms Using the UNESCO recommendation for the Historic Urban Landscape as the guiding concept and a tool for managing urban preservation and change this collection of essays illustrates solutions to issues of globalisation commercialization of space and commoditisation of culture in waterfront development Through sixteen selected case studies Editors Heleni Porfyriou and Marichela Sepe offer planners and urban designers a broad spectrum of alternative solutions to waterfront regeneration interventions and redevelopments addressing sustainability regional cultural diversity and the debate between conservation and transformation Research
