Landscape Architecture Criticism Jacky Bowring, 2020-04-29 Landscape Architecture Criticism offers techniques perspectives and theories which relate to landscape architecture a field very different from the more well known domains of art and architectural criticism Throughout the book Bowring delves into questions such as how do we know if built or unbuilt works of landscape architecture are successful What strategies are used to measure the success or failure and by whom Does design criticism only come in written form It brings together diverse perspectives on criticism in landscape architecture establishing a substantial point of reference for approaching design critique exploring how criticism developed within the discipline Beginning with an introductory overview to set the framework the book then moves on to historical perspectives the purpose of critique theoretical positions ranging from aesthetics to politics and experience unbuilt projects techniques and communication Written for professionals and academics as well as for students and instructors in landscape architecture it includes strategies diagrams matrices and full colour illustrations to prompt discussion and provide a basis for exploring design critique

Walking, Landscape and Environment David Borthwick, Pippa Marland, Anna Stenning, 2019-11-13 Walking Landscape and Environment explores walking as a method of research and practice in the humanities and creative arts emerging from a recent surge of growth in urban and rural walking This edited collection of essays from leading figures in the field presents an enquiry into and a critique of the methods and results of cutting edge walking research Walking negotiates the intersections between the human self place and space offering a cross disciplinary collaborative method of research which can be utilised in areas such as ecocriticism landscape architecture literature cultural geography and the visual arts Bringing together a multitude of perspectives from different disciplines on topics including health and wellbeing disability studies social justice ecology and gender this book provides a unique appraisal of the humanist perspective on landscape In doing so it challenges Romantic approaches to walking applying new ideas in contemporary critical thought and alternative perspectives on embodiment and trans corporeality Landscape Performance Bo Yang,2018-10-26 Ian McHarg's ecological planning approach has been influential since the 20th century However few empirical studies have been conducted to evaluate the performance of his projects Using the framework of landscape performance assessment this book demonstrates the long term benefits of a renowned McHargian project The Woodlands town development through quantitative and qualitative methods Including 44 black and white illustrations Landscape Performance systematically documents the performance benefits of the environmental social and economic aspects of The Woodlands project It delves into McHarg's planning success in The Woodlands in comparison with adjacent Houston developments which demonstrated urban resilience after Hurricane Harvey in 2017 Lastly it identifies the ingredients of McHarg's ability to do real and permanent good Yang also includes a number of appendices which provide valuable information on the methods of assessing performance in landscape development This book would be beneficial to academics and students of landscape architecture and planning with a particular interest in Ian McHarg Cultural Landscapes of South Asia Kapila Silva,Amita Sinha,2016-10-14 Winner of the Environmental Design Research Association's 2018 Achievement Award The pluralism of South Asia belies any singular reading of its heritage In spite of this diversity its cultural traditions retain certain attributes that are at their core South Asian in their capacity to self organize enact and reinvent cultural memories and in their ability to retain an intimate connection with nature and landscape This volume focuses on the notion of cultural landscape as a medium integrating multiple forms of heritage and points to a new paradigm for conservation practices in the South Asian context Even though the construct of cultural landscape has been accepted as a category of heritage its potent use in heritage management in general and within the South Asian context in particular has not been widely studied The volume challenges the prevalent views of heritage management in South Asia that are entrenched in colonial legacies and contemporary global policy frameworks Slavery and the Forensic Theatricality of Human Rights in the Spanish Empire Karen-Margrethe Simonsen,2023-06-24 This book is a study of the forensic theatricality of human rights claims in literary texts about slavery in the sixteenth and the nineteenth century in the Spanish Empire The book centers on the question how do literary texts use theatrical multisensorial strategies to denunciate the violence against enslaved people and make a claim for their rights The Spanish context is particularly interesting because of its early tradition of human rights thinking in the Salamanca School especially Bartolom de Las Casas developed in relation to slavery and colonialism Taking its point of departure in forensic aesthetics the book analyzes five forms of non narrative theatricality allegorical carnivalesque tragicomic melodramatic and tragic

Desert Paradises Julian Bolleter, 2019-03-29 Desert Paradises Surveying the Landscapes of Dubai's Urban Model explores how designed landscapes can play a vital role in constructing a city's global image and legitimizing its socio political hierarchy Using the case study of Dubai Bolleter explores how Dubai's rulers employ a paradisiacal image of greening the desert in part as a tool for political legitimization Bolleter also evaluates the designed landscapes of Dubai against the principles of the United Nations and the International Federation of Landscape Architects and argues that what is happening in Dubai represents a significant discrepancy between theory and practice This book offers a new perspective on landscape design that has until now been unexplored It would be beneficial to academics and students of geography landscape architecture urban design and urban planning particularly those with an interest in Dubai or the many cities in the region that are experiencing Dubaiification

A History of Groves Jan Woudstra, Colin Roth, 2017-08-24 The grove a grouping of trees intentionally cultivated or found growing wild has a long diverse history entwined with human settlement rural practices and the culture and politics of cities A grove can be a memorial a place of learning a site of poetic retreat and philosophy or political encampment a public park or theatre a place of hidden pleasures a symbol of a vanished forest ecology or a place of gods or other spirits Yet groves are largely absent from our contemporary vocabulary and rarely included in today's landscape practice whether urban or rural Groves are both literal and metaphorical manifestations ways of defining spaces and ecologies in our cultural life Since they can add meaning to urban forms and ecologies and contribute meaningfully to the significance of place critical examination is long overdue The editors have taken care to ensure that the text is accessible to the general reader as well as specialists

The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard, Ian Thompson, Emma Waterton, Mick Atha, 2018-09-03 This new edition of The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies contains an updated and expanded selection of original chapters which explore research directions in an array of disciplines sharing a concern for landscape a term which has many uses and meanings It features 33 revised and or updated chapters and 14 entirely new chapters on topics such as the Anthropocene Indigenous landscapes challenging landscape Eurocentrism's photography and green infrastructure planning The volume is divided into four parts Experiencing landscape Landscape heritage and culture Landscape society and justice and Design and planning for landscape Collectively the book provides a critical review of the various fields related to the study of landscapes including the future development of conceptual and theoretical approaches as well as current empirical knowledge and understanding It encourages dialogue across disciplinary barriers and between academics and practitioners and reflects upon the implications of research findings for local national and international policy in relation to landscape The Companion provides a comprehensive and up to date guide to current thinking about landscapes and serves as an invaluable point of reference for scholars researchers and graduate students alike

Reimagining Industrial Sites Catherine Heatherington, 2017-12-06

The discourse around derelict former industrial and military sites has grown in recent years. This interest is not only theoretical and landscape professionals are taking new approaches to the design and development of these sites. This book examines the varied ways in which the histories and qualities of these derelict sites are reimagined in the transformed landscape and considers how such approaches can reveal the dramatic changes that have been wrought on these places over a relatively short time scale. It discusses these issues with reference to eleven sites from the UK, Germany, the USA, Australia and China, focusing specifically on how designers incorporate evidence of landscape change, both cultural and natural. There has been little research into how these developed landscapes are perceived by visitors and local residents. This book examines how the tangible material traces of pastness are interpreted by the visitor and the impact of the intangible elements: hidden traces, experiences and memories. The book draws together theory in the field and implications for practice in landscape architecture and concludes with an examination of how different approaches to revealing and reimagining change can affect the future management of the site.

Living with the Sea Mike Brown, Kimberley Peters, 2018-10-03. The seas and oceans are currently taking centre stage in academic study and public consciousness. From the plastics littering our seas to the role of climate change on ocean currents, from unequal access of marine resources to the treacherous experiences of seafarers who keep our global economy afloat, now is a crucial time to examine how we live with the sea. This ambitious book brings together an interdisciplinary and international cohort of contributors from within and beyond academia. It offers a range and diversity of insights unlike previous collections. An oceanic turn is taking place with a burgeoning of academic work that takes seriously the place of seas and oceans in understanding socio-cultural and political life past and present. Yet there is a significant gap concerning the ways in which we engage with seas and oceans with a will to enliven action and evoke change. This book explores these challenges, offering insights from spatial planning, architectural design, geography, educational studies, anthropology and cultural studies. An examination through these lenses can help us to better understand human relationships with the seas and oceans and promote an ethic of care for the future.

Landscape, Well-Being and Environment Richard Coles, Zoe Millman, 2013-11-07. Well-being is now firmly established as an overarching theme of key concern to all professionals that work, manage or design the environment. However, well-being is a complex, multi-dimensional issue rooted in the ways that we encounter, perceive and interpret the environment. No single discipline can claim to have sufficient knowledge to fully explain the types of interactions that occur; therefore, there is a need to draw together a wide range of professions who are exploring the consequences of their actions upon the well-being of individuals and communities. This edited work addresses the above, consisting of a collection of studies which embrace different aspects of environment, landscape and well-being to consider current approaches to well-being research and practice that fall outside the traditional concepts of well-being as part of medical research, making links with architecture, landscape design, environmental perception, social interaction and environmental sustainability. The contributors originally presented at the international conference Well

Being 2011 jointly hosted by Birmingham City University and the Royal Institute of British Architects RIBA the chapters have been developed to present a coherent series of themes reviewing a wide range of literature presenting case studies appropriate to diverse audiences      Conversations With Landscape Karl Benediktsson, Katrín Anna Lund, 2016-05-13

Conversations With Landscape moves beyond the conventional dualisms associated with landscape exploring notions of landscape and its relation with humans through the metaphor of conversation Such an approach conceives of landscape as an actor in the ongoing communication that is inherent in any perception recognising the often ignored mutuality of encounters between human and non human actors With contributions drawn from a variety of disciplines including anthropology geography archaeology philosophy literature and the visual arts this book explores the affects and emotions engendered in the conversations between landscape and humans Offering scope for an original and coherent approach to the study of landscape this book will appeal to scholars and researchers across a range of social sciences and humanities      Landscapes of Affect and Emotion, 2021-10-25 The volume Landscapes of Affect and Emotion maps out the current approaches on emotion and affect in environmental humanities and interdisciplinary landscape studies It discusses the contemporary emotional turn in humanities and its relation to space place and landscape Emotions and affects are addressed from three main angles representation and symbolic landscape place experience and lifeworlds and landscape as an embodied set of practices These are studied in terms of the changing human nature relationship focusing on politicisations and contestations of landscape as well as boundaries and hybridity between culture and nature      Landscape and Memory Simon Schama, 1996 This book examines our relationship with the landscape around us rivers mountains forests the impact that each of them has had on our culture and imaginations and the way in which we in turn have shaped them to suit our needs

Ruptured Landscapes Helen Sooväli-Sepping, Hugo Reinert, Jonathan Miles-Watson, 2015-06-15 This volume breaks new ground in the study of landscapes both rural and urban The innovative notion of this landscape collection is rupture The book explores the ways in which societal economic and cultural changes are transforming the meanings and understandings of landscapes The text explores both how landscapes are contesting changes in society and changing society The volume combines empirically fine grained accounts of landscape rupture from different parts of the world with a sustained effort to explore rethink and analytically extend the concept of rupture itself The book therefore combines fresh empirical data with innovative theoretical approaches to open understanding of landscape as a dynamic living entity subject to abrupt change and unpredictable disruptions Through this dual reflection the volume is able to provide a powerful demonstration of the possibilities that are available for human action social change and material landscape to combine      Where Nature Ends Susan E. Lorsch, 1983 This critical study argues that certain writers generally separated into Victorian and early modern categories actually share a drive to capture landscape in language and that this drive reflects a common view of reality and the self      Landscape Identity & Memory Wei Li, 2011*      Landscape and Subjectivity in the Work of Patrick Keiller,

W.G. Sebald, and Iain Sinclair David Anderson (College teacher), 2020 Situating Keiller Sebald and Sinclair as the three leading voices in English psychogeography this book examines what apart from a shared interest in English landscape and townscape connects their work it discovers this in the cultivation of a certain affective mode or sensibility especially attuned to the cultural anxieties of the twentieth century's closing decades As it goes on the book explores motifs including essayism the reconciliation of creativity with market forces and the foregrounding of an often agonised or melancholic subjectivity It wonders whether the work it looks at can collectively be seen to constitute a critical theory of contemporary space In the process it suggests that Keiller Sebald and Sinclair represent a highly significant moment in English culture's engagement with landscape environment and itself There are six chapters in all with two devoted to each subject one to their early years and less well known work and another to their more famous later contributions including important works such as Patrick Keiller's London 1994 W G Sebald's The Rings of Saturn 1995 and Iain Sinclair's Lights Out for the Territory 1997 The book's analyses are fuelled by archival and topographical research carried out in London and Germany and are responsive to various interdisciplinary contexts including the tradition of the English Journey the set of ideas associated with the spatial turn critical theory the so called heritage debate in Britain and more recent theorization of the anthropocene In all the book suggests the various ways that a dialectical relationship between dwelling and displacement has been exploited as a means to attempt subjective reorientation within the axiomatically disorientating conditions of contemporary modernity Publisher's description
