Phd Mobility Scholarships For Study Research 2018:

Doctoral education in the entrepreneurial university Eloïse Germain-Alamartine, 2020-03-09 This dissertation explores the issue of employability of doctorate holders through the theoretical lens of the model of the entrepreneurial university. It starts from the observation that there is a bottleneck in the academic labour market in many countries making it increasingly difficult for recent doctoral graduates to engage in an academic career. Traditionally, doctoral education was designed for a career in academia but the employment situations of doctorate holders call for more relevance of doctoral education and doctoral level skills on the non academic labour market. The main argument of this dissertation is that the openness and the interactions of the entrepreneurial university with its environment in particular its region makes it a relevant model to enhance the employability of doctorate holders outside academia. The thesis is based on five publications written either solely by the author or in collaboration with other scholars mostly case studies compiling both qualitative and quantitative data and approaches. Three main findings can be highlighted from the research: i the entrepreneurial university increases its socioeconomic impact by building an alignment with regional stakeholders over the years and thanks to key individuals by retaining human and social capital within itself and by broadening the scope of its activities and stakeholders; ii doctorate holders employability is key in the entrepreneurial university's regional socioeconomic impact as they are increasingly employed outside academia but are likely to experience job mismatches in this situation mainly related to education and skills; iii regional stakeholders can take different types of initiatives to enhance the employability of doctorate holders and increase the entrepreneurial university's socioeconomic impact more specifically doctorate holders and non academic employers can get to know each other better intermediaries such as Science Parks can support them through the creation of meeting places. The dissertation contributes to the literature on the entrepreneurial university by focusing on the population of doctoral students and doctorate holders at the crossroads of its three missions: education, research and third mission. It also suggests the following main recommendations to universities: beyond adapting the content of doctoral education to the needs of non academic employers, put emphasis on marketing it to them so that they understand what it is worth to doctorate holders, expand their knowledge of career possibilities and behave entrepreneurially by initiating activities to complement what could be missing in their education, to non academic employers collaborate with universities and communicate their needs to them to influence the design of curricula. Avhandlingen undersöker anställningsbarheten för en disputerad person med teoretisk utgångspunkt i en modell av det entreprenöriella universitetet. I de flesta länder är det svårt för nyexaminerade doktorer att komma in på arbetsmarknaden, inte minst för dem som vill fortsätta inom akademien. Traditionellt är en doktorandutbildning utformad för en fortsatt karriär inom akademien, men på grund av de begränsade möjligheterna på arbetsmarknaden krävs doktorandutbildningar med större relevans och som även ger fördigheter inför en icke akademisk karriär. Huvudtesen i denna avhandling är att det entreprenöriella universitetets öppenhet och interaktionen med det omgivande samhället

Abroad on Higher Education Development Nobuko Kayashima, Miki Sugimura, Kazuo Kuroda, Yuto Kitamura, 2024-08-10

This open access book is an exceptional contribution to the burgeoning fields of higher education development and higher education internationalization as it empirically examines the impact of the study abroad experiences of faculty members on individual and institutional development. The research and its outcomes presented here utilize results from a large scale survey and interviews of faculty at ten leading universities in Malaysia, Indonesia, Vietnam, and Cambodia. The analyses show that the study abroad experiences of faculty members impact not only improvements in research quality and development of educational programs but also serve as the foundation for international activities at the university, crucially important in today's higher education landscape. On the other hand, the research reveals the rapid development of higher education at the local and regional levels, including the development of graduate programs for faculty training in the home country, leading to increasing rates of study abroad within Southeast Asia. Through the analyses presented, this book offers a new understanding of higher education development and internationalization in Southeast Asia by examining the impact of study abroad on the academic profession, higher education institutions, and the higher education sector.

Handbook of Public Funding of Research Benedetto Lepori, Ben Jongbloed, Diana Hicks, 2023-03-02. Given the recent re-evaluation of research funding policy as an issue central to national governments and the EU, it is imperative that underlying rationales and channels for investment in research and development are examined. A pioneering analysis of the complexity, allocation, and management of public funding of research, this Handbook explores the strategies whereby research can be successfully targeted and supported to resolve problems of broad public concern.

Routledge Handbook of Migration and Development Tanja Bastia, Ronald Skeldon, 2020-02-14. The Routledge Handbook of Migration and Development provides an interdisciplinary agenda-setting survey of the fields of migration and development, bringing together over 60 expert contributors from around the world to chart current and future trends in research on this topic. The links between migration and development can be traced back to the post-war period, if not further; yet it is only in the last 20 years that the migration-development nexus has risen to prominence for academics and policymakers. Starting by mapping the different theoretical approaches to migration and development, this book goes on to present cutting-edge research in poverty and inequality, displacement, climate change, health, family, social policy, interventions, and the key challenges surrounding migration and development. While much of the migration literature continues to be dominated by US and British perspectives, this volume includes original contributions from most regions of the world to offer alternative non-Anglophone perspectives. Given the increasing importance of migration in both international development and current affairs, the Routledge Handbook of Migration and Development will be of interest both to policymakers and to students and researchers of geography, development studies, political science, sociology, demography, and development economics.

The Oxford Handbook of Higher Education in the Asia-Pacific Region Devesh Kapur, Lily Kong, Florence Lo, David M. Malone, 2023-01-20 Since the turn of the millennium it has become clear that the Asia Pacific Region is economically the fastest growing continent in the world and is likely to remain so for some time despite the setbacks of the COVID 19 pandemic Asia Pacific's share of the world's Gross Domestic Product (GDP) doubled from 15 per cent to 30 per cent between 1970 and 2017 and is projected to account for half of global GDP by 2050. With South East and South Asia also growing rapidly with over half the world's population and three of the world's five largest economies, Asia is soon poised to home half of the world's middle class, a class that is both the driver and the product of higher education. The quality of a country's system of higher education may be seen both as a gauge of its current level of national development as well as of its future economic prospects. It is therefore natural that the putative Asian Century should generate interest in the region's higher education systems which on the one hand share common characteristics, a fixation with credentials and engineering, high technology especially among male students and business degrees, while at the same time are also highly differentiated, not only across countries but also within. As such, a better understanding of higher education achievements, failings, potential and structural limitations in the Asia Pacific Region is imperative. This handbook presents a number of significant country case studies and documents cross-cutting trends relating to, among other things, the trilemma faced by governments juggling competing claims of access, accessible cost and quality; the balance between teaching and research; the links between labour markets, demand and higher education supply; preferred fields of study and their consequences; the rise of the research university in Asia; the lure of institutions of international reputation within the region; new education technologies and their effects; and trends in government policy within the wider region and sub-regions.

Researching Peacebuilding in Africa

Ismail Rashid, Amy Niang, 2020-11-29. This book examines the multifaceted nature of conflict and the importance of the socio-economic and political contexts of conflict and violence and shows how to support ongoing initiatives and programs to build sustainable peace on the African continent. Drawing on a range of conceptual framings in the study of peace and conflict, from gender perspectives to institutionalist to decolonial perspectives, the contributors show how peacebuilding research covers a whole range of questions that go beyond concerns for post-conflict reconstruction strategies. Chapters focus on the methodological, theoretical and practical aspects of peacebuilding and provide a toolbox of perspectives for conceptualizing and doing peacebuilding research in Africa. Anchored in African-centered perspectives, the book encourages and promotes high quality interdisciplinary research that is conflict sensitive, historically informed, theoretically grounded and analytically sound. This book will be of benefit to scholars, policy makers and research institutions engaged in peacebuilding in Africa.
