Summary of Julie Dirksen's Design for How People Learn Everest Media, 2022-05-22T22:59:00Z Please note This is a companion version not the original book Sample Book Insights 1 Learning experiences are like journeys The journey starts where the learner is now and ends when the learner is successful however that is defined The end of the journey isn t just about knowing more but also doing more 2 There are gaps between your learner s current situation and where they need to be in order to be successful These gaps are between what they know and what they need to know You can help them bridge these gaps by designing better learning experiences 3 The gap between what your learners have and what they need is information You want your learners to have the right supplies for their journey but you also want them to know what to do with that information 4 The only way to prepare for a major hike is to hike regularly and even a less ambitious goal would require practice and conditioning Learners in all disciplines are frequently in this situation They receive the knowledge in a book or class but don t get the opportunity to practice and develop skills      Design for how People Learn Julie Dirksen, 2016      Interface Design for Learning Dorian Peters, 2013-11-26 In offices colleges and living rooms across the globe learners of all ages are logging into virtual laboratories online classrooms and 3D worlds Kids from kindergarten to high school are honing math and literacy skills on their phones and iPads If that weren't enough people worldwide are aggregating internet services from social networks to media content to learn from each other in Personal Learning Environments Strange as it sounds the future of education is now as much in the hands of digital designers and programmers as it is in the hands of teachers And yet as interface designers how much do we really know about how people learn How does interface design actually impact learning And how do we design environments that support both the cognitive and emotional sides of learning experiences The answers have been hidden away in the research on education psychology and human computer interaction until now Packed with over 100 evidence based strategies in this book you'll learn how to Design educational games apps and multimedia interfaces in ways that enhance learning Support creativity problem solving and collaboration through interface design Design effective visual layouts navigation and multimedia for online and mobile learning Improve educational outcomes through interface design

A Mindset for Mobile Learning Julian Stodd, 2012-11-08 The subject of this book is mobile learning but mobile means many things it means technology as in a mobile phone or tablet and it also means mobile learning courses themselves as well as being used to describe the experience of learning in this way of experiencing mobile I m interested in all of these things in exploring what they each mean and how we can pull them together to provide a meaningful narrative of how we develop and experience mobile learning It s easy to think of mobile as just being a distribution channel like a television or a radio We can view the devices as just conduits to push content out to learners but this is to miss so much of the potential potential that is only unfolding to us as we speak People interact with mobile devices in fundamentally different ways they are social tools used to reinforce our standing fashion statements aspirational decoration sources of knowledge and power able to make us win a pub quiz or find a pizza but also business tools used to organize meetings remind us of deadlines and let us speak to the boss when we re running late Mobile devices transcend the traditional boundaries of our lives crossing over between the formal spaces of work and the informal social spaces that surround it The devices are not purely functional they are much much more It s important that we understand just how widely mobile has permeated our lives how often we reach into our pocket and ready our thumbs for action We need to recognize how it impacts on knowledge we used to have to know things whilst now we often only need to know how to find those things out fast Knowing how to use Google is often enough We need to develop a mindset for mobile learning
