How Much Is Enough? Monte Carlo Simulations of an Oil Stabilization Fund for Nigeria Mr. Ulrich Bartsch, 2006-06-01 In oil dependent countries a major issue is how to stabilize fiscal spending when government revenue fluctuates along with the international price of oil A stabilization fund would allow the government to pull through an oil price trough and absorb windfall revenue when prices are high This paper focuses on two key issues First the paper proposes to base government spending on moving averages of past oil prices that are shown to behave nearly as a random walk Second it uses Monte Carlo simulations of a fiscal policy model to look at the probability that a given level of assets in the stabilization fund is exhausted over a certain number of years The simulations show that with a fiscal policy based on moving averages over three to five years a stabilization fund of about 75 percent of 2004 oil revenue would be adequate which in Nigeria would equate to US 16 18 billion     The Compleat Day Trader II Jake Bernstein, 1998-07-22 The Compleat Day Trader II picks up where the Compleat Day Trader left off Bernstein provides new trading strategies and techniques soecifically designed for the new breed of intuitive traders who create their own system customized for their own trading styles and areas of effectiveness The Compleat Day Trader II includes the most up to date strategies and systems for seizing hold of day trading success including A separate chapter detailing each system and method Indicator formulas and system codes The psychology of day trading
