1. A crate filled with delicious junk food rests on a horizontal floor. Only gravity and the support force of the floor act on it, as shown by the vectors for weight W and normal force N .

- a. The net force on the crate is [zero] [greater than zero].
b. Evidence for this is _____

2. A slight pull P is exerted on the crate, not enough to move it. A force of friction f now acts,

- a. which is [less than] [equal to] [greater than] P .
b. Net force on the crate is [zero] [greater than zero].

3. Pull P is increased until the crate begins to move. It is pulled so that it moves with constant velocity across the floor.

- a. Friction f is [less than] [equal to] [greater than] P .
b. Constant velocity means acceleration is [zero] [more than zero].
c. Net force on the crate is [less than] [equal to] [more than] zero.

4. Pull P is further increased and is now greater than friction f .

Science/Technology/Society as Reform in Science Education Robert Eugene Yager, 1996-01-01 Science Technology Society (STS) is a reform effort to broaden science as a discipline in schools and colleges to relate science to other facets of the curriculum and to relate science specifically to technology and to the society that supports and produces new conceptualizations of both. STS is also defined as the teaching and learning of science technology in the context of human experience. It focuses on a method of teaching that recognizes the importance that experience in the real world has on the learning process. And it recognizes that real learning can occur only when the learner is engaged and able to construct her or his own meaning. Science Technology Society As Reform in Science Education is rich with examples of such teaching and learning. It includes impressive research evidence that illustrates that progress has been made and goals have been met. For teachers and administrators alike, this book provides and validates new visions for science education.
