Software Engineering: A Practitioner's Approach

"Superb! From now on, we will consider computer graphics for the field of software engineering to be the standard for the discipline and software development management practice. It is a leading in practice."

— IBM Software

"This is a classic modern textbook, clear and authoritative, with a long history of excellence, quality and innovation. . . . I have used it in my own classes. What is software engineering and development?"

— IBM Computing Journal

"The up-to-date, concise, in-depth treatment of the software engineering practice."

— Applied Artificial Intelligence

For almost three decades, Software Engineering: A Practitioner's Approach has been the best selling guide to software engineering for students and industry professionals alike.

In seventh edition, the book has been extensively revised and redesigned, including a new second volume that addresses most important topics in what many have called "the engineering discipline of the 21st century." Expanded and improved content has been expanded and enhanced, allowing the reader to learn better and understand complex concepts in a more effective way. New chapters and new organizations make the book a more useful and relevant guide.

- Part 1, The Software Process, presents both process types and agile process models.
- Part 2, Modeling, presents modeling and design methods with a new emphasis on UML-based modeling.
- Part 3, Quality Engineering, is new for the seventh edition and address all aspects of software testing, quality assurance, formal methods, and software risk management.
- Part 4, Managing Software Projects, presents topics that are critical to the software project management and control software project.
- Part 5, Software Tools, presents both new chapters that address software project management and formal software engineering methods.
