Project Management for the Advanced Practice Nurse

A project requires adequate project management to be successful, where the Advanced Practice Nurse Project Manager (APN PM) can build a roadmap, support the project team, define the tools, and implement the project tasks. In modern nursing, it is not uncommon that Informatics Nurses (IN) and Informatics Nurse Specialists (INSs) play a crucial role in developing strategic plans and creating successful policies and procedures (American Nurses Association, 2015). INs and INSs can oversee all the phases of a project, managing resources and implementing activities. Proper project planning follows a s...
