Artificial Neural Nets and Genetic Algorithms George D. Smith, Nigel C. Steele, Rudolf F. Albrecht, 2012-12-06 This is the third in a series of conferences devoted primarily to the theory and applications of artificial neural networks and genetic algorithms The first such event was held in Innsbruck Austria in April 1993 the second in Ales France in April 1995 We are pleased to host the 1997 event in the mediaeval city of Norwich England and to carry on the fine tradition set by its predecessors of providing a relaxed and stimulating environment for both established and emerging researchers working in these and other related fields This series of conferences is unique in recognising the relation between the two main themes of artificial neural networks and genetic algorithms each having its origin in a natural process fundamental to life on earth and each now well established as a paradigm fundamental to continuing technological development through the solution of complex industrial commercial and financial problems This is well illustrated in this volume by the numerous applications of both paradigms to new and challenging problems The third key theme of the series therefore is the integration of both technologies either through the use of the genetic algorithm to construct the most effective network architecture for the problem in hand or more recently the use of neural networks as approximate fitness functions for a genetic algorithm searching for good solutions in an incomplete solution space i.e. one for which the fitness is not easily established for every possible solution instance

An Introduction to Neural Network Methods for Differential Equations Neha Yadav, Anupam Yadav, Manoj Kumar, 2015-02-26

This book introduces a variety of neural network methods for solving differential equations arising in science and engineering. The emphasis is placed on a deep understanding of the neural network techniques which has been presented in a mostly heuristic and intuitive manner. This approach will enable the reader to understand the working efficiency and shortcomings of each neural network technique for solving differential equations. The objective of this book is to provide the reader with a sound understanding of the foundations of neural networks and a comprehensive introduction to neural network methods for solving differential equations together with recent developments in the techniques and their applications. The book comprises four major sections. Section I consists of a brief overview of differential equations and the relevant physical problems arising in science and engineering. Section II illustrates the history of neural networks starting from their beginnings in the 1940s through to the renewed interest of the 1980s. A general introduction to neural networks and learning technologies is presented in Section III. This section also includes the description of the multilayer perceptron and its learning methods. In Section IV the different neural network methods for solving differential equations are introduced including discussion of the most recent developments in the field. Advanced students and researchers in mathematics, computer science and various disciplines in science and engineering will find this book a valuable reference source.

Artificial Neural Networks - ICANN 2006 Stefanos Kollias, 2006

Elements of Artificial Neural Networks Kishan Mehrotra, Chilukuri K. Mohan, Sanjay Ranka, 1997

Elements of Artificial Neural Networks provides a clearly organized general introduction focusing on a broad range of algorithms for students and others who want to use neural networks rather than simply study them. The authors who have been developing and team teaching the material in a one semester course over the past six years describe most of the basic neural network models with several detailed solved examples and discuss the rationale and advantages of the models as well as their limitations. The approach is practical and open minded and requires very little mathematical or technical background. Written from a computer science and statistics point of view the text stresses links to contiguous fields and can easily serve as a first course for students in economics and management. The opening chapter sets the stage presenting the basic concepts in a clear and objective way and tackling important yet rarely addressed questions related to the use of neural networks in practical situations. Subsequent chapters on supervised learning single layer and multilayer networks unsupervised learning and associative models are structured around classes of problems to which networks can be applied Applications are discussed along with the algorithms A separate chapter takes up optimization methods The most frequently used algorithms such as backpropagation are introduced early on right after perceptrons so that these can form the basis for initiating course projects Algorithms published as late as 1995 are also included All of the algorithms are presented using block structured pseudo code and exercises are provided throughout Software implementing many commonly used neural network algorithms is available at the book s website Transparency masters including abbreviated text and figures for the entire book are available for instructors using the text Advances in Neural Networks - ISSN 2005 Xiaofeng Liao,2005-05-17 The three volume set LNCS 3496 3497 3498 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the Second International Symposium on Neural Networks ISSN 2005 held in Chongqing China in May June 2005 The 483 revised papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 1 425 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections on theoretical analysis model design learning methods optimization methods kernel methods component analysis pattern analysis systems modeling signal processing image processing financial analysis control systems robotic systems telecommunication networks incidence detection fault diagnosis power systems biomedical applications industrial applications and other applications 7th International Work-Conference on Artificial and Natural Neural Networks, IWANN 2003, Maó, Menorca, Spain, June 3-6, 2003 ,2003 Advances in Neural Networks - ISSN 2005 Jun Wang,Xiaofeng Liao,Zhang Yi,2005-05-02 The three volume set LNCS 3496 3497 3498 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the Second International Symposium on Neural Networks ISSN 2005 held in Chongqing China in May June 2005 The 483 revised papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 1 425 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections on theoretical analysis model design learning methods optimization methods kernel methods component analysis pattern analysis systems modeling signal processing image processing financial analysis control systems robotic systems telecommunication networks incidence detection fault diagnosis power systems biomedical applications industrial applications and other applications Neural Networks in Optimization Xiang-Sun Zhang,2013-03-09 People are facing more and more NP complete or NP hard problems of a combinatorial nature and of a continuous nature in economic military and management practice There are two ways in which one can enhance the efficiency of searching for the solutions of these problems The first is to improve the speed and memory capacity of hardware We all have witnessed the computer industry s amazing achievements with hardware and software developments over the last twenty years On one hand many computers bought only a few years ago are being sent to elementary schools for children to learn the ABC s of computing On the other hand with economic scientific and military developments it seems that the increase of intricacy and the size of newly arising problems have no end We all realize then that the second way to design good algorithms will definitely compensate for the hardware limitations in the case of complicated problems It is the collective and parallel computation property of artificial neural net works that has activated the enthusiasm of researchers in the field of computer science and applied mathematics It is hard to say that artificial neural networks are solvers of the above mentioned dilemma but at least they throw some new light on the difficulties we face We not only anticipate that there will be neural computers with intelligence but we also believe that the research results of artificial neural networks might lead to new algorithms on von Neumann s computers
