Underwood, Hugh D. Safford, Nicole A. Molinari, Jon E. Keeley, 2018-04-09

Chaparral shrubland ecosystems are an iconic feature of the California landscape and a highly biodiverse yet highly flammable backdrop to some of the fastest growing urban areas in the United States. Chaparral type ecosystems are a common element of all of the world's Mediterranean type climate regions of which California is one, yet there is little public appreciation of the intrinsic value and the ecosystem services that these landscapes provide. Valuing Chaparral is a compendium of contributions from experts in chaparral ecology and management with a focus on the human relationship with chaparral ecosystems. Chapters cover a wide variety of subjects ranging from biodiversity to ecosystem services like water provision, erosion control, carbon sequestration, and recreation; from the history of human interactions with chaparral to current education and conservation efforts; and from chaparral restoration and management to scenarios of the future under changing climate, land use, and human population. Valuing Chaparral will be of interest to resource managers, the research community, policy makers, and the public who live and work in the chaparral dominated landscapes of California and other Mediterranean type climate regions.

Directory of Distance Learning Opportunities
Modoc Press, Inc., 2003-02-28. This book provides an overview of current K-12 courses and programs offered in the United States as correspondence study or via such electronic delivery systems as satellite cable or the Internet. The Directory includes over 6,000 courses offered by 154 institutions or distance learning consortium members. Following an introduction that describes existing practices and delivery methods, the Directory offers three indexes: Subject Index of Courses Offered by Level, Course Level Index, Geographic Index. All information was supplied by the institutions. Entries include current contact information, a description of the institution, and the courses offered, grade level, and admission information, tuition and fee information, enrollment periods, delivery information, equipment requirements, credit and grading information, library services, and accreditation.
