H. i.e. George Hay.] George HAY (Bishop of Daulis.),1779      Ancient Roman Solutions to Modern Legal Issues Anna Mancini,2004 Our Law and its philosophy have been conceived for an economic world where the main source of wealth was material Although this world no longer exists its laws are still alive and slow down the development of modern economies Patent law strikingly shows this fact Invented mainly during the industrial revolution in order to protect tangible inventions it could not be applied to the new intangible inventions of the 20th century Software for example has been denied protection under patent law due to its lack of materiality Since such a cause of denial is economically absurd we should adapt patent law to the virtual world This was not done and so no new intangible invention can benefit from this protection through a lack of tangibility Long before us the ancient Romans had understood that the intangible world and the material world do not function the same way Since they were very practical people they took this reality into account to build their legal system Their legal experience has become valuable for a modern world that is rediscovering the value of ideas and people's wealth too long eclipsed by materialism      A New Roman History, by Question and Answer John Lockman,1774

The Metallurgy of Roman Silver Coinage Kevin Butcher,Matthew Ponting,2015-04-02 The fineness of Roman imperial and provincial coinage has been regarded as an indicator of the broader fiscal health of the Roman Empire with the apparent gradual decline of the silver content being treated as evidence for worsening deficits and the contraction of the supply of natural resources from which the coins were made This book explores the composition of Roman silver coinage of the first century AD re-examining traditional interpretations in the light of an entirely new programme of analyses of the coins which illustrates the inadequacy of many earlier analytical projects It provides new evidence for the supply of materials and refining and minting technology It can even pinpoint likely episodes of recycling old coins and when combined with the study of hoards hints at possible strategies of stockpiling of metal The creation of reserves bears directly on the question of the adequacy of revenues and fiscal health      Local Provision of Public Services George R.
