A History of Housing in New York City Richard Plunz, 2016-10-18 Since its emergence in the mid nineteenth century as the nation's metropolis New York has faced the most challenging housing problems of any American city but it has also led the nation in innovation and reform The horrors of the tenement were perfected in New York at the same time that the very rich were building palaces along Fifth Avenue public housing for the poor originated in New York as did government subsidies for middle class housing A standard in the field since its publication in 1992 A History of Housing in New York City traces New York's housing development from 1850 to the present in text and profuse illustrations Richard Plunz explores the housing of all classes with comparative discussion of the development of types ranging from the single family house to the high rise apartment tower His analysis is placed within the context of the broader political and cultural development of New York City This revised edition extends the scope of the book into the city's recent history adding three decades to the study covering the recent housing bubble crisis the rebound and gentrification of the five boroughs and the ecological issues facing the next generation of New Yorkers More than 300 illustrations are integrated throughout the text depicting housing plans neighborhood changes and city architecture over the past 130 years This new edition also features a foreword by the distinguished urban historian Kenneth T Jackson Design Guidelines in American Cities John Punter,1999-01-01 This book is a study of design initiatives and policies in five US West Coast cities Seattle including Bellevue Portland San Francisco Irvine and San Diego all of which have had particularly interesting urban design experience of relevance to practice in Britain and other countries Although these cities are not a representative sample of all American design practice they provide a rich vein of ideas about recent policy development and current initiatives which will stimulate thought about the formulation of effective design controls The presentation of substantial extracts from key documents that underpin design controls in the five cities will be of interest inspiration and practical use to academics and practitioners who want to know more about American practice and who want to contribute to improvements in the standards and quality of urban design policies and design control The opening chapter provides a national context and a comparative framework for the study with a focus on international perspectives American planning systems and the development of criteria for comparison and evaluation The five subsequent chapters take each city in turn briefly reviewing the salient characteristics of each one before presenting an account of how planning and design policy have evolved in the last twenty five years key features of the contemporary systems of design control are highlighted and a summary evaluation is made The focus in the case studies is on how policy and guidance have been formulated structured and presented in the various documents that make up the policy framework how the process of control operates and how both respond to the criticisms commonly made of design and control This final chapter draws general conclusions about the experience of the studied cities of wider relevance to American design review practice but which are of interest to those engaged in design review and policy formulation everywhere Planning Melbourne Robin Goodman,Michael Buxton,Susie Moloney,2016-07-01 For more than a decade Melbourne has had the fastest growing population of any Australian capital city It is expanding outward while also growing upward through vast new high rise developments in the inner suburbs With an estimated 1.6 million additional homes needed by 2050 planners and policymakers need to address current and emerging issues of amenity function productive capacity and social cohesion today Planning Melbourne reflects on planning since the post war era but focuses in particular on the past two decades and the ways that key government policies and influential individuals and groups have shaped the city during this time The book examines past debates and policies the choices planners have faced and the mistakes and sound decisions that have been made Current issues are also addressed including housing affordability transport choices protection of green areas and heritage and urban consolidation If Melbourne's identity is to be shaped as a prospering socially integrated and environmentally sustainable city a new approach to governance and spatial planning is needed and this book provides a call to action A Modern Guide to National Urban Policies in Europe Karsten Zimmermann,Valeria Fedeli,2021-04-30 Written in a clear and concise style this Modern Guide provide a timely overview and comparison of urban challenges and national urban policies in 13 European countries

addressing key issues such as housing urban regeneration and climate change A team of international contributors explore the gap between the rise of international urban agendas and variegated national urban policies examining whether a more bespoke approach is better than the traditional one size fits all

Planning in an Uncanny World Nicholas A. Phelps, Judy Bush, Anna Hurlimann, 2022-12-23 This book places Australian conditions and urban planning centrally within comparative analysis of planning systems and cultures around the world to address issues including urban governance climate change transportation planning regional development and migration planning Australian urban conditions and their associated planning responses can and often have been seen as unique or exceptional They are seldom discussed in the same breath as conditions and associated planning systems internationally Yet as well as being somewhat different from those elsewhere in the world Australian urban conditions and planning responses are also somewhat similar They are uncanny strangely familiar yet unfamiliar In this book Australian urban conditions and their planning policies and practices are informally compared and contrasted with those existing internationally If Australian urban planning policy and practice have had limited influence internationally the partial familiarity of challenges posed by its urban conditions ensure that Australia is a more important global reference point for scholarship and practice than commonly is appreciated In this book the authors assert the potential and actual originality of urban planning scholarship arising from the Australian context It will be useful for students and faculty planners working in Australia as well as anyone interested in international planning debates

Architectural, Construction, Environmental and Digital Technologies for Future Cities Natalia Potienko, Elena Ahmedova, Antonina Karlina, Vladimir Faerman, 2022-04-27 This book offers an overview of Russian and international experience in developing the concept of future cities and its practical implementation The concept of future cities is associated with several important trends The first trend is the sustainable development of the urban environment and the implementation of eco friendly technologies and materials in civil construction industrial and power plants The harmonious coexistence of the citizens with all forms of nature in the urban habitat becomes a great value The second trend is the individualization of the aesthetical and architectural image of the future cities The city s unique flavor based on the blending of the historical legacy and architectural traditions is now as important as the utility of the environment The third trend is the digitalization of the urban environment with the use of state of the art sensors information and communication technologies and data science The efficiency of operations and services achieved by the extensive use of complex IoT networks becomes a value as well The last trend is the adaptation of the urban and social environment for individual demands of a community and a person Individual comfort and safety are now more important than ever before By addressing these trends the volume discusses local and international plans practices and technologies aimed at the development and implementation of future cities

Designing the Global City Robert Freestone, Gethin Davison, Richard Hu, 2018-12-12 This text explores how architectural and urban design values have been co opted by global cities to enhance their economic competitiveness by creating a superior built environment that is not just aesthetically memorable but more productive and sustainable It focuses on the experience of central Sydney through its policy commitment to design excellence and more particularly to mandatory competitive design processes for major private development Framed within broader contexts that link it to comparable urban policy and design issues in the Asia Pacific region and globally it provides a scholarly but accessible volume that provides a balanced and critical overview of a policy that has changed the design culture development expectations public realm and skyline of central Sydney raising issues surrounding the uneven distribution of benefits and costs professional practice representative democracy and implications of globalization

Housing, Urban Renewal and Socio-Spatial Integration Xiaoxi

Hui,2013-02-07 This issue of A BE addresses two critical urban issues China faces today housing and urban renewal In the recent two decades the Chinese urban housing stock underwent a significant if not extreme transformation From 1949 to 1998 the urban housing stock in China largely depended on the public sector and a large amount of public housing areas were developed under the socialistic public housing system in Beijing and other Chinese cities Yet in 1998 a radical housing reform stopped this housing system Thus most of the public housing stock was privatized and the urban housing provision was conferred to the market The radical housing privatization and marketization did not really resolve but intensified the housing problem Along with the high speed urbanization the alienated capitalized and speculative housing stock caused a series of social and spatial problems The Chinese government therefore attempted to reestablish the social housing system in 2007 However the unbalanced structure of the Chinese urban housing stock has not been considerably optimized and the housing problem is still one of the most critical challenges in China
