Frage ob Tiere bei der Fähigkeit zur Selbsterkennung im Spiegel verfehlen. Hierzu wird dem Tier unbemerkt eine Farbmarkierung im Kopfbereich angebracht und überprüft ob es diese nach der Sichtung des eigenen Spiegelbildes an sich behält. Während viele Tierarten ihr Spiegelbild grundsätzlich als einen fremden Artgenossen wahrnehmen, bestehen auch Schimpansen den Markierungstest regelmäßig. Nicht wenige Forscherinnen sehen in dieser Fähigkeit zur Selbsterkennung einen Beleg für ein vorhandenes Selbstbewusstsein. Damit sich ein Lebewesen im Spiegel selbst erkennen kann, muss es zunächst von sich selbst wissen, so die Argumentation. Indes teilen nicht alle Forscherinnen eine solche Ansicht und versuchen die Fähigkeit zum Bestehen des Markierungstests alternativ zu erklären. Der Autor analysiert diesen Diskurs und nimmt eine eigene Einschätzung der Aussagekraft des Markierungstests vor. Leitend hierbei ist die These, dass sich der Disput um die Leistungsfähigkeit nur mit einem scharfen Begriffsverständnis von Selbstbewusstsein beilegen lässt. Während sich dieser Problematik der zweite Teil des Buches widmet, erfährt im ersten Teil der Spiegel als das zentrale Instrument im Experiment eine genaue Betrachtung. So ergreift der Autor darin seine Herstellungsgeschichte und verknüpft dies mit einer Untersuchung der Historie des Spiegelexperiments.

Emotional Data Applications and Regulation of Artificial Intelligence in Society Rosa Ballardini, Rob van den Hoven van Genderen, Sari Järvinen, 2025-01-22 This revolutionary new book on using AI to process human emotion data seeks to raise awareness for the topic thoroughly discuss it from a multidisciplinary perspective and by doing so disseminate research findings that elaborate on the current and future regulatory needs for the responsible and ethical development and application of emotional AI Biometric and psychological data of humans are the most sensitive data on human behavior The book s objective is to provide a holistic understanding of key challenges and propose novel workable substantive and methodological solutions for navigating current and future legal and ethical needs and dilemmas regarding the processes of developing and using emotional AI. Although both the academic community and political decision makers continue to intensively discuss issues in the ethical regulation of AI, there is still a very limited understanding of both the opportunities and the risks in connection with emotional AI specifically. Yet emotional AI is one of the most promising areas of AI developments and applications. Several of these innovations could be a welcome change in our society as they could improve our well being in various ways. That being said, these inventions require considerable investments. Thus legal incentives such as IPRs are crucial to supporting investment in these fields. Further, these innovations might have negative effects on the privacy and autonomy of natural persons, raising both legal and ethical concerns. Thus their legal and ethical acceptability as well as their societal acceptance might be challenged by several legal provisions in the EU such as the GDPR regulations on communications, social platforms and marketing, and the draft AI Act. Yet the current legal landscape for emotional AI in Europe is anything but clear, an aspect that becomes even more apparent when we consider the global picture of the regulatory framework for emotional AI. In this book, a diverse team of internationally respected experts addresses these issues, engaging in a multidisciplinary study into techno-economic, legal developments concerning emotional AI, its impacts, and the need for action. The book offers in depth scientific and societally relevant insights on the past, present, and future of AI in general, especially its many implications for law and policy. Although the primary target audience for the book are academics from the field of law, the book also offers sound guidance for legislators and general policymakers as well as companies and organizations.

Early Psychological Research Contributions from Women of Color, Volume 2 Rihana Shiri Mason, Jon E. Grahe, Michelle L. Ceynar, 2024-07-29. This volume serves as a companion to Early Psychological Research Contributions from Women of Color, Volume I. It focuses on the dissertations of 20 builders, women of color who earned their doctoral degrees in psychology prior to 1990 and who were leaders in the field through their leadership or innovation. An introductory chapter bridges the two volumes. Each subsequent chapter summarizes and examines a dissertation using a consistent format including a biographical sketch of the builder with an emphasis on her significant contribution to an organization or innovation, a summary of the dissertation, a reproducibility critique of the dissertation, and an alternative framework section that analyzes the dissertation from a modern theoretical perspective or methodological approach, e.g., feminist theory, liberation psychology, mestiza consciousness, etc. The topics cover the breadth of the discipline of psychology, including physiological, cognitive, developmental, social, and clinical. Some topics are also relevant to business, education, medicine, and social work. The varying nature of these dissertations allows the book to be used to augment coursework, either as a complete collection or as individual chapters. This volume is intended for both instructors and students. The course activities provide examples of how to integrate key aspects of the dissertation research into the classroom. The volume was written with upper level undergraduate students in mind so that it could be used across the psychology curriculum but the editors envision this book as a potential graduate level text as well
