Display of Art in the Roman Palace, 1550-1750 Gail Feigenbaum, 2014-08-01 This book explores the principles of the display of art in the magnificent Roman palaces of the early modern period focusing attention on how the parts function to convey multiple artistic social and political messages all within a splendid environment that provided a model for aristocratic residences throughout Europe Many of the objects exhibited in museums today once graced the interior of a Roman Baroque palazzo or a setting inspired by one In fact the very convention of a paintings gallery the mainstay of museums traces its ancestry to prototypes in the palaces of Rome Inside Roman palaces the display of art was calibrated to an increasingly accentuated dynamism of social and official life activated by the moving bodies and the attention of residents and visitors Display unfolded in space in a purposeful narrative that reflected rank honor privilege and intimacy With a contextual approach that encompasses the full range of media from textiles to stucco this study traces the influential emerging concept of a unified interior It argues that art history even the emergence of the modern category of fine art was worked out as much in the rooms of palaces as in the printed pages of Vasari and other early writers on art

Art-Union ,1881 Women, Art and Money in Late Victorian and Edwardian England Maria Quirk, 2019-05-16 Women Art and Money in England establishes the importance of women artists commercial dealings to their professional identities and reputations in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Grounded in economic social and art history the book draws on and synthesises data from a broad range of documentary and archival sources to present a comprehensive history of women artists professional status and business relationships within the complex and changing art market of late Victorian England By providing new insights into the routines and incomes of women artists and the spaces where they created exhibited and sold their art this book challenges established ideas about what women had to do to be considered professional artists More important than a Royal Academy education or membership to exhibiting societies was a woman's ability to sell her work This meant that women had strong incentive to paint in saleable popular and middlebrow genres which reinforced prejudices towards women's naturally inferior artistic ability prejudices that continued far into the twentieth century From shining a light on the difficult to trace pecuniary arrangements of little researched artists like Ethel Mortlock to offering new and direct comparisons between the incomes earned by male and female artists and the genres commissions and exhibitions that earned women the most money Women Art and Money is a timely contribution to the history of women's working lives that is relevant to a number of scholarly disciplines

The Global Rules of Art Larissa Buchholz, 2022-11-22 A trailblazing look at the historical emergence of a global field in contemporary art and the diverse ways artists become valued worldwide Prior to the 1980s the postwar canon of international contemporary art was made up almost exclusively of artists from North America and Western Europe while cultural agents from other parts of the world often found themselves on the margins The Global Rules of Art examines how this discriminatory situation has changed in recent decades Drawing from abundant sources including objective indicators from more than one hundred countries multiple institutional histories and discourses extensive fieldwork and interviews with artists critics curators gallerists and auction house agents Larissa Buchholz examines the emergence of a world spanning art field whose logics have increasingly become defined in global terms Deftly blending comprehensive historical analyses with illuminating case studies The Global Rules of Art breaks new ground in its exploration of valuation and how cultural hierarchies take shape in a global context The book's innovative global field approach will appeal to scholars in the sociology of art cultural and economic sociology interdisciplinary global studies and anyone interested in the dynamics of global art and culture

The Writer in Petrograd and the House of Arts Martha Weitzel Hickey, 2009-06-16 Founded by Maksim Gorky and Kornei Chukovsky in 1919 and disbanded in 1922 the Petrograd House of Arts occupied a crucial moment in Russia's cultural history By chronicling the rise and fall of this literary landmark this book conveys in greater depth and detail than ever before a significant but little studied period in Soviet literature Poised between Russian culture's past and her Soviet future between pre and post Revolutionary generations this once lavish private home on the Nevsky Prospekt housed as many as fifty six poets novelists critics and artists at one time during a period of great social and political turbulence And as such Hickey contends the House of Arts served as a crucible for a literature in transition Hickey shows how the House of Arts though virtually ignored by Soviet era cultural historians played a critical role in shaping the lively literature of the next decade a literature often straddling the border between fiction and non fiction Considering prose writers such as Yevgeny Zamyatin Olga Forsh the Serapion Brothers group Viktor Shklovsky Boris Eikhenbaum as well as poets including Alexander Blok Nikolay Gumilev Anna Radlova Osip Mandelstam and Vladislav Khodasevich she traces the comings and goings at the House

The Rise and Fall of American Art, 1940s-1980s Catherine Dossin,2016-03-03 In The Rise and Fall of American Art 1940s 1980s Catherine Dossin challenges the now mythic perception of New York as the undisputed center of the art world between the end of World War II and the fall of the Berlin Wall a position of power that brought the city prestige money and historical recognition Dossin reconstructs the concrete factors that led to the shift of international attention from Paris to New York in the 1950s and documents how peripheries such as Italy Belgium and West Germany exerted a decisive influence on this displacement of power As the US economy sank into recession in the 1970s however American artists and dealers became increasingly dependent on the support of Western Europeans and cities like Cologne and Turin emerged as major commercial and artistic hubs a development that enabled European artists to return to the forefront of the international art scene in the 1980s Dossin analyses in detail these changing distributions of geopolitical and symbolic power in the Western art worlds a story that spans two continents forty years and hundreds of actors Her transnational and interdisciplinary study provides an original and welcome supplement to more traditional formal and national readings of the period
