Change Tsietse Mmutle, Tshepang Bright Molale, Olanrewaju Olugbenga Akinola, Okebogeng Selebi, 2023-12-13 This book is the first of its kind within the African region to combine scholarly perspectives from the fields of Strategic Communication Management and Communication for Development and Social Change It draws insights from scholars across the African continent by unravelling the complementary nature of scholarship between the two fields through the lens of prevailing governance and sustainability challenges facing African countries today This edited volume covers issues that have adversely affected the achievement of goals related to humanitarian upliftment development and social change for all African nations. Consequently, citizen participation, which lies at the heart of these challenges when considering the question of sustainable governance and policy development for social change in an African context, is addressed. To this end, a reflection is also made on various case studies that exist where local citizens do not inform sustainable development programmes while the promotion of bottom-up development and social change is largely replaced by top-down instrumental action approaches and hemispheric communication instead of strategic communication. Themes explored include Communication for social change, bottom-up development and social movements in the local government sphere, Strategic communication in governance planning and policy reforms, The role of multi-stakeholder partnerships in achieving development of objectives geared towards good governance in Africa, Public participation, protests and resistance from below, Public sector health communications and development, Media relations, accountability and contested development narratives with the Fourth Estate, Social media and eParticipation in government development programs. Development Communication Mr. Rohit Manglik, 2023-11-23. Use of media and communication strategies to promote social and economic development. Strategic Participatory Communication and Development Anne Gregory, Gregoria Arum Yudarwati, 2024-11-15. There has been a recent shift in the nature of public engagement from a culture of paternalism and control towards a public-centred approach involving collaboration and co-creation. This book draws on public relations and development communication insights to build a new community engagement model for public sector organisations who wish to engage with rural communities in developing countries. This theoretical model also offers a practical framework for Government in particular to engage with and empower rural communities as they adopt and exploit infrastructure developments. The outcome is mutual benefit. By examining in detail how Government communicates with rural communities on renewable energy infrastructure projects in Indonesia and underpinned by empirical research with those communities, this new participatory framework has been developed. It envisages progressive empowerment of rural communities as Government encourages active engagement on the installation and exploitation of renewable energy. This entails encouraging communities to determine for themselves their uses of sustainable energy sources and to take ownership of a co-determined future. In so doing, the Government itself is more likely to achieve its own renewable energy commitments. Research-based and combining theory with practice, this thought-provoking book will be welcomed by strategic communication and public relations scholars and practitioners alike.

Indigenous Language for Development Communication in the Global South Tshepang Bright Molale, Abiodun Salawu, Mohammad Sahid Ullah, Enrique Uribe-Jongbloed, 2022-11-23. Indigenous Language for Development Communication in the Global South brings together voices from the margins in underrepresented regions of the Global South within the context of scholarship focusing on indigenous languages and development communication. Contributors present cases as a starting point for further research and discussions about indigenous language and development communication in Latin America Africa and Asia Scholars of communication sociology linguistics and development studies will find this book of particular interest Communication for Another Development Wendy Quarry,Ricardo Ramirez,2013-07-04 This lively book argues that in the development process communication is everything The authors world experts in this field as teachers practitioners and theorists argue that Communication for Development is a creative and innovative way of thinking that can permeate the overall approach to any development initiative They illustrate their argument with vivid case studies and tools for the reader drawing on the stories of individual project leaders who have championed development for communication and using a range of situations to show the different possibilities in various contexts Free from jargon and keeping a close look at how development is actually being implemented at ground level this book is an important contribution to development studies not just for students but also for development practitioners and policy makers Safer Homes, Stronger Communities Abhas K.
