 Robertson, Jennifer Westerman, 2015-02-25 This collection of essays examines the relationship between environmental injustice and the exploitation of working class people Twelve scholars from the fields of environmental humanities and the humanistic social sciences explore connections between the current and unprecedented rise of environmental degradation economic inequality and widespread social injustice in the United States and Canada The authors challenge prevailing cultural narratives that separate ecological and human health from the impacts of modern industrial capitalism Essay themes range from how human survival is linked to nature to how the use and abuse of nature benefit the wealthy elite at the expense of working class people and the working poor as well as how climate change will affect cultures deeply rooted in the land Ultimately Working on Earth calls for a working class ecology as an integral part of achieving just and sustainable

 K. Chin, 2003-03-01 Wang Gungwu is one of the most influential historians of his generation Initially renowned for his pioneering work on the structure of power in early imperial China he is more widely known for expanding the horizons of Chinese history to include the histories of the Chinese and their descendents outside China It is probably no coincidence Philip Kuhn observes that the most comprehensive historian of the Overseas Chinese is the historian most firmly grounded in the history of China itself This book is a celebration of the life work and impact of Professor Wang Gungwu over the past four decades It commemorates his contribution to the study of Chinese history and the abiding influence he has exercised over later generations of historians particularly in the Asia Pacific region The book begins with an historiographical survey by Philip Kuhn Francis Lee Higginson Professor of History at Harvard University of Wang Gungwu's enduring contribution to scholarship It concludes with an engaging oral history of Professor Wang's life career and research trajectory The intervening chapters explore many of the fields in which Wang Gungwu's influence has been felt over the years including questions of political authority national identity commercial life and the history of the diaspora from imperial times to the present day Each of these chapters is authored by a former student of Professor Wang now working and teaching in Hong Kong Southeast Asia Australasia Taiwan and Canada

Multiculturalism and Immigration in Canada Elspeth Cameron, 2004

Multiculturalism in Canada offers a solid introduction to the history and development of the ideology of multiculturalism in Canada This ideology which has become the primary designator of Canadian society began in the early 1970s when vocal elements in the population who were neither English nor French strongly responded to the investigations of the Committee on Bilingualism and Biculturalism Given Canada's early racist tendencies the establishment of multiculturalism was a remarkable shift in public thinking Many issues associated with immigration have arisen in the public debates around multiculturalism Some people are convinced that it is a pernicious ideology that enforces the ghettoisation of those different from the mainstream Others see dangers in the way some aspects of multiculturalism are merely tokens of an all inclusive society Still others contend that the voices of ethnicities aside from those of the two charter groups English and French are scarcely heard and that worse those marginalised voices are appropriated by mainstream writers On the whole however Canadians especially younger Canadians welcome a liberal outlook that is inclusive of a wide variety of ethnicities For them and for many immigrants Canada is a society that is multiple and layered one rich in meaning They tend to see Canada as a microcosm of the larger world one that presents a useful model of tolerance for the world at large Increasingly marginalised new Canadians are excelling in the arts communities telling all Canadians what various aspects of the culture shock of transplantation feels like This book includes a representative sample of their works

 Canada are at once everywhere you would be hard pressed to find a town without a Chinese restaurant and yet they are conspicuously absent in critical discussions of Chinese diasporic culture or even in popular writing about Chinese food In Eating Chinese Lily Cho examines Chinese restaurants as spaces that define for those both inside and outside the community what it means to be Chinese and what it means to be Chinese Canadian Despite restrictions on immigration and explicitly racist legislation at national and provincial levels Chinese immigrants have long dominated the restaurant industry in Canada While isolated by racism Chinese communities in Canada were still strongly connected to their non Chinese neighbours through the food that they prepared and served Cho looks at this surprisingly ubiquitous feature of small town Canada

Antonio José Miralles Pérez, 2011-08-08 The first part of this book deals with Britain's imperial age, its militants and its critics. The selection of works generates a large field of debate explored using traditional or innovative approaches. The 19th century is presented as a time for writers J E Aylmer, E Marryat, Norris, G A Henty, Conan Doyle, who tell stories of Europeans venturing forth into uncivilised regions of the world where they meet other races. But writers of a different outlook are also considered. Before the twilight of Empire, women were born in England Virginia Woolf and in Ireland Elizabeth Bowen, who would use the ductile means of literature to narrate journeys into the female self instead of masculine tales set in distant lands. The imperial experience is a subject of concern and reflection with special interest when authored by natives of former colonies such as Michael Ondaatje's Hindu Sirk hero in The English Patient and the Nigerian girls in some of Patience Agbabi's poems. The idea of travelling into or out of the culture to which one apparently belongs and the contradictory feelings such an experience causes pervades the writer's mind and the ensuing narrative. The second part can be regarded as a North American miscellany mostly devoted to the African culture although also dealing with European heritage. In order to recognise Asian and South American influences as well, authors such as Fred Wah, Ariel Dorfman and Julia Alvarez have been included. Black literature is represented by two 19th century writers Mary Ann Shadd and Martin R Delany who remind us of the fight against slavery and segregation and the path to equality. Various 20th century writers Toni Morrison, Ernest Gaines, Harryette Mullen, August Wilson address the African Americans' quest for identity presented by some as a journey southwards away from the place of birth or an unsatisfactory life and in search of self knowledge in the land of their forefathers. These journeys provide materials for different genres and tones enabling readers to examine the aspirations and fears of a community whose contribution to the history and literature of America has stimulated continuous study. The two parts of the book are connected by the underlying discussion of essential conflicts that have occupied travellers traversing imperial spaces or experiencing foreign lands as well as travellers who instead of exotic adventures or romantic sojourns want to settle in a new country, be accepted by a nation their ancestors did not know or exercise rights they were denied on their native soil.

Asian Canadian Writing Beyond Autoethnography Christl Verduyn, 2008-08-14

Asian Canadian Writing Beyond Autoethnography explores some of the latest developments in the literary and cultural practices of Canadians of Asian heritage. While earlier work by ethnic multicultural or minority writers in Canada was often concerned with immigration, the moment of arrival, issues of assimilation and conflicts between generations, literary and cultural production in the new millennium no longer focuses solely on the conflict between the Old World and the New or the clashes between culture of origin and adopted culture. No longer are minority authors identifying simply with their ethnic or racial cultural background in opposition to dominant culture. The essays in this collection explore ways in which Asian Canadian authors and artists have gone beyond what Françoise Lionnet calls autoethnography or ethnographic autobiography. They demonstrate the ways representations of race and ethnicity, particularly in works by Asian Canadians in the last decade, have changed.

Immigration and Integration in North America Waldemar Zacharasiewicz, Fritz Peter Kirsch, 2014 English summary The volume comprises nine essays by prominent Canadianists from Austria Germany and Canada who investigate in comparative fashion the problems of emigration immigration to and integration in North America and some European countries especially Austria and France They inquire how this challenge has been met in Canada since the official adoption of multiculturalism and reflect on the possibility of Canada serving as a model for Europe While contemporary novels by immigrants to Canada provide evidence of successful integration ethnic autobiographies remind us of the existence of problems and prejudices in former times The tensions experienced in the course of a transcultural transfer are shown to be a potential source of inspiration with authors of Caribbean background providing fruitful examples The waves of immigration from Austria are also described as is the specific approach to the challenge of immigration in the province of Quebec through the adoption of the concept of interculturalism Both the problems linked to immigration in France and the issue of the millions of undocumented immigrants from Latin America in the USA are considered German description Der deutsch und englischsprachige Band enthält neun Essays von bekannten KanadistInnen aus Österreich Deutschland und Kanada die sich mit Immigration nach und Integration in Nordamerika beschäftigen Wie wird dieses aktuelle Problem in Kanada bewältigt Konnte das offiziell multikulturelle Kanada für Länder wie Österreich und Frankreich ein Muster sein Neben der gelungenen Integration die sich in Romanen von selbst nach Kanada eingewanderten ErzählerInnen spiegelt belegen ethnische Autobiographien die früher auch in Kanada häufigen Probleme Das Spannungsverhältnis beim transkulturellen Übergang erscheint als mögliche Inspirationsquelle wobei Schriftsteller aus der Karibik ergiebige Untersuchungsobjekte sind Die Einwanderung aus Österreich kommt ebenso zur Sprache wie die spezifische Auseinandersetzung mit der Immigration in Quebec wo das Konzept des Interkulturalismus dominiert sowie das Schicksal von Millionen illegaler Einwanderer in den USA

Reading Chinese Transnationalisms Maria N. Ng, Philip Holden, 2006-07-01 Reading Chinese Transnationalisms responds to the growing interest in transnational cultural studies by examining Chinese transnationalism from a variety of perspectives In interrogating social practices and literary and filmic texts which frequently cross national borders in imagining Chineseness the contributors to this volume also challenge received notions of Chinese transnationalism opening up new perspectives on the topic The structure of the book is clearly subdivided into sections on society literature and films for quick reference and each essay is written in accessible language without sacrificing intellectual rigor and critical relevance The international list of contributors and the wide ranging subjects they address make Reading Chinese Transnationalisms a unique work in its field This volume will appeal to all with an interest in Chinese transnationalism and in particular those who come from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds in the humanities and social science
