The Electrical Engineering Handbook, Second Edition Richard C. Dorf, 1997-09-26 In 1993 the first edition of The Electrical Engineering Handbook set a new standard for breadth and depth of coverage in an engineering reference work Now this classic has been substantially revised and updated to include the latest information on all the important topics in electrical engineering today Every electrical engineer should have an opportunity to expand his expertise with this definitive guide In a single volume this handbook provides a complete reference to answer the questions encountered by practicing engineers in industry government or academia This well organized book is divided into 12 major sections that encompass the entire field of electrical engineering including circuits signal processing electronics electromagnetics electrical effects and devices and energy and the emerging trends in the fields of communications digital devices computer engineering systems and biomedical engineering A compendium of physical chemical material and mathematical data completes this comprehensive resource Every major topic is thoroughly covered and every important concept is defined described and illustrated Conceptually challenging but carefully explained articles are equally valuable to the practicing engineer researchers and students A distinguished advisory board and contributors including many of the leading authors professors and researchers in the field today assist noted author and professor Richard Dorf in offering complete coverage of this rapidly expanding field No other single volume available today offers this combination of broad coverage and depth of exploration of the topics The Electrical Engineering Handbook will be an invaluable resource for electrical engineers for years to come

Multimedia Retrieval Henk M. Blanken, Arjen P. de Vries, Henk Ernst Blok, Ling Feng, 2007-08-13 Based on more than 10 years of teaching experience Blanken and his coeditors have assembled all the topics that should be covered in advanced undergraduate or graduate courses on multimedia retrieval and multimedia databases The single chapters of this textbook explain the general architecture of multimedia information retrieval systems and cover various metadata languages such as Dublin Core RDF or MPEG The authors emphasize high level features and show how these are used in mathematical models to support the retrieval process For each chapter there is detail on further reading and additional exercises and teaching material is available online

Seeing, second edition John P. Frisby, James V. Stone, 2010-04-02 An accessible yet rigorous and generously illustrated exploration of the computational approach to the study of biological vision Seeing has puzzled scientists and philosophers for centuries and it continues to do so This new edition of a classic text offers an accessible but rigorous introduction to the computational approach to understanding biological visual systems The authors of Seeing taking as their premise David Marr s statement that to understand vision by studying only neurons is like trying to understand bird flight by studying only feathers make use of Marr s three different levels of analysis in the study of vision the computational level the algorithmic level and the hardware implementation level Each chapter applies this approach to a different topic in vision by examining the problems the visual system encounters in interpreting retinal images and the constraints available to solve these problems the algorithms that can realize the solution and the implementation of these algorithms in neurons Seeing has been thoroughly updated for this edition and expanded to more than three times its original length It is designed to lead the reader through the problems of vision from the common but mistaken idea that seeing consists just of making pictures in the brain to the minutiae of how neurons collectively encode the visual features that underpin seeing Although it assumes no prior knowledge of the field some chapters present advanced material This makes it the only textbook suitable for both undergraduate and graduate students that takes a consistently computational perspective offering a firm conceptual basis for tackling the vast literature on vision It covers a wide range of topics including aftereffects the retina receptive fields object recognition brain maps Bayesian perception motion color and stereopsis MatLab code is available on the book s website which includes a simple demonstration of image convolution

The Physics of Diagnostic Imaging Second Edition David Dowsett, Patrick A Kenny, R Eugene Johnston, 2006-04-28 Over recent years there has been a vast expansion in the variety of imaging techniques available and developments in machine specifications continue apace If radiologists and radiographers are to obtain optimal image quality while minimising exposure times a good understanding of the fundamentals of the radiological science underpinning diagnostic imaging is essential The second edition of this well received textbook continues to cover all technical aspects of diagnostic radiology and remains an ideal companion during examination preparation and beyond The content includes a review of basic science aspects of imaging followed by a detailed explanation of radiological sciences conventional x ray image formation and other imaging techniques The enormous technical advances in computed tomography including multislice acquisition and 3D image reconstruction digital imaging in the form of image plate and direct radiography magnetic resonance imaging colour flow imaging in ultrasound and positron radiopharmaceuticals in nuclear medicine are all considered here A chapter devoted to computers in radiology considers advances in radiology information systems and computer applications in image storage and communication systems The text concludes with a series of general topics relating to diagnostic imaging The content has been revised and updated throughout to ensure it remains in line with the Fellowship of the Royal College of Radiologists FRCR examination while European and American perspectives on technology guidelines and regulations ensure international relevance
