the science of psychology relevant spark their interest and excite their imaginations Life Span Perspectives of Suicide A.A. Leenaars, 2013-06-29 In recent years a great deal of interest has been focused on suicide in the elderly and in the young. However in line with modern trends in psychology sociology psychiatry anthropology and other human health fields interest has now shifted to suicide across the life span from childhood through adulthood to old age. This book has been conceptualized within this developing tradition. There are various ways in which life's timelines can be conceptualized. Developmental theory we believe should be open ended. This has widened and will continue to widen our understanding of many complicated human acts including suicide. Though suicide is in many ways the same across the entire life span understanding the time lines in the suicidal process is imperative. To do so however is we believe challenging. In this volume we attempt to engage in the process of understanding suicide from a developmental perspective. To do this we have been fortunate to obtain the cooperation of a highly competent group of contributors. One interesting footnote to our list of authorities is that they represent suicidologists from across the life span a few who are at the beginning of their careers a large number in their middle years and a few who are in the Indian summer of their professional lives. Knowledge Grid, The: Toward Cyber-physical Society (2nd Edition) Hai Zhuge, 2012-09-11 The Knowledge Grid is an intelligent and sustainable interaction environment that consists of autonomous individuals self organized semantic communities adaptive networking mechanisms evolving semantic link networks keeping meaningful connection between individuals flows for dynamic resource sharing and mechanisms supporting effective resource management and providing appropriate knowledge services for learning innovation teamwork problem solving and decision making.
