Narrating Practice with Children and Adolescents Mery F. Diaz, Benjamin Shepard, 2019-09-24 In Narrating Practice with Children and Adolescents social workers sociologists researchers and helping professionals share engaging and evocative stories of practice that aim to center the young client's story. Drawing on work with a variety of disadvantaged populations in New York City and around the world, they seek to raise awareness of the diversity of the individual experiences of youth. They make use of a variety of narrative approaches to offer new perspectives on a range of critical health care, mental health, and social issues that shape the lives of children and adolescents. The book considers the narratives we tell about the lives and experiences of children and adolescents and proposes counternarratives that challenge dominant ideas about childhood. Contributors examine the environments and structures that shape the lives of children and youth from an ecological lens. From their stories emerge questions about how those working with young clients might respond to a changing landscape. How do we define and construct childhood? How do poverty and inequality impact children's health and welfare? How is childhood lived at the intersection of race, class, and gender? How can practitioners engage children and adolescents through culturally responsive and democratic processes? Offering new frameworks for reflecting on social work practice, the essays in Narrating Practice with Children and Adolescents also serve as a vehicle for exploration of children's agency and voice.

It's Too Much Michelle R. Tatem, 2013-06-06 The story involves a young lady named Sugar whose single parent she's struggling with her sexuality and doesn't know if she wants to be with a man or a woman. Sugar is introduced to her brother's girlfriend Blair. Blair pushes up on Sugar. Blair has issues of her own dealing with an abusive boyfriend and more problems. At the end of the day it's just too much for both of them.

Internet, Telematics, and Health Pan American Health Organization, 1997 Perspectives and Contributions of Nursing to the Promotion of Universal Health highlights more than 40 projects, activities, stories, and case studies received from the countries of the Region, illustrating the role of nurses and midwives in advancing toward universal health. It also details these essential health workers' rich contribution to health systems, universities, prisons, communities, governments, and schools in all the countries of the Americas. An epilogue includes a powerful story of two American nurses on the front lines of the COVID-19 epidemic. It is further proof of the vital role these health workers have in advancing health for all.

Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1969 The Mexican Filmography, 1916 through 2001 David E. Wilt, 2024-10-17 Mexican cinema has largely been overlooked by international film scholars because of a lack of English language information and the fact that Spanish language information was difficult to find and often out of date. This comprehensive filmography helps fill the need. Arranged by year of release and then by title, the filmography contains entries that include basic information, film and translated title, production company, genre, director, cast, a plot summary, and additional information about the film. Inclusion criteria: a film must be a Mexican production or co-production, feature length, one hour or more, silent films excepted. Fictional documentaries and compilation films are not included unless the topic relates to Mexican cinema. Some docudramas and films with recreated or staged scenes are included and theatrically released or intended for theatrical release.
