Blacksmiths of Ilamba Crislayne Alfagali, 2023-05-08 This study analyzes the establishment of an iron foundry in the interior 18th century of Angola It was a fruit of the Portuguese

Enlightenment which encouraged investment in manufacturing particularly of iron a metal indispensable for military and technological purposes However the plans faced the resistance of African blacksmiths and founders who refused to learn foreign techniques and work processes By emphasizing Central African agency the book highlights the successful strategies of historical actors who scholars have largely ignored Based upon a wide variety of sources from Brazilian Portuguese and Angolan archives the book reconstructs how Africans were taken to work at the foundry and the important role they played in developing the form of production employed there By emphasizing continuities with African technology and the quality of the iron produced it counters interpretations of the project as an example of the failure of the Portuguese Enlightenment The analysis demonstrates the circulation of knowledge about iron production thus revitalizing debates that have posited knowledge transmission as unidirectional It also highlights the relationship between local political leaders and the colonial government in addition to elucidating the processes by which workers were organized

Calunga and the Legacy of an African Language in Brazil Steven Byrd, 2012-11-15 Although millions of slaves were forcibly transported from Africa to Brazil the languages the slaves brought with them remain little known Most studies have focused on African contributions to Brazilian Portuguese rather than on the African languages themselves This book is unusual in focusing on an African descended language The author describes and analyzes the Afro Brazilian speech community of Calunga in Minas Gerais Linguistically descended from West African Bantu Calunga is an endangered Afro Brazilian language spoken by a few hundred older Afro Brazilian men who use it only for specific secret communications Unlike most creole languages which are based largely on the vocabulary of the colonial language Calunga has a large proportion of African vocabulary items embedded in an essentially Portuguese grammar A hybrid language its formation can be seen as a form of cultural resistance Steven Byrd's study provides a comprehensive linguistic description of Calunga based on two years of interviews with speakers of the language He examines its history and historical context as well as its linguistic context its sociolinguistic profile and its lexical and grammatical outlines

The Trade in the Living Luiz Felipe de

Alencastro,2018-10-01 Macro level study of the South Atlantic throughout the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries demonstrating how Brazil s emergence was built on the longest and most intense slave trade of the modern era The seventeenth century missionary and diplomat Father Ant nio Vieira once observed that Brazil was nourished animated sustained served and conserved by the sad blood of the black and unfortunate souls imported from Angola In The Trade in the Living Luiz Felipe de Alencastro demonstrates how the African slave trade was an essential element in the South Atlantic and in the ongoing cohesion of Portuguese America while at the same time the concrete interests of Brazilian colonists dependent on Angolan slaves were often violently asserted in Africa to ensure men and commodities continued to move back and forth across the Atlantic In exposing this intricate and complementary relationship between two non European continents de Alencastro has fashioned a new and challenging examination of colonial Brazil one that moves beyond its relationship with Portugal to discover a darker hidden history Dicionário complementar António da Silva Maia,1994

Poisoned Relations Chelsea Berry,2024-09-17 Illuminates the competing understandings of poison and power in the Atlantic world By the time of the opening of the Atlantic world in the fifteenth century Europeans and Atlantic Africans had developed significantly different cultural idioms for and understandings of poison Europeans considered poison a gendered weapon of the weak while Africans viewed it as an abuse by the powerful Though distinct both idioms centered on fraught power relationships When translated to the slave societies of the Americas these understandings sometimes clashed in conflicting interpretations of alleged poisoning events In Poisoned Relations Chelsea Berry illuminates the competing understandings of poison and power in the Atlantic World Poison was connected to central concerns of life to the well being in this world for oneself and one s relatives to the morality and use of power and to the fraught relationships that bound people together The social and relational nature of ideas about poison meant that the power struggles that emerged in poison cases while unfolding in the extreme context of slavery were not solely between enslavers and the enslaved they also involved social conflict within enslaved communities Poisoned Relations examines more than five hundred investigations and trials in four colonial contexts British Virginia French Martinique Portuguese Bahia and the Dutch Guianas bringing a groundbreaking application of historical linguistics to bear on the study of the African diaspora in the Americas Illuminating competing understandings of poison and power in this way Berry opens new avenues of evidence through which to navigate the violence of colonial archival silences Angola Richard Black,1992 Current Trends in Slavery Studies in Brazil

Stephan Conermann,Mariana Dias Paes,Roberto Hofmeister Pich,Paulo Cruz Terra,2023-05-22 African slaves were brought into Brazil as early as 1530 with abolition in 1888 During those three centuries Brazil received 4 000 000 Africans over four times as many as any other American destination Comparatively speaking Brazil received 40% of the total number of Africans brought to the Americas while the US received approximately 10% Due to this huge influx of Africans today Brazil s African descended population is larger than the population of most African countries Therefore it is no surprise that Slavery Studies are one of the most consolidated fields in Brazilian historiography In the last decades a number of discussions have flourished on issues such as slave agency slavery and law slavery and capitalism slave families demography of slavery transatlantic slave trade abolition etc In addition to these more consolidated fields current research has focused on illegal enslavement global perspectives on slavery and the slave trade slavery and gender the engagement of different social groups in the abolitionist movement or Atlantic connections Taking into consideration these new trends of Brazilian slavery studies this volume of collected articles gives leading scholars the chance to present their research to a broader academic community Thus the interested reader get to know in more detail these current trends in Brazilian historiography on slavery
