

The Director-Actor Relationship

The core of any film is the interaction between director and actor. Actors are the means by which this vision is conveyed, and directors are the visionaries who set the general course of the movie. Respect for one another and open communication are essential to this interaction. Directors must clearly communicate their vision to performers in order to provide them the background knowledge and inspiration they require to give genuine performances. Actors, on the other hand, need to be flexible and creative in their interpretation of their characters, bringing depth and subtlety to the director's vision.

Richard Jones, 1986 The subject of this book is theatre directing in four internationally famous instances The four directors Konstantin Stanislavsky Bertolt Brecht Elia Kazan and Peter Brook all were monarchs of the profession in their time Without their work theatre in the twentieth century so often called the century of the director would have a radically different shape and meaning The four men are also among the dozen or so modern directors whose theatrical achievements have become culture phenomena In histories theories hagiographies and polemics these directors are conferred classic stature as are the four plays on which they worked Chekhov's The Seagull Brecht's Mother Courage and Her Children and Williams's A Streetcar Named Desire have long been recognized in the theatre and in the study as masterpieces They are anthologized quoted taught parodied read and produced constantly and globally The culturally conservative might question the presence of Marat/Sade in such august company but Peter Weiss's play stands every chance of figuring in Western repertoires classroom study and theatrical histories until well into the twenty first century In their quite different ways these are all classics of that Western drama which is part of our immediate heritage

The Director's Craft Katie Mitchell, 2008-08-18 Written by one of the UK's most respected working directors this book is a practical guide to directing in theatre and includes specific advice on every aspect of working with actors designers and the text Clint Eastwood John H. Foote, 2008-12-30 Now a two time Academy Award winner for best director twice winner of the Directors Guild of America Award for best director and recipient of countless other critics prizes and nominations in multiple capacities Clint Eastwood stands alongside Martin Scorsese and Steven Spielberg as one of the finest directors working in modern cinema Here John Foote examines the long impressive and unlikely film career of a man who fought against expectations to forge his own way and become one of this generation's finest filmmakers Each chapter examines a different film beginning with Play Misty for Me 1971 and High Plains Drifter 1973 and extending to his 21st century films Space Cowboys 2000 Blood Work 2002 Mystic River 2003 Million Dollar Baby 2004 Flags of Our Fathers 2006 Letters from Iwo Jima 2006 and Changeling 2008 This book is in the author's own words a study of how Eastwood managed to quietly get to this level and a celebration of his gifts as an artist Eastwood has evolved not only as a director but also as an actor a screenwriter a producer and a score composer to become one of the most revered figures in Hollywood Perhaps it is because he started out in Hollywood with such little influence on the final product that he now demonstrates such a strong desire to collaborate with others and provide help wherever he can In addition to casting off his reputation as a hack and accumulating two Oscar nominations for Best Actor over the past 15 years he has guided other actors to no less than three Academy Award wins The executives love him because he has made them money over the years occasionally even making one for them in exchange for financial backing on other projects Critics love him because of the care he takes in creating his films Audiences love him because he has never lost his sense of entertainment even as his artistry has matured
