The Routledge Companion to Media & Gender Cynthia Carter, Linda Steiner, Lisa McLaughlin, 2013-12-13 The Routledge Companion to Media and Gender offers a comprehensive examination of media and gender studies charting its histories investigating ongoing controversies and assessing future trends The 59 chapters in this volume written by leading researchers from around the world provide scholars and students with an engaging and authoritative survey of current thinking in media and gender research The Companion includes the following features With each chapter addressing a distinct concrete set of issues the volume includes research from around the world to engage readers in a broad array of global and transnational issues and intersectional perspectives Authors address a series of important questions that have consequences for current and future thinking in the field including postfeminism sexual violence masculinity media industries queer identities video games digital policy media activism sexualization docu-soaps teen drama cosmetic surgery media Islamophobia sport telenovelas news audiences pornography and social and mobile media A range of academic disciplines inform exploration of key issues around production and policymaking representation audience engagement and the place of gender in media studies The Routledge Companion to Media and Gender is an essential guide to the central ideas concepts and debates currently shaping media and gender research Depicting Canada's Children Loren Lerner, 2009-05-20 Depicting Canada's Children is a critical analysis of the visual representation of Canadian children from the seventeenth century to the present Recognizing the importance of methodological diversity these essays discuss understandings of children and childhood derived from depictions across a wide range of media and contexts But rather than simply examine images in formal settings the authors take into account the components of the images and the role of image making in everyday life The contributors provide a close study of the evolution of the figure of the child and shed light on the defining role children have played in the history of Canada and our assumptions about them Rather than offer comprehensive historical coverage this collection is a catalyst for further study through case studies that endorse innovative scholarship This book will be of interest to scholars in art history Canadian history visual culture Canadian studies and the history of children

Targeted Transnationals Jenna Hennebry, Bessma Momani, 2013-04-01 Following 9 11 the securitization of state practices and policies has chipped away at the citizenship and personal rights of all Canadians particularly those of Arab descent This book argues that in a securitized global context and through racialized immigration and security policies Arab Canadians have become targeted transnationals Negative media representations have further legitimized their homogenization and racialization With an eye to the implications for human rights multiculturalism and integration the contributors to this book draw on qualitative interviews policy and media analysis to examine state practices towards and media representations of Arab Canadians They also present voices that counter the dominant discourse and trace forms of community resistance to the racialization of Arab Canadians Targeted Transnationals concludes with reflections on the challenges to integration and the relevance of multiculturalism in the context of globalization and transnationalism

Journalism and Political Exclusion Debra M. Clarke, 2014-08-30 The constraints of news production and the consequent limitations of news result directly in dissatisfaction throughout news audiences News stories are frequently found to be inadequately informative to the extent that journalism is more inclined to generate political disenchantment rather than prompt its audiences to pursue a fully engaged level of political participation in their societies Journalism and Political Exclusion provides a multi method integrated analysis of news production and news audiences including a long term study of community activists in a central Canadian city During the seven year fieldwork period different groups of research participants completed questionnaires wrote news diaries and were interviewed in their homes while viewing network television newscasts Clarke shows that frustrations with the informational limitations of television and other news media are accelerated among women and the working class often lack opportunities to access alternative information sources The critical contribution of journalism to the production and reproduction of ideas about social reality is frequently acknowledged and assumed yet rarely investigated and demonstrated Through an examination of the everyday realities of both news production and news reception Journalism and Political Exclusion also shows how the current crises of professional journalism heighten the level of political exclusion experienced by various social groups

Indigenous Screen Cultures in Canada Sigurjon Baldur Hafsteinsson, Marian Bredin, 2010-09-01 Indigenous media challenges the power of the state erodes communication monopolies and illuminates government threats to Indigenous cultural social economic and political sovereignty Its effectiveness in these areas however is hampered by government control of broadcast frequencies licensing and legal limitations over content and ownership Indigenous Screen Cultures in Canada explores key questions surrounding the power and suppression of Indigenous narrative and representation in contemporary Indigenous media Focussing primarily on the Aboriginal Peoples Television Network the authors also examine Indigenous language broadcasting in radio television and film Aboriginal journalism practices audience creation within and beyond Indigenous communities the roles of program scheduling and content acquisition policies in the decolonization process the roles of digital video technologies and co production agreements in Indigenous filmmaking and the emergence of Aboriginal cyber communities

States of Race Sherene Razack, Sunera Thobani, Malinda Smith, 2010-07-01 What is a Canadian critical race feminism As the contributors to this book note the interventions of Canadian critical race feminists work to explicitly engage the Canadian state as a white settler society The collection examines Indigenous peoples within the Canadian settler state and Indigenous women within feminism the challenges posed by the settler state for women of colour and Indigenous women and the possibilities and limits of an anti colonial praxis Critical race feminism like critical race theory more broadly interrogates questions about race and gender through an emancipatory lens posing fundamental questions about the persistence if not magnification of race and the colour line in the twenty first century The writers of these articles whether exploring campus politics around issues of equity the media's circulation of ideas about a tolerant multicultural and feminist Canada security practices that confine people of colour to spaces of exception Indigenous women's navigation of both nationalism and feminism Western feminist responses to the War on Terror or the new forms of whiteness that persist in ideas about a post racial world or in transnational movements for social justice insist that we must study racialized power in all its gender and class dimensions The contributors are all members of Researchers and Academics of Colour for Equity Challenge for Change Thomas Waugh, Michael Brendan Baker, Ezra Winton, 2010-02-01 Pioneering participatory social change oriented media the program had a national and international impact on documentary film making yet this is the first comprehensive history and analysis of its work The volume's contributors study dozens of films produced by the program their themes aesthetics and politics and evaluate their legacy and the program's place in Canadian Québécois and world cinema An informative and nuanced look at a cinematic movement Challenge for Change reemphasizes not just the importance of the NFB and its programs but also the role documentaries can play in improving the world Audio-Visual Industries and Diversity Luis A. Albornoz, Ma. Trinidad Garcia Leiva, 2019-03-20 This book reflects critically on issues of diversity access and the expansion of digital technologies in audio visual industries particularly in terms of economics and policies It brings together specialists in cultural diversity and media industries presenting an international and interdisciplinary collection of essays that draw from different fields of studies notably Communication Economics Political Science and Law Among the topics discussed are the principle of diversity as a goal of cultural and communication policies the assessment of the UNESCO Convention on Cultural Diversity free trade agreements and the conception of cultural goods and services they advance the challenges faced by the production circulation and consumption of cultural content through the Internet the role algorithms play in the organization and functioning of online platforms Netflix and the hegemony of global media The approach is a critical understanding of audio visual diversity that aims to transcend specific issues like media ownership ideas portrayed or modes of consumption as such to focus on a more balanced distribution of communicative power This volume is an essential read for scholars and researchers in Communication Studies Economy of Culture International Relations and International Law as well as policy makers journalists specialized in media and culture and managers of public and private institutions involved in the development of cultural and communication policies Postgraduate students will find it a key reference point Where Are the Voices Coming From?, 2021-10-18 This collection of essays focuses on Canadian history and its legacies as represented in novels and films in English and French produced in Canada mainly in the 1980s and 1990s The approach is both cross cultural and interdisciplinary aiming at articulating Canadian differences through a comparison of anglophone and francophone cultures illustrated by works treating some of the different groups which make up Canadian society English Canadian Québécois Acadian Native and ethnic minorities The emphasis is on the problematic representation of Canadianness which is closely bound up with constructions of history and its legacies dispossession criminality nomadism

Gothicism the Maritime The English French language difference is emblematic of Canadian difference the two part arrangement with one section on Literature and the other on Film sets up the pattern of relationships between the two forms of cultural representation that these essays explore Essays in the Literature section are on single texts by such writers as Margaret Atwood Tomson Highway Ann Marie MacDonald Anne Michaels and Alice Munro Gabrielle Roy Anne H bert Antonine Maillet Bernard Assiniwi and R gine Robin The Film section with its mirror structure both supplements and amplifies this dialogue extending notions of Canadianness with its emphasis on voices from Quebec and Acadia traditionally othered in Canadian history Filmmakers treated include Phillip Borsos Atom Egoyan Ted Kotcheff Mort Ransen and Vincent Ward Denys Arcand Gilles Carle Alanis Obomsawin L a Pool and Jacques Savoie

The Mass Media in Canada Mary Vipond, 2011-03-25 Canada has one of the most advanced mass media systems in the world which allows Canadians more access to American culture via television the movies and the Internet than ever before At the same time governments support the production and distribution of Canadian content to Canadians In this fully updated fourth edition Mary Vipond traces the rise of the traditional mass media in Canada explores the new media and discusses the influence of old mass media on new media Clearly written and persuasively argued The Mass Media in Canada demonstrates the huge challenges government face today in trying to influence media content and considers the troubling questions of who decides what we read watch and hear

The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Cinema Janine Marchessault, Will Straw, 2019-03-20 The chapters in The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Cinema present a rich diverse overview of Canadian cinema Responding to the latest developments in Canadian film studies this volume takes into account the variety of artistic voices media technologies and places which have marked cinema in Canada throughout its history Drawing on a range of established and emerging scholars from a range of disciplines this volume will be useful to teachers scholars and to a general readership interested in cinema in Canada Moving beyond the director focused approach of much previous scholarship this book is concerned with communities institutions and audiences for Canadian cinema at both national and international levels The choice of subjects covered ranges from popular genre cinema to the most experimental of artistic interventions Canadian cinema is seen in its interaction with other forms of art making and media production in Canada and at the international level Particular attention has been paid to the work of Indigenous filmmakers members of diasporic communities and feminist and LGBTQ artists The result is a book attentive to the complex social and institutional contexts in which Canadian cinema is made and consumed

Digital Game Culture in Korea Florence M. Chee, 2023-04-24 Digital Game Culture in Korea The Social at Play is a critical ethnographic investigation of media discourses surrounding online game addiction and the sociocultural roles fulfilled by games in everyday life Florence M Chee argues that the casting of online games as singularly problematic or addictive largely ignores the socially generative and at times pivotally important means of connection among games players and the communities they foster Through focusing on Korea s sociohistorical and technocultural context this work celebrates and recognizes the foundational role of Korean game culture in shaping global games and play Scholars of game studies communication and technoculture will find this book of particular interest Host Cities and the Olympics Harry H. Hiller, 2014 Rather than interpreting the Olympics as primarily a sporting event of international or national significance this book understands the Games as a civic project for the host city that serves as a catalyst for a variety of urban interests over a period of many years from the bidding phase through the event itself Traditional Olympic studies have tended to examine the Games from an outsider's perspective or as something experienced through the print media or television In contrast the focus presented here is on the dynamics within the host city understood as a community of interacting individuals who encounter the Games in a variety of ways through support opposition or even indifference but who have a profound influence on the outcome of the Games as actors and players in the Olympics as a drama Adopting a symbolic interactionist approach the book offers a new interpretive model through which to understand the Olympic Games by exploring the relationship between the Games and residents of the host city Key analytical concepts such as framing dramaturgy the public realm and the symbolic field are introduced and illustrated through empirical research from the Vancouver 2010 Winter Games and it is shown how the social media and shifts in public opinion reflected interaction effects within the city By filling a clear lacuna in the Olympic Studies canon this book is important reading for anybody with an interest in the sociology of sport urban studies event studies or urban sociology

Digital Storytelling in Indigenous Education Yvonne Poitras Pratt, 2019-07-25 Exploring the relationship between the role of education and Indigenous survival Digital Storytelling in Indigenous Education is an ethnographic exploration of how digital storytelling can be part of a broader project of decolonization of individuals their families and communities By recounting how a remote Indigenous M'tis community were able to collectively imagine plan and produce numerous unique digital stories representing counter narratives to the dominant version of Canadian history Poitras Pratt provides frameworks approaches and strategies for the use of digital media and arts for the purpose of cultural memory community empowerment and mobilization The volume provides a valuable example of how a community based educational project can create and restore intergenerational exchanges through modern media and covers topics such as Introducing the M'tis and their community decolonizing education through a M'tis approach to research the ethnographic journey and translating the work of decolonizing to education Digital Storytelling in Indigenous Education is the perfect resource for researchers academics and postgraduate students in the fields of Indigenous education comparative education and technology education or those looking to explore the role of modern media in facilitating healing and decolonization in a marginalized community
