Collecting Across Cultures Daniela Bleichmar, Peter C. Mancall, 2011-03-17 In the early modern age more people traveled farther than at any earlier time in human history Many returned home with stories of distant lands and at least some of the objects they collected during their journeys And those who did not travel eagerly acquired wondrous materials that arrived from faraway places Objects traveled various routes personal imperial missionary or trade and moved not only across space but also across cultures Histories of the early modern global culture of collecting have focused for the most part on European Wunderkammern or cabinets of curiosities But the passion for acquiring unfamiliar items rippled across many lands The court in Java marveled at collected and displayed myriad goods brought through its halls African princes traded captured members of other African groups so they could get the newest kinds of cloth produced in Europe Native Americans sought colored glass beads made in Europe often trading them to other indigenous groups Items changed hands and crossed cultural boundaries frequently often gaining new and valuable meanings in the process An object that might have seemed mundane in some cultures could become a target of veneration in another The fourteen essays in Collecting Across Cultures represent work by an international group of historians art historians and historians of science Each author explores a specific aspect of the cross cultural history of collecting and display from the dawn of the sixteenth century to the early decades of the nineteenth century As the essays attest an examination of early modern collecting in cross cultural contexts sheds light on the creative and complicated ways in which objects in collections served to create knowledge some factual some fictional about distant peoples in an increasingly transnational world Collecting Asian Art Markéta Hánová,Yuka Kadoi,Simone Wille,2024-02-29 Rather than centering on the well known collections in Western European and North American museums Collecting Asian Art turns to museum collections of Asian art in Central Europe which emerged from the late 19th century onwards Highlighting the dimensions of Central European connectedness this volume explores how these collections evolved and changed under changing cultural and political conditions from the pre World War I to the post World War II periods With a primary focus on collections of East Asian South Asian and West Asian art in Vienna Prague Berlin Warsaw Krak w Budapest and Ljubljana it outlines the transregional connections and networks that gradually developed Collecting Asian Art locates Asian art across the twentieth century in Central Europe via discourse and ideology and discusses key collections and the way individual collectors built their networks It thus explores transregional connections that developed through collecting activities and strategies in the prewar interwar and postwar eras Contributors also examine the personal connections between a group of Indologists from postwar Prague and modernist Indian artists from the early 1950s to the 1980s and also discuss the systematic archiving of East Asian art collections in Slovenia A concluding conversation looks at colonisation and decolonisation from a broader perspective by approaching it through recent art historical discussions on the global dimensions of modernism By defining the region through its external relationships and its entanglements with regions across Asia rather than as a self contained unit the contributions in this volume outline how these transregional connections and networks evolved and changed over time thus highlighting their singularity in comparison to developments in Western Europe Based on recent research Collecting Asian Art reveals neglected sources while reinterpreting well known ones

Gathering Hopewell Christopher Carr,D. Troy Case,2005-07-25 Among the most socially and personally vocal archaeological remains on the North American continent are the massive and often complexly designed earthen architecture of Hopewellian peoples of two thousand years ago their elaborately embellished works of art made of glistening metals and stones from faraway places and their highly formalized mortuaries In this book twenty one researchers in interwoven efforts immerse themselves and the reader in this vibrant archaeological record in order to richly reconstruct the societies rituals and ritual interactions of Hopewellian peoples By finding the faces actions and motivations of Hopewellian peoples as individuals who constructed knowable social roles the authors explore in a personalized and locally contextualized manner the details of Hopewellian life leadership its sacred and secular power bases recruitment and formalization over time systems

The "Keros Hoard" Panagiōta I. Sōtērakopoulou, Peggy Sotirakopoulou, 2005 Keros is a small mountainous and now deserted island situated between Naxos Amorgos and Ios in the southeast Cyclades Keros became widely known after a series of extensive and clandestine excavations in the 1950s and early 1960s which concentrated on a particularly rich deposit of material at the site of Kavos situated at its barren western extremity These major lootings resulted in the illegal export from Greece of a large number of Early Cycladic objects mostly fragmentary marble figurines that flooded the international antiquities market under the general name the Keros Hoard The cache was said to have included at least 350 Cycladic objects and is now widely dispersed This study features a review of the archaeological investigations on Keros a discussion of the so called Keros Hoard an extensive account of the various aspects of Cycladic figurines and a catalogue of the objects identified as coming from the Hoard Also included are an analysis of the data derived from the Hoard the results of the study comparing the fragments in the Museum of Cycladic Art with those discovered at Kavos during official archaeological investigations an interpretation of the Hoard

Bronze and Iron Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), Oscar White Muscarella, 1988 This volume catalogues more than six hundred bronze and iron objects in the Department of Ancient Near Eastern Art of The Metropolitan Museum of Art Each is illustrated and discussed in terms of its formal and stylistic aspects cultural background function and chronology Bibliographic citations present comparative material relevant to each object Book jacket Corpus of Mesopotamian Anti-Witchcraft Rituals Tzvi Abusch, Daniel Schwemer, 2016-04-18 Among the most important sources for understanding the cultures and systems of thought of ancient Mesopotamia is a large body of magical and medical texts written in the Sumerian and Akkadian languages An especially significant branch of this literature centres upon witchcraft Mesopotamian anti witchcraft rituals and incantations attribute ill health and misfortune to the magic machinations of witches and prescribe ceremonies devices and treatments for dispelling witchcraft destroying the witch and protecting and curing the patient The Corpus of Mesopotamian Anti Witchcraft Rituals aims to present a reconstruction of this body of texts it provides critical editions of the relevant rituals and prescriptions based on the study of the cuneiform tablets and fragments recovered from the libraries of ancient Mesopotamia Now that we have the second volume we the more admire the thoughtful organisation of the entire project the strict methods followed and the insightful observations and decisions made Martin Stol in Bibliotheca Orientalis LXXIV n 3 4 mei augustus 2017 Journal officiel de la République Française Frankreich, 1881 Apotropaia and Phylacteria: Confronting Evil in Ancient Greece Maria G. Spathi, Maria Chidioglou, Jenny Wallensten, 2024-05-02 The belief in the existence of evil forces was part of ancient everyday life and a phenomenon deeply embedded in popular thought of the Greek world Stemming from a conference held in Athens in June 2021 this volume addresses the apotropaia and phylacteria from different perspectives via literary sources archaeological material and iconography Polity and Ecology in Formative Period Coastal Oaxaca Arthur A. Joyce, 2013-02-15 Encapsulating two decades of research Polity and Ecology in Formative Period Coastal Oaxaca is the first major treatment of the lower Rio Verde region of Oaxaca investigating its social political and ecological history Tracing Formative period developments from the earliest known evidence of human presence to the collapse of Rio Viejo the region's first centralized polity the volume synthesizes the archaeological and paleoecological evidence from the valley This period saw the earliest agricultural settlements in the region as well as the origins of sedentism and social complexity and witnessed major changes in floodplain and coastal environments that expanded the productivity of subsistence resources The book addresses theoretically significant questions of broad relevance such as the origins and spread of agriculture the social negotiation of complex political formations the effects of long distance trade and interaction the macroregional effects of landscape change and prehispanic ideology and political power Focusing on questions of interregional interaction environmental change and political centralization Polity and Ecology in Formative Period Coastal Oaxaca provides a comprehensive understanding of the Formative period archaeology of this important and long neglected region of Oaxaca
