Reported Speech in Chinese and English Newspapers XIN Bin, GAO Xiaoli, 2021-05-25 Reported speech is a universal form across human languages However previous studies have tended to be limited because they mostly emphasize on the form and authenticity of reported speech while its discourse and pragmatic functions have largely been ignored. Meanwhile the studies mainly focus on English with a comparative perspective with other languages largely missing. Acknowledging these limitations this book analyzes the textual and pragmatic functions of reported speech in Chinese and English. The authors build a corpus comprising of twelve Chinese and English newspapers including China Daily and The New York Times. They examine the classification and distribution of reported speech the form and function in different news genres and contexts and the socio pragmatic interpretation of reported speech in news and other issues. This title can enrich comparative linguistic research verify the feasibility of combining critical linguistics and corpus technology and help improve the production and understanding of news reports. Students and scholars of critical discourse analysis comparative linguistics corpus linguistics as well as communication studies will find this to be an essential guide.

The Handbook of Narrative Analysis Anna De Fina, Alexandra Georgakopoulou, 2019-02-12. Featuring contributions from leading scholars in the field. The Handbook of Narrative Analysis is the first comprehensive collection of sociolinguistic scholarship on narrative analysis to be published. Organized thematically to provide an accessible guide for how to engage with narrative without prescribing a rigid analytic framework. Represents established modes of narrative analysis juxtaposed with innovative new methods for conducting narrative research. Includes coverage of the latest advances in narrative analysis from work on social media to small stories research. Introduces and exemplifies a practice based approach to narrative analysis that separates narrative from text so as to broaden the field beyond the printed page.

Narrative in English Conversation Christoph Rühlemann, 2014-01-09. Storytelling is a fundamental mode of everyday interaction. This book is based upon the Narrative Corpus NC a specialized corpus of naturally occurring narratives and provides new paths for its study. Christoph Rühlemann uses the NC's narrative specific annotation and XPath and XQuery query languages that allow the retrieval of complex data structures to facilitate large scale quantitative investigations into how narrators and recipients collaborate in storytelling. Empirical analyses are validated using R a programming language and environment for statistical computing and graphics. Using this unique data and methodological base Rühlemann reveals new insights including the discovery of turntaking patterns specific to narrative the first investigation of textual colligation in spoken data the unearthing of how speech reports as discourse units form striking patterns at utterance level and the identification of the story climax as the sequential context in which recipient dialogue is preferentially positioned.

The Narrative Construction of Identities in Critical Education A. Archakis, V. Tsakona, 2012-11-13. Based on approaches from discourse analysis and sociolinguistics this study proposes an analytical model focusing on the linguistic and discursive means narrators use to construct a variety of identities in everyday stories. This model is further exploited in language teaching to cultivate students cultural sensitivity and critical literacy.

Lexical Issues in L2 Writing Katalin Doró, Päivi Pietilä, Renata Pípalová, 2015-09-04. Research into lexical issues has been one of the most rapidly growing areas of second language acquisition studies in recent years and understandably so the importance of vocabulary can hardly be denied Words are the key to every instance of communication both spoken and written This volume concentrates on vocabulary in written language mostly in academic settings The writers of the chapters come from different countries and universities and naturally represent their own academic backgrounds though they all share a common interest in investigating the characteristics of L2 lexis as it manifests itself in the written production of students at various stages of their language learning careers The target language L2 in the studies reported in the volume is English except in one study on the lexical competence of multilingual learners of French The subjects native languages include Czech Danish Finnish Hungarian and Swedish thus representing several different language families Each chapter constitutes an independent unit but together the studies reported in them give the reader a varied and extensive picture of lexical issues in L2 writing The authors approach their topics from different perspectives and use diverse research methods adding to the multifaceted nature of the volume The book will be of interest to researchers educators and students of second language acquisition and applied linguistics

Strategies of Persuasion in Herodotus' Histories and Genesis-Kings Eva Tyrell, 2020-04-14 In Strategies of Persuasion in Herodotus Histories and Genesis Kings Eva Tyrell comparatively analyzes narrative means in two monumental ancient texts about the past Combining a narratological approach with insights of modern historical theory and biblical scholarship she investigates patterns of narrative persuasion as a trans cultural phenomenon and their connection with ancient concepts of reality and truth The study contrasts differences in fundamental narrative structures of both narratives such as mediacy and discursive versus diegetic text portions It explores the role of material remains mentioned in the accounts to evoke or even create the reality of a past

Stancetaking in Discourse Robert Englebretson, 2007 This volume contributes to the burgeoning field of research on stance by offering a variety of studies based in natural discourse These collected papers explore the situated pragmatic and interactional character of stancetaking and present new models and conceptions of stance to spark future research Central to the volume is the claim that stancetaking encompasses five general principles it involves physical attitudinal and or moral positioning it is a public action it is inherently dialogic interactional and sequential it indexes broader sociocultural contexts and it is consequential to the interactants Each paper explores one or more of these dimensions of stance from perspectives including interactional linguistics and conversation analysis corpus linguistics language description discourse analysis and sociocultural linguistics Research languages include conversational American English colloquial Indonesian and Finnish The understanding of stance that emerges is heterogeneous and variegated and always intertwined with the pragmatic and social aspects of human conduct

Recontextualizing Context Anita Fetzer, 2004 In the humanities and social sciences context is one of those terms which is frequently used and frequently referred to but hardly made explicit This book proposes a model for describing the multifaceted connectedness between language and language use and between cognitive context linguistic context social context and sociocultural context and their underlying principles of well formedness grammatically acceptability and appropriateness Combining a range of theoretical frameworks in linguistics pragmatics sociolinguistics discourse analysis and philosophy of language Fetzer goes beyond the unilateral conception of speech and argues for a dialogue outlook on natural language communication based on dialogue principles and dialogue categories The most important ones are cooperation joint production micro and macro communicative intentions micro and macro validity claims co suppositions dialogue common ground and communicative genre Is it Real? Structuring Reality by Means of Signs Zeynep Onur, İlhami Sığircı, Eero Tarasti, 2016-09-23 Is it Real is a collection of twenty eight papers on the most challenging provocative and profound topics related to the quest for real and virtual realities of vision and other senses and realities that are either constructed or imagined There was no school no theory no methodology nor any empirical approach in semiotics which was not forced to take a position whether implicitly or explicitly in attempting to discuss this issue Semiotics is a discipline dealing with signs and thus it is commonly thought that if we say of something that it is a sign then it is something less real than the thing itself to which it refers As such the field of problems which opens from the theme Is it Real is almost endless but also relevant This volume presents interactive dialogue related to this question structured under six different headings five papers on the topic of Visual Realities six on What is Real five on Textual Realities concentrating on realities revealed from literature or the written language through texts five on Constructed Realities three on Virtual Realities and finally four papers on Imagery Realities The Grammar of Thinking Daniela E. Casartelli, Silvio Cruschina, Pekka Posio, Stef Spronck, 2023-09-05 Sentence 1 represents the phenomenon of reported thought 2 that of reported speech 1 Sasha thought This is fine or Sasha thought that this would be fine 2 Sasha said This is fine or Sasha said that this would be fine While sentences as in 1 have often been discussed in the context of those in 2 the former have rarely received specific attention This has meant that much of the semantic and structural complexity cross linguistic variation as well as the precise relation between 1 and 2 and related phenomena have remained unstudied Addressing this gap this volume represents the first collection of studies specifically dedicated to reported thought It introduces a wide variety of cross linguistic examples of the phenomenon and brings together authors from linguistic typology corpus and interactional linguistics and formal and functional theories of syntax to shed light on how talking about thoughts can become grammar in the languages of the world The book should be of interest to linguists philosophers of language linguistic anthropologists and communication specialists seeking to understand topics at the boundary of stylistics and morphosyntax as well as the grammar of epistemicity The Literature Police Peter D. McDonald, 2010-10-14 Uncovers the tangled stories of censorship and literature in apartheid South Africa drawing on a wealth of new evidence from censorship archives archives of resistance publishers and writers groups and oral testimony A unique perspective on one of the most repressive anachronistic and racist states in the post war era Narrative Art & Women in the Gospels and Acts David Malick, 2018-06-05 David Malick applies the hermeneutics of narrative analysis to select passages involving women in the Gospels of Mark Luke John and in the Book of Acts At times the scope of this analysis extends beyond heightened understanding of how authors presented women as significant characters and even foils to men in the narratives The use of duality and balance in the narratives of Zacharias and Mary Nicodemus and the Samaritan Woman and Aeneas Tabatha and Cornelius focus on what the author is doing with what he is saying The use of intercalations or sandwich stories brings about heightened meaning when the stories of Jesus mother and the religious leaders or Jairus and the woman with a hemorrhage or Judas and the woman who anoints Jesus for his burial are read together in Mark A first and subsequent reading of the healing of Simon's mother in law in Mark provides the reader with the first picture of true discipleship The literary technique of a sign sermon shows logical unity to what might be considered separate units in Mark and Acts

Arbeitsbuch Romananalyse Hans-Werner Ludwig, 1982

Judgment and Salvation Dustin G. Burlet, 2022-11-03 This book contends the text of the Noachian deluge narrative categorically underscores all God did to preserve life in spite of the disaster Despite the picture of devastation that the narrative depicts the prominent emphasis of the text is on deliverance and redemption i.e. salvation not judgment The focus of the Genesis flood is acutely bent towards God's salvific rather than punitive purposes The arc of salvation within the flood narrative can be broken down into two main ideas Firstly God's intention for creation is not thwarted and secondly God commits himself to his intentions of creation God's intention for creation can be stated thus the establishment of order via covenant showing the sanctity of human life and the upholding of all life This involves in particular humanity as his image bearers including the lex talionis life for life principle

Reporting Discourse, Tense and Cognition Tomoko Sakita, 2021-10-01 Reporting discourse has attracted rigorous analyses in linguistics literary theory cognitive psychology sociology and ethnomethodology This book provides analyses of controversial topics in reporting discourse like tense alternation reporting styles patterns and functions After critically examining existing theories Tomoko I Sakita offers new theoretical perspectives and empirical analyses within the scope of actual language performance Her analysis covers tenses that previous studies have neglected or have considered ungrammatical or mistaken Based on models of cognitive recollection and stream of consciousness tense reveals cognitive attitudinal and consciousness state markers in complex reporting processes as well as identity speaker psychology and deictic relations embedded in discourse and narrative contexts A synthesis of discourse analysis and experiments on reporting style structure and functions leads to formulating a new reporting discourse continuum Reporting discourses emerge as rule governed goal directed purposeful strategic devices in communication Sakita shows reporting discourse to be an integral whole formed by speakers' constant interpretations and choices at different stages of information processing with close interactions among cognitive constraints discourse organization contextual information and communicative purposes She deepens our insights into the operation of language and cognition as well as into communication systems and social dynamics ultimately leading to a better understanding of human behaviour This should be a useful work not only for linguists and literary specialists but also for readers with serious interest in human reporting behaviour and narrative or in the dynamic aspects of cognitive operation Discourse and Style Dan Shen, 2024-12-02 This book examines overlaps differences and complementarities between narratology and stylistics and shows the consequences of this examination for the practical analysis of prose narrative Narratology identifies discourse as one of its two main objects of study story being the other and stylistics of course designates style as its concern Too often however work in each of these fields proceeds without attention to developments in the other This book corrects that situation by looking beneath the superficial similarities between the discourse of narratology and the style of fictional stylistics The author shows that the two seemingly interchangeable terms actually refer to different textual elements For example both narratology and stylistics identify point of view as an important element of discourse and style respectively but each approach conceives of it differently and thus analyzes it differently This book argues that the different analyses are complementary and shows how they can be brought together This synthesis leads to richer conceptions of point of view as well as more comprehensive and precise analyses of its functions and effects in individual narratives For its theoretical and interpretive contributions this book will appeal to scholars and students in narrative studies literary stylistics and literary theory and criticism
