What I Believe Tariq Ramadan:

Tradition and Modernity David Marshall, 2013-05-20 Tradition and Modernity focuses on how Christians and Muslims connect their traditions to modernity looking especially at understandings of history changing patterns of authority and approaches to freedom The volume includes a selection of relevant texts from 19th and 20th century thinkers from John Henry Newman to Tariq Ramadan accompanied by illuminating commentaries The Idea of European Islam Mohammed Hashas, 2018-07-24 Suspicions about the integration of Islam into European cultures have been steadily on the rise and dramatically so since 9 11 One reason lies in the visibility of anti Western Islamic discourses of salafi origin which have monopolized the debate on the true Islam not only among Muslims but also in the eyes of the general population across Europe these discourses combined with Islamophobic discourses reinforce the so called incompatibility between the West and Islam This book breaks away from this clash between Islam and the West by arguing that European Islam is possible It analyzes the contribution that European Islam has made to the formation of an innovative Islamic theology that is deeply ethicist and modern and it clarifies how this constructed European Islamic theology is able to contribute to the various debates that are related to secular liberal democracies of Western Europe Part I introduces four major projects that defend the idea of European Islam from different disciplines and perspectives politics political theology jurisprudence and philosophy Part II uses the frameworks from three major philosophers and scholars to approach the idea of European Islam in the context of secular liberal societies British scholar George Hourani Moroccan philosopher Taha Abderrahmane and the American philosopher John Rawls The book shows that the ongoing efforts of European Muslim thinkers to revisit the concept of citizenship and political community can be seen as a new kind of political theology in opposition to radical forms of Islamic thinking in some Muslim majority countries Opening a new path for examining Islamic thought in and of Europe this book will appeal to students and scholars of Islamic Studies Islam in the West and Political Theology Islam and the Governing of Muslims in France Frank Peter, 2021-01-28 Will Islam be able to adapt to France s secularity and its strict separation of public and private spheres Can France accommodate Muslims In this book Frank Peter argues that the debate about Islam and Muslims is not simply caused by ignorance or Islamophobia Rather it is an integral part of how secularism is reasoned Islam and the Governing of Muslims in France shows that understanding religion as separate from other aspects of life such as politics economy and culture disregards the ways religion has operated and been managed in secular societies such as France This book uncovers the varying rationalities of the secular that have developed over the past few decades in France to govern Islam in order to examine how Muslims engage with the secular regime and contribute to its transformation This book offers a close analysis of French secularism as it has been debated by Islamic intellectuals and activists from the 1990s until the present It will influence the study of secularism as well as the study of Islam in the French Republic and reveal new connections between Islamic traditions and secular rationalities The Future of Political Theology Aakash

Singh, Mika Luoma-aho, Dr Péter Losonczy, 2013-06-28 Recent shifts in the contemporary cultural political and religious landscape are engendering intensive attention concerning political theology New trends and traditional ideas equally colour these movements Given that a medley of recent books and articles have exhaustively treated both the history and the current resurgence of political theology we now find ourselves faced with the task of reinventing and redefining the future of political theology This book presents a rich overview of fresh contemporary theoretical approaches uniquely prioritizing the prospects of the future of political theology but also making room for significant interventions from philosophy and political theory Including prominent essays on Judaic Islamic Buddhist and Christian perspectives this book balances elements from post modern theology with more classical as well as anti post modern approaches IDENTITI MUSLIM EROPAH:

McDonough, Nadeem A. Memon, Avi I. Mintz, 2013-09-03 The education provided by Canada's faith based schools is a subject of public political and scholarly controversy As the population becomes more religiously diverse the continued establishment and support of faith based schools has reignited debates about whether they should be funded publicly and to what extent they threaten social cohesion These discussions tend to occur without considering a fundamental question How do faith based schools envision and enact their educational missions Discipline Devotion and Dissent offers responses to that question by examining a selection of Canada's Jewish Catholic and Islamic schools The daily reality of these schools is illuminated through essays that address the aims and practices that characterize these schools how they prepare their students to become citizens of a multicultural Canada and how they respond to dissent in the classroom The essays in this book reveal that Canada's faith based schools sometimes succeed and sometimes struggle in bridging the demands of the faith and the need to create participating citizens of a multicultural society Discussion surrounding faith based schools in Canada would be enriched by a better understanding of the aims and practices of these schools and this book provides a gateway to the subject

Dār al-Islām Revisited Sarah Albrecht, 2018-04-24 Where is dār al islām and who defines its boundaries in the 21st century In Dār al Islām Revisited Territoriality in Contemporary Islamic Legal Discourse on Muslims in the West Sarah Albrecht explores the variety of ways in which contemporary Sunni Muslim scholars intellectuals and activists reinterpret the Islamic legal tradition of dividing the world into dār al islām the territory of Islam dār al arb the territory of war and other geo religious categories Starting with an overview of the rich history of debate about this tradition this book traces how and why territorial boundaries have remained a matter of controversy until today It shows that they play a crucial role in current discussions of religious authority identity and the interpretation of the shari'a in the West Christianity, Islam, and the West Robert A. Burns, 2011-12-01 This book has its origins in a comparative religions course Burns has taught at the University of Arizona for the past thirty years Those who have enrolled in the class have come from diverse religious and cultural backgrounds Whatever the mix a shared curiosity about Christianity Judaism and Islam has always been present

Since the 9 11 attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon students as well as the general public are especially interested in Islam Like many Americans they have little or no knowledge of the Islamic religion This work touches upon the origins and central teachings of the Islamic religion and discusses the commonalties and differences between Islam and Christianity Throughout the book Burns poses and answers the kinds of questions most frequently asked by his students This approach will be helpful to students in comparative religions courses as well as other individuals interested in the connections between Christianity and Islam The purpose of this book is to help alleviate the misinformation surrounding Islam and Christianity and to inspire a dialogue between the two religions Such communication will the author hopes help promote justice and peace throughout the world

The Theology of Tariq Ramadan Gregory Baum, 2009 Tariq Ramadan has emerged as one of the most influential Muslim theologians in the world today In this important book Gregory Baum presents for the first time an introduction to several key aspects of Ramadan s theological enterprise Baum examines Ramadan s work historically within an interfaith perspective drawing several parallels between Islamic and Catholic encounters with modernity His comparison of the debates in the two traditions suggests that reform and renewal are compatible with the substance of both Catholic and Muslim traditions After a brief account of the evolution of Catholic theology up to the Second Vatican Council Baum introduces Ramadan s published work and theological orientation examining both within the historical development of Islam He outlines Ramadan s theology of God humanity and the universe and discusses Ramadan s interpretation of sharia the divinely revealed Islamic way of life The book then addresses what fidelity to Islam means for Western Muslims and contrasts Ramadan s theology with the theological liberalism advocated by some Muslim authors Throughout Baum makes helpful connections between Islam and Vatican II Catholicism Both belief systems are steeped in ancient traditions rely on a sacred book and find themselves confronting a modern context Reformist Islam shares much with Catholic social thought in showing a regard for the poor and marginalized Baum concludes by examining points of difference between Muslim and Catholic theology that support further conversation This readable introduction to Ramadan s work is accessible to non Muslim students teachers clergy and general readers interested in Islam and interfaith dialogue This book is a beautiful example of serious theological dialogue between two seminal theologians of our age Gregory Baum and Tariq Ramadan It is a balanced and significant contribution to scholarship about Ramadan s thought for at least two reasons first it provides a very important perspective on the similarities that Catholicism earlier and Islam today have shared in facing the many challenges of modernity and second the conclusion Professor Baum reaches may be short but is profound the time for religious secular dialogue has come Patrice Brodeur Canada Research Chair on Islam Pluralism and Globalization Universite de Montreal Gregory Baum is a gift to the Church and indeed to the world A stalwart of the Vatican II era he is now an eminence grise of North American Christianity in its efforts to engage the secular world through a confident and critical dialogue about meaning In this remarkable and pioneering volume he engages contemporary Islam through a typically generous reading of one of its most influential theologians Tariq Ramadan. Avoiding the often silly but sometimes brutal polemics that have obscured the quality of Ramadan's reformist thought, Baum notes the striking affinities between Islam's and Catholicism's respective encounters with democracy, religious freedom, and critical reading of sacred sources among other contested issues. Having absorbed the deepest insights of Catholicism's recent revolution in self-understanding, a revolution he helped to stimulate and advance, this unofficial, quietly charismatic ambassador of Christian intellectual innovation has provided invaluable insight into the mind of the person who has been termed the Muslim Martin Luther. Baum, as he has in the past, is pointing the way forward for innovative and serious theological work in the opening of sustained dialogue and conversation with the contemporary current of Islamic reform represented by figures like Ramadan. He rightly sees an opportunity for a renewal of Catholic theology in its service to the cause of reconciliation and peace. Scott Appleby, University of Notre Dame.

What I Believe Tariq Ramadan, 2009-10-06. Tariq Ramadan is very much a public figure named one of Time magazine's most important innovators of the twenty-first century. He is among the leading Islamic thinkers in the West with a large following around the world. But he has also been a lightning rod for controversy. Indeed, in 2004 Ramadan was prevented from entering the U.S. by the Bush administration, and despite two appeals supported by organizations like the American Academy of Religion and the ACLU, he was barred from the country until spring of 2010 when Secretary of State Hillary Clinton finally lifted the ban. In What I Believe, Ramadan attempts to set the record straight, laying out the basic ideas he stands for in clear and accessible prose. He describes the book as a work of clarification directed at ordinary citizens, politicians, journalists, and others who are curious or skeptical about his positions. Aware that he is dealing with emotional issues, Ramadan tries to get past the barriers of prejudice and misunderstanding to speak directly from the heart to his Muslim and non-Muslim readers alike. In particular, he calls on Western Muslims to escape the mental, social, cultural, and religious ghettos they have created for themselves and become full partners in the democratic societies in which they live. At the same time, he calls for the rest of us to recognize our Muslim neighbors as citizens with rights and responsibilities the same as ours. His vision is of a future in which a shared and confident pluralism becomes a reality at last.

Community, Faith, and Resistance Sk Sagir Ali, 2024-11-28. This book looks at texts produced before and after 9/11 by novelists with Muslim backgrounds in Britain. It delves into the ways in which the politics of representation have changed in the wake of 9/11 and highlights the conflicts that arise in these coming-of-age narratives between the demands of a liberal individualist lifestyle and those of community, family, and faith. Drawing on the works of Salman Rushdie, Hanif Kureishi, Nadeem Aslam, Qaisra Shahraz, Leila Aboulela, Robin Yassin Kassab, Zia Haider Rahman, and Ahnaf Soueif, Community, Faith, and Resistance discusses how these authors distinguish between Islam as a religion and Islam as a culture and negotiate complex themes of religion, representation, recognition, and secularism in their works. The volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers, particularly those focused on literature, politics, cultural studies, South Asian studies, and Islamic studies.

Locating the Shari'a Sohaira Siddiqui, 2018-02-04 The study of the shari'a has enjoyed a renaissance in the last two decades and it will continue to attract interdisciplinary attention given the ongoing social political and religious developments throughout the Muslim world With such a variety of debates and a corresponding multitude of theoretical methods students and non scholars are often overwhelmed by the complexity of the field Even experts will often need to consult multiple sources to understand these new voices and provide accessible answers to specialist and non specialist audiences alike This volume is intended for both the novice and expert as a companion to understanding the evolution of the field of Islamic law the current work that is shaping this field and the new directions the shari'a will take in the twenty first century Contributors are Khaled Abou El Fadl Asma Afsaruddin Ahmad Ahmad Sarah Albrecht Ovamir Anjum Dale Correa Robert Gleave Sohail Hanif Rami Koujah Marion Katz Asifa Quraishi Landes David Warren and Salman Younas

Territoriality and Hospitality John Azumah, Cheikh Anta Babou, 2024-10-16 In a world where religion is frequently viewed as a source of conflict and division what can we learn from the harmonious coexistence of Christian and Muslim communities flourishing in Africa and elsewhere This collaborative work inspired by the life and legacy of Lamin Sanneh seeks to highlight valuable lessons from the rich Christian and Muslim traditions of hospitality through bringing together voices and perspectives from diverse backgrounds and contexts developing a vision for the common good of society Amplifying a contextual understanding of Christian Muslim relations the authors from Africa and across the world reflect on and respond to the cultural themes of territoriality and hospitality resulting in a comprehensive resource for constructive engagement of the faiths in shared public spaces Readers invested in the future of Christianity and Islam will learn how these cultural and theological resources are vital for both faiths to live and flourish together in Africa and beyond The Other Muslims Z.

Baran,2010-03-15 This book is a unique collection of alternative Muslim voices predominantly from Europe who come from a variety of backgrounds academia theology acting activism and who make a transformational contribution to the debate of the future of Islam and Muslims in the West Globalising Hatred Denis MacShane,2008-09-25 A hard hitting essay combined with factual reportage on the new anti semitism throughout Europe This book argues that what the 21st century now faces is an ideological assault based on hatred of Jews which is as serious as any major threat to universal values as the world has faced Anti semitism is the visible language and action of a deeper threat to world peace to the achievements of the human spirit we call the Enlightenment and undermines vital work to address problems like poverty and the challenges of the environment Denis MacShane s survey of 21st century anti semitism is based on the All Party Commission of Enquiry which was chaired by the author in the UK His book considers examples in Europe and how anti semitism is now a linking mechanism between different extremisms usually but not exclusively of the Right It lists in detail the anti semitism in national party politics including the European Parliament and it examines how Holocaust denial is not a question of liberal free expression issues but an organised ideological position The new anti semitism arises from three main sources state sanctioned anti semitism that of terrorist movements like Al Qaeda and that of political movements like the Muslim Brotherhood and its off shoots and spokesmen The book is both a cri de coeur for a new tolerance and a resolution to throw light on 21st century anti semitism which has left Europe to become a new form of mobilising politics across many continents

Encounters with Islam Malise Ruthven,2012-05-14 For many years Malise Ruthven has been at the forefront of discerning commentary on the Islamic world and its relations with the predominantly secularised and Christian societies of the West Well known for his bold interventions on such issues as the Rushdie affair and publication of The Satanic Verses the many unresolved questions relating to the Lockerbie bombing and the globe changing terrorist attack of 9 11 Ruthven s perceptive writings particularly those that have appeared in the New York Review of Books reliably re frame difficult issues and problems so that his readers are prompted to look at the challenges afresh Ruthven is here at his most compelling he offers astute and topical insights across the whole spectrum of Middle East and Islamic studies Whether questioning the involvement of Libyan agents in the downing of Pan Am Flight 103 exploring the contested place of women in Islam or discussing the disputed term Islamofascism his own the author s probing searchlight intelligence aims always to get at the truth of things regardless of attendant controversy Representing the best of Ruthven these lucid essays will be widely appreciated by students specialists and general readers They transform our understandings of contemporary society

From Multiculturalism to Democratic Discrimination Alberto Spektorowski,Daphna Elfersy,2020-12-10 The effect of Islam on Western Europe has been profound Spektorowski and Elfersy argue that it has transformed European democratic values by inspiring an ultra liberalism that now faces an ultra conservative backlash Questions of what to do about Muslim immigration how to deal with burqas how to deal with gender politics have all been influenced by western democracies grappling with ideas of inclusion and most recently exclusion This book examines those forces and ultimately sees not an unbridgeable gap but a future in which Islam and European democracies are compatible rich and evolving

The Religious Identity of Young Muslim Women in Berlin Synnøve Bendixsen, 2013-04-17 The Religious Identity of Young Muslim Women in Berlin offers an in depth ethnographic account of Muslim youth s religious identity formation and their everyday life engagement with Islam It deals with the reconstruction of selfhood and the collective content of identity formation in an urban and transnational setting

Negotiating the Sacred Elizabeth Burns Coleman, Kevin White, 2006-06-01 This cross disciplinary exploration of the role of the sacred blasphemy and sacrilege in a multicultural society brings together philosophers theologians lawyers historians curators anthropologists and sociologists as well as Christian Jewish and Islamic and secular perspectives In bringing together different disciplinary and cultural approaches the book provides a way of broadening our conceptions of what might count as sacred sacrilegious and blasphemous in moral and political terms In addition it provides original research data on blasphemy sacrilege and religious tolerance from a range of disciplines
