Jahrbuch des Dubnow-Instituts / Dubnow Institute Yearbook XVI/2017 Yfaat Weiss, 2019-08-12 The 2017 edition of the Simon Dubnow Institute Yearbook encompasses two focal points The first deals with the year 1938 an incisive year for Europe's Jews against the background of Jewish experiences and political activities in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries On the basis of issues surrounding citizenship minority rights flight and migration this dramatic crisis is cast in a new light with the focus placed especially on the states of Central and Eastern Europe The second focal point takes the enduring surge in biographical research as an impetus to examine the reasons for the popularity of this genre within Jewish Studies Using examples from current research projects on Jewish intellectuals core issues and challenges of biographical writing are presented and discussed The general part and the special sections of the Yearbook contain contributions on the conjunction of political and religious history on the study of nationalism and historical semantics as well as on Sholem Aleichem Franz Neumann and Ernst Grumach REAL - Yearbook of Research in English and American Literature Herbert Grabes,2015-12-09 REAL invites contributions on the relationship between literature and cultural change The study of culture has to face the difficulty of not being able to observe its object directly Its only access is via cultural phenomena as observable products of human activity artefacts texts rites symbols forms of conduct If scholars wish to study cultural change they need to do so by investigating the changing relationships among these phenomena the changing connections between social structures mentalities and the material dimension of texts artefacts and other objects While some scholars have rejected the concept of culture because of this indirectness others from Malinowski to Luhmann have attempted to make it theoretically more precise and historically more saturated Societies change as well as cultures but they are not the same and they evolve at different speeds Bremer Jahrbuch der Weltschiffahrt 1954/55 / Bremen World Shipping Yearbook,2013-12-19 The first edition of the Bremen World Shipping Yearbook published in 1953 met with a conspicuously good reception in professional circles at home and abroad The international shipping press as well as the competent men of science and shipping industry in the widest sense of the word warmly commended the new publication The widespread interest the general demand for a continuation of this work and the overall recognition have encouraged the author Dr G A THEEL to cope once more with all the difficulties arising from a fundamentally new analysis of 1953/54 World Shipping as offered by this book In order to render the book directly accessible to interested professional circles abroad a bilingual edition is presented this time This together with the necessary extension of statistical data would have sent up the price of this book considerably Consequently a solution had to be found for cutting down the printing costs without however reducing the scientific value of this book Considering the general boost of printing charges it has become almost impossible to edit an extensive scientific work with widely diversified statistical data and graphs in a normally printed form and at a reasonable price acceptable to all interested circles Jahrbuch des Simon-Dubnow-Instituts / Simon Dubnow Institute Yearbook X (2011) Dan Diner,2011-12-07 The Yearbook of the Simon Dubnow institute for 2011 has as one of its major themes the Jewish presence in the local governments of Central Eastern Europe particularly during the time between World War I and World War II and especially in Poland A further theme considers matters of literary history after 1945 based on iconic texts as well as approaches determined by our knowledge of history The general section and the other sections contain contributions on urban life in Eastern Europe on the history of Jewish newspaper production on the early studies of the Holocaust on intellectual circles in the study of Judaism and on the history of the transfer and effect of continental theories in America Jahrbuch für Management in Nonprofit-Organisationen 2014.
