Approaches to the African Novel Charles E. Nnolim, 2010 This Third Edition of Approaches to the African Novel is a child of necessity Because of the unfortunate death of the publisher of Saros International who issued the First Edition and high demand this third enlarged edition has become imperative Three new essays all previously published are added two expectedly on Achebe the father of the African novel and one on Mongp Beti s Mission to Kala which was partially anthologised in Contemporary Literary Criticism Volume 27 1984 Achebe s Things Fall Apart as an Igbo national epic has evoked a spate of reactions from critics of African literature especially the troika Chinweizu et al in Toward the Decolonization of African Literature It was also anthologised in Modern Black Literature edited by S Okechukwu Menu 1971 The essay on Arrow of God whose structure and meaning has been largely avoided by other critics is included here for further airing For gender balance as the previous volume contained no essays on women writers an essay on Flora Nwapa has been added Since the novels discussed in this volume exclusively are on the African literature south of the Sahara the last essay on Peter Abrahams comes in to round out this collection of essays with a study of a south African writer for geographical balance Center commissioned external review of IWMI research theme 1: agricultural water management John Langford, Netij Ben-Mechlia, Peak Revision K.C.S.E. English , Corrigé des thèmes ou Clef du cours de thèmes anglais G. Hamonière, 1844 Interpretive Theme Writer's Field Guide Jon Kohl, 2018-11-15 The interpretive theme is the most important sentence an interpreter inks on paper Despite its centrality to thematic interpretation no single work has dedicated itself entirely to the art and craft of strong theme writing until now The Interpretive Theme Writer s Field Guide builds on Sam Ham s 30 year thematic interpretation research legacy While leaving theory to his books this pocket companion offers writers strong theme examples worksheets exercises inspirational quotes and technique highlights With contributions from Sam Ham Ted Cable Shelton Johnson and Clark Hancock this Field Guide is useful at the desk in the exhibit hall or on the trail It recognizes that teams even communities create heritage themes and introduces the Interpretive Framework methodology to facilitate community based theme writing The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 Simon Gikandi, Evan Mwangi, 2007 The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 challenges the conventional belief that the English language literary traditions of East Africa are restricted to the former British colonies of Kenya Uganda and Tanzania Instead these traditions stretch far into such neighboring countries as Somalia and Ethiopia Simon Gikandi and Evan Mwangi assemble a truly inclusive list of major writers and trends They begin with a chronology of key historical events and an overview of the emergence and transformation of literary culture in the region Then they provide an alphabetical list of major writers and brief descriptions of their concerns and achievements Some of the writers discussed include the Kenyan novelists Grace Ogot and Ngugi wa Thiong o Ugandan poet and essayist Taban Lo Liyong Ethiopian playwright and poet Tsegaye Gabre Medhin Tanzanian novelist and diplomat Peter Palangyo

Ethiopian novelist Berhane Mariam Sahle Sellassie and the novelist M G Vassanji who portrays the Indian diaspora in Africa Europe and North America Separate entries within this list describe thematic concerns such as colonialism decolonization the black aesthetic and the language question the growth of genres like autobiography and popular literature important movements like cultural nationalism and feminism and the impact of major forces such as AIDS HIV Christian missions and urbanization Comprehensive and richly detailed this guide offers a fresh perspective on the role of East Africa in the development of African and world literature in English and a new understanding of the historical cultural and geopolitical boundaries of the region

Negotiating for Water Resources Andrea Haefner,2016-10-04 Over 90 per cent of the world population lives in countries that share a river basin with others Freshwater resources are scarce and different nations actors and users compete for limited resources in transboundary river basins often conflicting with each other Water is a resource with no substitute it cannot be secured in sufficiently large quantities through long distance trade deals and due to the interconnectivity of the hydrological system the actions of one country in its water management have a direct bearing on the interests of neighbouring countries For instance in the Mekong River Basin current hydropower and navigation developments in certain countries impact on traditional sources of income such as fisheries and rice production in others These kinds of changes in water use have given rise to conflict between countries in that region and others but have also led in some cases to greater cooperation The past few decades have seen a number of new agreements about the sharing of river resources and cooperation between riparian states Negotiating for Water Resources explores the drivers of conflict and cooperation between states in transnational river basins Drawing on extensive fieldwork and interviews on the Mekong Danube and La Plata River Basins the book provides a three level analysis across three case studies including the regional framework EU ASEAN and Mercosur the River Basin Organisations ICPDR MRC and CIC and the micro level The key question of the book is To what extent do power asymmetries prevent or inhibit cooperation between riparian states over water resources This is linked to the question of how institutions contribute to mitigate competition for natural resources and how states interact in a multilateral arena Overall the book argues that cooperation in transboundary river basins is possible even where there are asymmetric power relations challenging realist assumptions about competition and conflict over resources development even before the construction of large federally owned dams in the 1930s. At the heart of this debate was a conflict between public power advocates and the private utility industry over control of the environment, a struggle that was played out in the political arena. In this book, Jay Brigham describes that rivalry in the West in the years before the New Deal. Focusing on the conservative city of Los Angeles and its liberal counterpart Seattle, as well as on several small towns in the Midwest, Brigham shows how fierce battles broke out as private and public systems competed for customers and how, despite the differences between these two cities, public power ultimately triumphed in each.
