Woman President Kristina Horn Sheeler, Karrin Vasby Anderson, 2013-08-08 What elements of American political and rhetorical culture block the imagining and thus the electing of a woman as president Examining both major party and third party campaigns by women including the 2008 campaigns of Hillary Clinton and Sarah Palin the authors of Woman President Confronting Postfeminist Political Culture identify the factors that limit electoral possibilities for women Pundits have been predicting women's political ascendency for years And yet although the 2008 presidential campaign featured Hillary Clinton as an early frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination and Sarah Palin as the first female Republican vice presidential nominee no woman has yet held either of the top two offices. The reasons for this are complex and varied but the authors assert that the question certainly encompasses more than the shortcomings of women candidates or the demands of the particular political moment Instead the authors identify a pernicious backlash against women presidential candidates one that is expressed in both political and popular culture In Woman President Confronting Postfeminist Political Culture Kristina Horn Sheeler and Karrin Vasby Anderson provide a discussion of US presidentiality as a unique rhetorical role Within that framework they review women s historical and contemporary presidential bids placing special emphasis on the 2008 campaign They also consider how presidentiality is framed in candidate oratory campaign journalism film and television digital media and political parody Madam President? Lori Cox Han, Caroline Heldman, 2020 Scholars and pundits alike have spent more than a little time speculating about why Hillary Clinton lost the presidency to Donald Trump in 2016 Their conclusions may differ but few would disagree that Clinton's nomination by a major party changed the political landscape in significant ways nor that the results of the 2016 election provoked a large number of women to run for office at all levels of government The genie is out of the bottle In this context the authors of Madam President critically analyze the barriers facing women on the road to the White House from gender stereotyping to biased media coverage the conflation of masculinity and the presidency gendered conceptions of leadership and more Madam President, Revised Edition Eleanor Clift, Tom Brazaitis, 2016-05-06 The first Madam President will be sworn in sooner than most people think But the gender gap in politics is still shockingly broad say two of America's most readable political commentators in this timely look at the nation's sputtering efforts to envision a woman in America's top job The Boston Globe Charting the transformation of women's power in American politics from the first female presidential candidate Victoria Woodhull in 1872 to the shattered presidential hopes of Shirley Chisholm and Elizabeth Dole Madam President presents tales of passion determination set backs and triumph from nearly all national women politicians and most leading state politicians in the pipeline With insight garnered from years on the Washington political scene and candid interviews with leading politicians like Christine Todd Whitman and Kathleen Kennedy Townsend Clift and Brazaitis explain why the barriers to women are still formidable There are only 3 female governors one of the best routes to the White House and at the current rate it will take 250 years before there are as many women Senators and Representatives as men A forward looking savvy analysis of women in politics Madam President gives the first inside look at how America's female politicians got there stayed there and what it will take for them to make it to the presidency The Time Has Arrived Jada Brown, 2023-08-11 After nearly 250 years and 45 male presidents the time has finally arrived for a woman to take the presidency In her groundbreaking new book The Time Has Arrived A Woman President in the White House acclaimed author Jada Brown makes the compelling case that the United States is more than ready to elect its first Madam President Tracing the evolving role of women in society and politics Jada Brown analyzes the cultural shifts that have broken down barriers blocking women from the nation s highest office From securing voting rights to holding elected offices across all levels of government women have been proving their capabilities as leaders and changing perceptions of female power and potential Backed by insightful research and data the Book argues that women are just as qualified to serve as commander in chief as men The book delves into common double standards still faced by women in leadership and debunks the outdated notion that females are somehow less competent in high pressure roles Readers are invited to envision this exciting new chapter in America's future as the Book paints a compelling portrait of what the White House could look like under the stewardship of a woman president Captivating and forward looking The Time Has Arrived A Woman President in the White House demonstrates that the time for a woman president is now This inspiring book will reshape how people think about gender power and the highest glass ceiling waiting to be shattered Intentioning Gloria Feldt, 2021-09-28 Intentioning by best selling author Gloria Feldt will help you envision the life and career you might have thought were impossible dreams then give you the courage and actionable tools to achieve them In the wake of the coronavirus pandemic and a pandemic of racial injustice that together shook our world to its core and revealed deep fault lines in our culture Gloria Feldt New York Times best selling author speaker commentator international leadership expert successful CEO and feminist icon shows how we can seize the once in a lifetime opportunity created by massive disruption to build back stronger with diverse women at the center of the recovery In Intentioning Sex Power Pandemics and How Women Will Take The Lead for Everyone's Good Feldt inspires diverse women to embrace their personal power to lead with intention confidence and joy It comes as no surprise to her that women flexed their formidable muscles when needed most
