

The Auditor the Instructional Novella

This Novella is written by James K. Loebekke, which is a very good supplemental reading for those who want to pursue Public Accounting in their career. This is a great novella for those students who want to choose their own path rather than following in footsteps. The main character in this novella is Jack Butler, having a hard time works for the field of accounting at the beginning and success later on his career. The author's goal was to show us the important messages relating to public accounting field such as communication skills, importance of peoples skills, ethics, hard work and dedication to work. Now I would like to discuss the critical analysis of the "The Auditor the instructional Novella"

Chapter one: The Big day

In the very first chapter the main character of the novella Jack Butler was introduced. He graduated from Farwestern State University with a MBA. He works at the fictional firm in Oakland, California. He has been working in this firm for almost ten years and his ultimate goal was to become a partner of this company. In this chapter he seems very anxious to know whether he has made it to become a partner or not. His wife Libby suggests he should not worry about it at all because even he does not become a partner, their life will not change. We also introduced two of his colleagues Don Parnell and Barb Gillespie. Also we came to know the most responsible person of the company Quentin Barnes who is also called by "The Bear". Barnes and Jack had a good relationship inside the firm and outside the firm as well. They are also family friends and they both play golf together. So when it comes to decide the partner of the year, Barnes support Jack to become a partner. Out of three people only Jack and Barb qualified for the position. When Jack got the good news he was happy at the same time he was unhappy because his best friend from school Don did not make it to become a partner this time. The first chapter ends with good news for Jack, and his wife Libby's planning for a celebration

College Student Journal ,2002 Between Friends John M. Najemy,2019-01-15 Between Friends offers the first extended close reading of the most famous epistolary dialogue of the Renaissance the letters exchanged from 1513 to 1515 by Niccolo Machiavelli and Francesco Vettori John Najemy reveals the literary richness and theoretical tensions of the correspondence the crucial importance of the dialogue with Vettori in Machiavelli s emergence as a writer and political theorist and the close but complex relationship between the letters and Machiavelli s major works on politics Unlike previous and mostly fragmentary treatments of the correspondence this book reads the letters as a continuously developing collaborative text in which problems of language and interpretation gradually emerge as the critical issues Najemy argues that Vettori s skeptical reaction to Machiavelli s first letters on politics and provoked Machiavelli into a defense of language s power to represent the world a notion that soon become the underlying assumption of The Prince Later and largely through an apparently whimsical exchange of letters on love and the foibles of eros Vettori led Machiavelli to confront the power of desire in language which opened the way for a different essentially poetic approach to writing about politics that surfaces for the first time in the pages of the Discourses on Livy John M Najemy is Professor of History at Cornell University He is the author of Corporatism and Consensus in Florentine Electoral Politics 1280 1400 North Carolina Originally published in 1993 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these
