Salman Rushdie's Cities Vassilena Parashkevova, 2012-02-16 Employing Salman Rushdie as a guide to a historicized contemporary this study offers an interdisciplinary exploration of the plurality of cities along his transnational trajectory. It engages with the geographically identifiable Bombay, Karachi, Islamabad, London or New York, the phantasmal politically coded Jahilia or Mildendo, the inspirational yet flawed urban precedents of Fatehpur Sikri or Renaissance Florence, and the ways these cities generate, interact with, and transform each other. The book situates Rushdie's cities in relation to developments in Bombay, Karachi, Islamabad, and London, writing and focusing on novels which shuttle between cities. Parashkevova attends to cities' cultural and historical contexts, to many of Rushdie's numerous literary, cinematic, and artistic influences, and to diverse events, processes, and paradigms: earthquakes, translations, seductions that politically reposition cities and citizens on the contemporary urban map.

Romantic Imperialism

Saree Makdisi, 1998-04-16 The years between 1790 and 1830 saw over a hundred and fifty million people brought under British imperial control, and one of the most momentous outbursts of British literary and artistic production announcing a new world of social and individual traumas and possibilities. This book traces the emergence of new forms of imperialism and capitalism as part of a culture of modernisation in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth century, and looks at the ways in which they were identified with and contested in Romanticism. Saree Makdisi argues that this process has to be understood in global terms, beyond the British and European viewpoint, and that developments in India, Africa, and the Arab world, up to and including our own time, enable us to understand more fully the texts and contexts of British Romanticism. New and original readings of texts by Wordsworth, Blake, Byron, Shelley, and Scott emerge in the course of this searching analysis of the cultural process of globalisation. Choice Outstanding Academic Book of 1998.
