Teaching Writing in the Age of Catastrophic Climate Change Justin Everett, Russell Mayo, 2024-11-25 Catastrophic storms searing heat waves crumbling waterfronts warming oceans air fouling forest fires and mass extinction have become facts of life Under these conditions it is difficult to imagine that the global industrial civilization will continue in its present form This requires us to reconsider the subject of ecocomposition from a new perspective What does it mean to teach college writing in the face of this sobering reality The introduction reviews the history of ecocomposition and reframes it in light of the apocalyptic turn in climate discourse over the last quarter century as well as the role that ecocomposition theory can play in framing these discussions Teaching Writing in the Age of Catastrophic Climate Change is organized into four sections The first section considers the environmental narrative from the viewpoint of climate justice while the second reframes pedagogies of place in light of the climate catastrophe The third section examines the intersections of writing studies and the natural sciences while the fourth section entertains the personal and emotional dimensions of teaching ecocomposition within the framework of catastrophic climate change If we have been successful these chapters provide a starting place for having sobering discussions in our classrooms and considering what ecocomposition means in this unsettling age

Sidgwickian Ethics David Phillips, 2011-07-01

Henry Sidgwick s The Methods of Ethics is one of the most important books in the history of moral philosophy But it has not hitherto received the kind of sustained scholarly attention its stature merits David Phillips aims in Sidgwickian Ethics to do something that has surprisingly not been done before to interpret and evaluate the central argument of the Methods in a way that brings out the important conceptual and historical connections between Sidgwick s views and contemporary moral philosophy Sidgwick distinguished three basic methods utilitarianism egoism and dogmatic intuitionism And he focused on two conflicts between utilitarianism and dogmatic intuitionism and between utilitarianism and egoism Sidgwick believed he could largely resolve the conflict between utilitarianism and dogmatic intuitionism but could not resolve the conflict between utilitarianism and egoism Phillips suggests that the best way to approach Sidgwick s ideas is to start with his views on these two conflicts and with the metaethical and epistemological ideas on which they depend Phillips interprets and largely defends Sidgwick s non naturalist metaethics and moderate intuitionist moral epistemology But he argues for a verdict on the two conflicts different from Sidgwick s own Phillips claims that Sidgwick is less successful than he thinks in resolving the conflict between utilitarianism and dogmatic intuitionism and that Sidgwick s treatment of the conflict between utilitarianism and egoism is more successful than he thinks in that it provides the model for a plausible view of practical reason Phillips s book will be of interest to two different groups of readers to students seeking a brief introduction to Sidgwick s most important ideas and a guidebook to the Methods and to scholars in ethics and the history of ideas concerned with Sidgwick s seminal contribution to moral philosophy
