Islamist Radicalisation in Europe Daniela Pisoiu, 2012-01-25 This book examines the Islamist radicalisation process in Europe developing a new theoretical model based on an empirical study of the evolution of Islamist radicals in their social environment The approach of this book is to examine how and under what conditions people choose to radicalise It focuses on the experience of radicalisation from the perspective of those who have undergone it The study is based on trial and court material along with an extensive number of interviews collected from many different European countries and this biographical approach is used to address individuals and the details of their social environment Overall the explanatory framework departs from the existing deterministic paradigm with grievances as causes also present in some psychological models and argues that radicalisation is a process much like occupational choice a rational choice made with social and ideational significance It addresses critically the assumption that because the result of the radicalisation process could be seen as abnormal the cause of it might be of a similar nature Parallels are drawn with other forms of extremism and European counter radicalisation policies are considered critically This book will be of great interest to students of terrorism studies and political violence political Islam social movements European politics and IR security studies in general

Perspectives on Countering Extremism Shashi Jayakumar, 2023-02-09 The study of violent extremism has seen a great deal of academic and practitioner focus on the processes of radicalization and strategies to counter and de radicalize extremists Comparatively little has been written on the subject of Diversion early upstream interventions aimed at deflecting individuals from a pathway of radicalization This volume addresses this gap in scholarship by analyzing the strategies being deployed worldwide aimed at diverting or deflecting individuals and communities from the path of radicalization Disengagement which is often necessary when one has already progressed past the at risk stage is also addressed given that social workers counselors and other practitioners do not necessarily find the distinction between the two a critical issue in practice What matters is which upstream approaches work and what shows promise amongst individuals and communities Case studies range across the Global North and South presented by both academics and practitioners Contributions address approaches that have proven useful strategies which should be given deeper scrutiny before being employed and what should be avoided

Islam and the Governing of Muslims in France Frank Peter, 2021-01-28 Will Islam be able to adapt to France s secularity and its strict separation of public and private spheres Can France accommodate Muslims In this book Frank Peter argues that the debate about Islam and Muslims is not simply caused by ignorance or Islamophobia Rather it is an integral part of how secularism is reasoned Islam and the Governing of Muslims in France shows that understanding religion as separate from other aspects of life such as politics economy and culture disregards the ways religion has operated and been managed in secular societies such as France This book uncovers the varying rationalities of the secular that have developed over the past few decades in France to govern Islam in order to examine how Muslims engage with the secular regime and contribute to its transformation This book offers a close analysis of French secularism as it has been debated by Islamic intellectuals and activists from the 1990s until the present It will influence the study of secularism as well as the study of Islam in the French Republic and reveal new connections between Islamic traditions and secular rationalities
