Handbook of Biobehavioral Approaches to Self-Regulation Guido H.E. Gendolla, Mattie Tops, Sander L. Koole, 2014-09-22 How can people master their own thoughts, feelings and actions This question is central to the scientific study of self-regulation The behavioral side of self-regulation has been extensively investigated over the last decades but the biological machinery that allows people to self-regulate has mostly remained vague and unspecified Handbook of Biobehavioral Approaches to Self-Regulation corrects this imbalance Moving beyond traditional mind-body dualities the various contributions in the book examine how self-regulation becomes established in cardiovascular, hormonal and central nervous systems Particular attention is given to the dynamic interplay between affect and cognition in self-regulation The book also addresses the psychobiology of effort, the impact of depression on self-regulation, the development of self-regulation and the question what causes self-regulation to succeed or fail These novel perspectives provide readers with a new biologically informed understanding of self awareness and self agency Among the topics being covered are Self regulation in an evolutionary perspective The muscle metaphor in self regulation in the light of current theorizing on muscle physiology From distraction to mindfulness psychological and neural mechanisms of attention strategies in self regulation Self regulation in social decision making a neurobiological perspective Mental effort brain and autonomic correlates in health and disease A basic and applied model of the body mind system Handbook of Biobehavioral Approaches to Self Regulation provides a wealth of theoretical insights into self regulation with great potential for future applications for improving self regulation in everyday life settings including education work health and interpersonal relationships The book highlights a host of exciting new ideas and directions and is sure to provoke a great deal of thought and discussion among researchers practitioners and graduate level students in psychology education neuroscience medicine and behavioral economics
