The Usage-based Study of Language Learning and Multilingualism Lourdes Ortega, Andrea E. Tyler, Hae In Park, Mariko Uno, 2016-05-16 Usage based linguistics which is currently very popular bases its understanding of language on two key points Languages are cognitive social constructs i.e. learned vs genetically endowed and in order for communication and meaning to happen speakers must find a way to meet understand each other overcoming various differences lexicon social register etc to arrive there In this book high level contributors combine research from various usage based perspectives to explore these questions How do proficient speakers accomplish mental contact or communication through the available semiotic linguistic resources they share with other members of their discourse community How do young children learn to accomplish this And how do speakers of multiple languages learn to accomplish this across languages

First Exposure to a Second Language ZhaoHong Han,Rebekah Rast,2014-09-29 The initial state of learner spontaneous input processing in foreign language learning as well as the extent to which this processing leads to intake is of central importance to theoreticians and teachers alike In this collection of original studies leading experts examine a range of issues such as what learners do when faced with a language they know little or nothing about what factors appear to mediate beginning learners processing of input how beginners treat two types of information form and meaning in the input and how adult cognition deals with stimulus frequency at this initial stage This book provides a microscopic view on learners processing of foreign language input at the early stages of learning and evaluates a variety of methodological options within the context of ab initio processing of foreign languages other than English such as German Korean Norwegian Polish and Spanish
