It describes the gap between China's soft power goals of using higher education internationalization for image and influence enhancement and the reality and examines the three major dimensions of China's outward oriented higher education internationalization: i.e. the Confucius Institute program based on Sino foreign higher education collaboration, international development aid in higher education and higher education level international student recruitment based on reflections provided by international graduate students in English instruction programs in education related majors in three Chinese universities. Providing both theoretical insights and real world examples, this book is suitable for higher education researchers, graduate students in the relevant fields, administrators of higher education institutions and policymakers in the government sector      Language Testing Tim McNamara, Carsten Roever, 2006-11-10 Winner of the SAGE ILTA Award for Best Book on Language Testing 2009 This volume focuses on the social aspects of language testing including assessment of socially situated language use and societal consequences of language tests. The authors argue that traditional approaches to ensuring social fairness in tests go some way to addressing social concerns but a broader perspective is necessary to examine the functions of tests on a societal scale. Considers these issues in relation to language assessment in oral proficiency interviews and to the assessment of second language pragmatics. Argues that traditional approaches to ensuring social fairness in tests go some way to addressing social concerns but a broader perspective is necessary if we are to fully understand the social dimension of language assessment      Handbook of Writing for the Mathematical Sciences Nicholas J.
