verse and paintings of the brilliant innovative artist Yosa Buson 1716-1783 as a focal point from which to explore how Japanese writers competed for artistic authority in a time when popular responses to economic technological and social changes were creating the beginnings of a modern literature. The first part of the book discusses Buson's role in the Basho Revival movement, situating his haikai in the context of the social networks that writers of his time both relied on and resisted. The second part explores Buson's hokku, linked verse, and haiga haikai painting. The book concludes with a discussion of Buson's reception in the modern period and includes translations of his principal works. Looking for Luna Tim Myers, 2009. The International Appalachian Trail runs north from Mount Katahdin, seven hundred miles to the end of the Gasp Peninsula. Inspired by Basho, Ian Marshall hiked it for six summers, probing the poetics of haiku while exploring a vast and beautiful wilderness little known in the US. Marshall is an engaging trail companion and a superb story teller with a self-deprecating wit and sharp intellect that spice up his observations and ideas. Like Basho, he finds the miraculous in the common and elevates the humble walk into a spiritual practice, sprinkling his narrative with lovely original haiku that seem to have condensed in the moment like droplets of dew Backpackers will appreciate his pungent descriptions of life on the trail and ecocritics will savor his abundant insights on poetry nature and culture This lively book serves up a classic blend of high adventure literary pilgrimage and self discovery It tastes as tart and fresh as wild raspberries John Tallmadge past president of the Association for the Study of Literature and Environment and author of The Cincinnati Arch Learning from Nature in the City
