

CHAPTER 10: BECOMING A READER

ELE 300 Emergent Literacy
Dr. Fine

*Please note, this chapter is out of sequence – we are skipping ahead to Chapter 10 *Becoming a Reader this week, then next week we will go back to Chapter 9 *Home Book Experience.

First, BEFORE READING, contemplate and answer this question:

1) Based upon what you have learned thus far, what do you believe to be the difference between preschool and Kindergarten in terms of reading and literacy development and 'instruction'?

In preschool, I feel as if the teacher is trying to get children to start to understand the concept of reading rather kindergarten is the first step to getting children to recognize words and sounds and start to put them together. Preschool is also when children start to tell stories through the pictures, not the words rather than in kindergarten children can start to retell and understand stories through the words and not just the pictures.

Now it is time to read Chapter 10 of the assigned text. DURING READING, use the following questions to guide your thinking - answer each of these questions as you read:

1) What happens in the transition from Preschool to Kindergarten (i.e., how is reading different in preschool from the elementary school years)?

Reading in preschool is more centered around the child, in other words, all about emergent reading. Whereas reading in elementary school leans more toward teacher-guided reading. Preschool is getting children to naturally develop their reading skills and kindergarten is all about teaching new reading skills.

2) What is the Common Core (CCSS) Kindergarten Foundational Reading Skills? Briefly, describe each of these skills.

1. Print Concepts

- a. This is about recognizing what print is made up of (words, letters, punctuation, meaning, etc)

2. Phonological Awareness

- a. Learning that spoken language is more than just a single sound it can also be words, rhymes, syllables, etc.

3. Phonics

- a. Realizing that printed symbols are related to spoken words

4. Word recognition

- a. Knowing and recognizing sight words

5. Fluency

- a. Use of voice, reading rate, word recognition, appropriate phrasing, comprehension, etc.

Becoming A Reader A:

The importance of being a reader: A revision of Oscar Wilde's works Christina Pascual Aransáez,2014-11 This book explores Wilde's works from the hypothesis that they call upon the active participation of the reader in the production of meaning It has a twofold objective first it shows that Wilde's emphasis on the creative role of the audience in his critical writings makes him conceive the reader as a co creator in the construction of meaning Second it analyses the strategies which Wilde employs to impel the reader to collaborate in the creation of meaning of his literary works and casts light upon the social criticism derived from these The examination of Wilde's writings reveals how he gradually combined more sophisticated techniques that encouraged the reader's dynamic role with the progressive exploitation of self advertising strategies for professional purposes These allowed the commercial Oscar to make his works successful among the Victorian public without betraying the literary Wilde's aesthetic principles The present study re evaluates Wilde as a critic and as a writer It demonstrates that while Wilde the myth was ahead of his time in many ways Wilde the ARTIST anticipated in his aesthetic theory various themes which occupy contemporary literary theoreticians Thus it may contribute to give him the status he rightly deserves in the history of literature

Reliable Software Technology - Ada-Europe 2005 Tullio Vardanega,Andy Wellings,2005-06-07 Started on the inspired initiative of Prof Alfred Strohmeier back in 1996 and spawned from the annual Ada Europe conference that had previously run for 16 consecutive years the International Conference on Reliable Software Technologies celebrated this year its tenth anniversary by going to York UK where the rst series of technical meetings on Ada were held in the 1970s Besides being a beautiful and historical place in itself York also hosts the Depa ment of Computer Science of the local university whose Real Time Group has been tremendously in uential in shaping the Ada language and in the progress on real time computing worldwide This year s conference was therefore put together under exc lent auspices in a very important year for the Ada community in view of the forthc ing completion of the revision process that is upgrading the language standard to face the challenges of the new millennium The conference took place on June 20 24 2005 It was as usual sponsored by Ada Europe the European federation of national Ada societies in cooperation with ACM SIGAda The conference was organized by selected staff of the University of York teamed up with collaborators from various places in Europe in what turned out to be a very effective instance of distributed collaborative processing The conference also enjoyed the generous support of 11 industrial sponsors Dad's Playbook: Coaching Kids to Read: (Prepack) National Institute for Literacy,Education Dept (U S),2009-02 Chamber's Journal of Popular Literature, Science and Arts ,1858 Convention and Innovation in Literature Theo d'. Haen,Rainer Georg Gröbel,Helmut Lethen,1989-01-01 This work is a critical evaluation of the concepts of convention and innovation as applied in the study of changing literary values hierarchies and canons Two approaches are analyzed 1 the linking of convention and the subject's awareness of convention and 2 systems theory. The merits of both approaches are discussed and an attempt is made to combine them and to regard systems of literary communication primarily as systems of conventions. Specific cases of changing conventions and innovation are illustrated with examples from the field of versification: Rimbaud, reception studies, Pushkin, Goethe, George Eliot, the dichotomy of forgetting/remembering, Nietzsche, Proust, avant-garde, the American dream and popular genres assimilated in Postmodernism. Globalization and Literature Suman Gupta, 2009. This book presents a state-of-the-art overview of the relationship between globalization studies and literature and literary studies and the bearing that they have on each other. It engages with the manner in which globalization is thematized in literary works, examines the relationship between globalization theory and literary theory and discusses the impact of globalization processes on the production and reception of literary texts. Suman Gupta argues that while literature has registered globalization processes in relevant ways, there has been a missed articulation between globalization studies and literary studies. Some of the ways in which this slippage is now being addressed and may be taken forward are indicated. In the course of fleshing out this argument, such themes as the following are discussed: the manner in which anti-globalization protests and world cities have figured in literary works; digitization has remoulded concepts of texts and text editing theories of postmodernism and postcolonialism that are familiar in literary studies have diverged from and converged with globalization studies; English and Comparative World Literature as institutional disciplinary spaces are being reconfigured; and industries to do with the circulation of literature are becoming globalized. This book is intended for university-level students and teachers, researchers and other informed readers with an interest in the above issues and serves both as a survey of the field and an intervention within it.
