indigenous grammar was published in 1889 It included some traditional notions but mainly imitated European grammar It was followed by a number of other similar works To move away from this imitation a group of grammarians started to look into the Chinese tradition of commenting on classics This led to a variety of alternative grammars After the war Western linguistics started to gain influence in China With the establishment of the PRC in 1949 efforts began to have a standard grammar adopted nationwide The first attempt at such a grammar was published in 1956 This book spans the period 1898 1956 This book combines historiography and linguistics to distinguish different periods in the timespan covered It shows how the development of a national grammar cannot be studied separately from language policies and discussions on the national language The description of each period includes a general introduction of the relevant events in that period and a treatment of the major works of grammar

Historical Chinese Letter Writing Daniel Z. Kadar, 2011-10-27 Daniel Z. Kadar was awarded with the Academy Award for Young Outstanding Scholars by the Hungarian Academy of Sciences for this book Letter writing is a pivotal yet neglected medium of historical Chinese communication The epistolary format is key to sinological research As historical letters have a specific vocabulary and rhetorical structure it is difficult to read them without the supporting apparatus of specialised study This compendium fills the gap in Chinese studies by providing a bilingual Chinese English edition of a corpus of Chinese letters prepared for advanced students of Classical Chinese as well as academics with an interest in historical Chinese epistolary art The book has a broad and general introduction systematically constructed vocabulary sections as well as detailed grammatical and philological explanations It focuses on Qing Dynasty 1644 1911 letter writing a high point of pre 1911 epistolary activity in Chinese and will appeal to Chinese scholars and Sinologists at a broad range of academic levels
