Digital Design Theory Helen Armstrong, 2016-06-28 Digital Design Theory bridges the gap between the discourse of print design and interactive experience by examining the impact of computation on the field of design As graphic design moves from the creation of closed static objects to the development of open interactive frameworks designers seek to understand their own rapidly shifting profession Helen Armstrong's carefully curated introduction to groundbreaking primary texts from the 1960s to the present provides the background necessary for an understanding of digital design vocabulary and thought Accessible essays from designers and programmers are by influential figures such as Ladislav Sutnar Bruno Munari Wim Crouwel Sol LeWitt Muriel Cooper Zuzana Licko Rudy VanderLans John Maeda Paola Antonelli Luna Maurer and Keetra Dean Dixon Their topics range from graphic design's fascination with programmatic design to early strivings for an authentic digital aesthetic to the move from object based design and to experience based design Accompanying commentary assesses the relevance of each excerpt to the working and intellectual life of designers

Doing Museology Differently Duncan Grewcock, 2013-09-05 One might believe that museum studies is a stable field of academic inquiry based on a set of familiar institutional forms and functions But as institutions museums have never been stable or singular and neither has the discipline of museum studies Museum studies as a field of academic inquiry has received little critical attention One result of this neglect has arguably been a lack of invention in museum studies another is the distancing of academic museum studies from museum practice Doing Museology Differently charts a different course A critical creative reflection on academic practice the book takes the form of a narrative account of museological fieldwork A research story unfolds challenging academic conventions at the level of its own presentation the book combines critical museum visiting with an autobiographical voice The identification of a previously underexplored interdisciplinary space leads the author to experiment with museum studies using contemporary developments in the theory and practice of human geography The new approaches to museological research and representation that emerge from this unique inquiry challenge assumed institutional and intellectual boundaries and act as a call to further creative experimentation

Death of a Typographer Nick Gadd, 2020-04-17 MARTIN KERN has a special sensitivity to fonts a skill that he uses to solve typographical crimes When a local printer is found dead in his workshop his body in the shape of an X Martin and his co investigator journalist Lucy Tan are drawn into a mystery that is stranger than anything they have encountered before Someone is leaving typographical clues at the scenes of a series of murders All the trails lead back to Pieter van Floogstraten a Dutch design genius who disappeared without trace in the 1970s and who has since been engaged in a mystical scheme to create the world's most perfect font which is concealed in locations around the globe But is he really the killer and how are the crimes connected to his secret font In solving the mystery Martin and Lucy may have to expose Martin's hero as a psychopath The main plot of the novel unfolds in Melbourne while interleaved chapters set variously in a Tibetan monastery on the plains of Peru in London Naples and Amsterdam gradually reveal the story of Floogstraten in flashback Other characters include a noir style private font investigator a typographical monk from the Renaissance a Dutch prog rock group named I Am A Dolphin and a collective of Italian typo terrorists This novel takes the reader into the arcane world of typographers and their typefaces of symbols swashes and glyphs where the difference between a serif and sans serif could mean life and death You might start thinking Jasper Fforde has hit a new high but Nick Gadd's brilliant blend of humour mystery and yes typography is all his own A compelling read whether or not you know your Comic Sans from your ZapfDingbats NICK EARLS

Fine Arts Library,1976 Blueprint ,2006 Design and Science R. Roger Remington,Robert S. P. Fripp,2007 It has been said that Will Burtin 1908-1972 was to graphic design what Albert Einstein was to physics Burtin pioneered important contributions to international typography and visual design He is best known as the world leader in using design to interpret science as a proponent of clean uncluttered sans-serif typography and for his large-scale three-dimensional models which carried the craft and the art of display to new heights His walk-through models included a human blood cell 1958 and brain functions 1960 His major achievement his clarity and ingenuity with models and graphics made complex information easy to assimilate Early success in his native Germany brought Burtin unwelcome attention from Nazi leaders courting his services He fled with his Jewish wife to the United States Within months he won the prestigious contract to create the Federal Works Agency exhibit for the 1939 New York World's Fair. The wartime Office of Strategic Services drafted Burtin to create Air Force gunnery manuals cutting recruits training from six months to six weeks. In 1945 with the U.S. still at war, Fortune magazine lobbied to extract Burtin from the army in order to appoint him Art Director. By the late 1950s he was designing the walk-through exhibits for which he is renowned. The first monograph on Burtin, Design and Science, illustrates his leadership in five fields: using graphics to visualize science and information, pre-war corporate identity from the mid-1940s, multimedia which he called Integration from 1948, large-scale scientific visualization in 3-D from 1958 foreshadowing computer-assisted virtual environments i.e. CAVE space and with others promoting Helvetica in North America. Illustrations of Burtin's work that have never before been published make this invaluable book essential reading for design professionals and all those interested in design, visualization, imaging and information technology.
