

An artistic illustration in a painterly style. In the foreground, a person's hands and arms are visible, holding a large, open book. The person is wearing a dark, long-sleeved garment. To the left, a hand holds a lit candle, casting a warm glow. In the background, a large, empty wicker basket sits on a surface. The overall color palette is dominated by dark blues, purples, and warm oranges from the candlelight.

International Students in British Higher Education Armineh Soorenia, 2013-12-30 A wealth of evidence demonstrates that disabled domestic students experience disabling barriers in such areas as funding pedagogy and social life in Higher Education HE Research also indicates that non disabled international students experience a wide range of cultural and linguistic difficulties throughout their university experience whilst studying in England Nevertheless there is a dearth of research concerning the specific experiences of disabled international students in English universities With the increasing internationalisation of HE in the past two decades this is highly significant Analysing disabled international students accounts in British universities appears to be all the more pertinent due to the current austerity measures which have impacted on the financial situation of Higher Education Institutions Armineh Soorenia comments on the relevance of inclusive educational theories and policies within an increasingly internationalised HE system with reference to disabled international students experiences in England The project is both timely and appropriate as there is an acute shortage of documentation on the application of policies for the inclusion of disabled students and disabled international students specifically in English universities The findings identify key barriers in the four broad categories of 1 Information Access and Funding 2 Disability Services 3 Learning and Teaching and 4 Non Disability Support Services such as accommodation and social life The study provides an up to date snapshot of disabled international students accounts and the multiple disadvantages they experience in their universities based on their identities as disabled international and sometimes mature students The author also draws on a number of insights which could contribute towards a more inclusive HE system The implication of concentrating on disabled international students experiences have direct ramifications not only for this specific group but also a wide range of students from diverse minority backgrounds who could gain from inclusive practices in education

Christianity, Plasticity, and Spectral Heritages Victor E. Taylor, 2017-07-20 This book is an interdisciplinary study of the cultural representations of Jesus in the context of contemporary religious theory and continental philosophy It looks at Jesus in view of an updated Derridean hauntology and spectrality with an emphasis on the inherent plasticity of the Christian heritage While the work engages with the recent Jesus centered writings of Slavoj i ek Fran ois Laruelle and Giorgio Agamben it places a greater and much needed emphasis on the philosophical theological and cultural links between a plastic hauntological Christian heritage and Jesus s historically evolving plural subjectivity with the latter explored in texts of popular culture It is a multidisciplinary study of Jesus as well as a dynamic Christian heritage that simultaneously constructs and deconstructs Jesus s philosophical political and cultural centrality

Intercultural Horizons Volume II Lavinia Bracci, Nevin C. Brown, Eliza J. Nash, 2014-07-08 This volume features a collection of papers from the second annual Intercultural Horizons conference held in October 2012 in New York City USA The 2012 conference was the second in what is becoming an annual series of meetings and the present volume therefore is a companion to one issued last year by Cambridge Scholars Publishing Intercultural Horizons Best Practices in Intercultural Competence Development 2012 The papers included in this volume reflect a diversity of approaches both to intercultural education in the North American setting and to its application in service learning and related contexts in diverse cultural settings in other nations Our authors provide faculty and student perspectives primarily from the level of postsecondary education but including a look as well at intercultural education at the primary level Many of the papers focus in one way or another on issues of curriculum teaching and learning in relation to developing intercultural competence in students in North American colleges and universities particularly though not exclusively through the use of service learning All of the papers touch in one way or another on another important development now affecting almost all institutions of higher education in North America and increasingly in other nations worldwide that of the university's engagement with the community During the past thirty years such engagement has moved from the periphery to the core of many North American colleges and universities Similar efforts are now emerging among many Asian universities and in Europe as well The paper in this volume on the Polisocial initiative at the Politecnico di Milano in Italy is a good example of how the theme of university community engagement is taking hold in a city and nation facing similar intercultural and economic challenges to those in North America and serves as a preview of themes the International Center for Intercultural Exchange hopes to explore in its future conferences www.ticfie.com
