Liberal

Realism: Politics of Difference Beyond the Universalist-Contextualist Debate Ivane Lomidze, 2025-05-06 The central issue explored in this book is the problem of difference in democratic theory focusing on the debates between liberalism and realism Realist theories critique liberal models for ignoring community specific differences and reducing plural forms of life to a homogeneous political project This book argues that while realist models challenge the universalism of liberalism they fail to normatively ground the adjudication of differences and cannot distinguish between legitimate and illegitimate political practices The core argument proposes the development of particularist political principles as a solution providing an ethical framework for adjudicating difference without relying on universal norms Drawing on moral particularism the book demonstrates how contingent context dependent reasoning can resolve issues of representation and pluralism in democracy while avoiding the pitfalls of both universalism and discriminatory practices This research is relevant for scholars of political theory exploring new approaches to grounding pluralism and difference in contemporary democratic thought
