Strategy to Success Steve Van Gard, 2018-05-05 When it is obvious that the goals cannot be reached don't adjust the goals adjust the action steps Confucius Most of the times it will be tempting to give up Feeling tired and overwhelmed or not seeing the expected results will make you wish for an easy escape Giving up is the easiest Then you can just return to your comfort zone and you do not need to worry about uncertainty and overwhelm But that means giving up your goal and your dreams of a successful life as well The strategy boosts your confidence and trust in your potential and then you add your skills in order to start producing magic Some of the times you may not see the results and it will seem that all the action is in vain But it is not There will be situations in which results will be late to appear but each and every action will build the momentum and it will build the foundation brick after brick for your win that follows Strategy and implementation go hand in hand The purpose of creating a very good and clear strategy is to support you in the implementation phase And when you have a solid strategy then you can return after any implemented step and look at what needs to be done next Once things start moving then you get momentum and one win after the other will help you see the light at the end of the tunnel You will start rolling the dices and you will also gain more confidence Therefore you will be taking more and more actions and your mindset will improve with each win You see in life lots of people know what to do but few people actually do what they know Knowing is not enough You must take action Tony Robbins If you keep your knowledge to yourself you are choosing to be selfish You are choosing to just keep it inside and not share it Your fear prevents you from being successful and at the same time it prevents you from making an impact in the world Keep this in mind implementing your strategy will be a long journey and it will keep changing and evolving and growing but so will you And this way you will get to your success because without taking action and implementing the steps required there is no success to be enjoyed Sooner or later the results will start appearing and they will be in direct proportion with the amount of action that you have taken So keep at it it will pay off eventually In this book you will find The definition of success and what makes a person successful The connection between success and failure The importance of mindset How to build your strategy to success How to implement this strategy How to overcome obstacles The evaluation stage The importance of action Why celebrate your success
